[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—The house voted today, 229 to 112, to repeal that provision of the income tax law which requires the publication of the salaries paid to officers and employes of corporations who receive $15,000 yearly and up. The repeal resolution now goes to the senate.

The provision was generally denounced as having made possible a "sucker' list" to be used by salesmen, brokers and promoters of money-making schemes. It was first inserted in the revenue act of 1934 and the salaries have been made public in the three succeeding years.

"Same as Pink Slip."

"Experience has demonstrated that it has not worked well in practice," Chairman Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.] of the ways and means committee reported to the house. "It has the same object as the 'pink slip' section of the 1934 revenue act which congress repealed in 1935. It was pointed out in our report then that the information contained therein was being used to benefit the racketeers, gangsters, kidnapers, and the criminal element of the country."

The main argument for the provision was that it helped to protect minority shareholders of a corporation by acquainting them with the amounts paid out by their corporation in salaries. But much of this i[illegible]tion is already available to the public under the provisions of the securities and exchange acts, it was pointed out.

A group of house "liberals" led by Representative Gerald J. Boileau [Prog., Wis.] fought against repeal of the clause. The contention of this bloc was that no man should be "ashamed" of publicity given to his salary.

More Prying, Says O'Connor.

Representative John J. O'Connor [D., N. Y.] voiced the opinion of the majority when he remarked:

"This is just another evidence of prying by the government into its citizens' private affairs. I hope the day has come when we are beginning to cease such snooping."

A motion to amend the repeal resolution so as to permit the department of justice and its agents to examine income tax returns was defeated, 92 to 22.

It was pointed out that three congressional committees, the ways and means, finance, and internal revenue taxation committees, are still permitted to inspect income tax returns and thus may use any revelant or useful information for use in connection with revenue legislation.

ASKED TO BAR PRICE BILL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—A letter from President Roosevelt to Vice President Garner, expressing disapproval of the Miller-Tydings retail price fixing bill, warned against "undue advances in prices." This message to the senate made public today added to the confusion and uncertainty of congressional leaders, respecting the future legislative program.

Action on the retail price maintenance bill, was blocked by White House intervention in the house of representatives yesterday. Leaders in that body offered the explanation that a three way industrial regulation program, covering wages and hours, child labor, and fair trade practices, would be sponsored by the administration after action on the President's Supreme court packing bill.

After the disclosure of the President's letter to Vice President Garner, however, reports emanated from usually well informed quarters that the whole subject of industrial legislation would be put over until the next session of congress.

In his letter to the Vice President concerning the Tydings bill, Mr. Roosevelt declared that, "Since we seem to be in a period of rising retail prices, this bill should not, in my judgment, receive the considera-

BRITISH GUFFAW AT U. S. SHANKS IN KNEE PANTS

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 27.—The decision of some of the American delegates to the coronation of King George VI. of Great Britain to wear knee pants at the big Westminster abbey show two weeks hence is causing no end of uneasiness to their British royal hosts. The latter seem to fear that the trans-Atlantic delegates, being unaccustomed to short pants, will not appear at all well in them, or that maybe the Americans will take undue license in the way they wear them, or how they have them cut.

A lot of fun was poked by the caustic columnist Peterborough at the determined announcement made yesterday by James W. Gerard, United States special ambassador to the coronation, that he would wear short pants. Writing in the Daily Telegraph, Peterborough called Gerard a brave man "who has stuck to his guns, or rather to his knee breeches."

Makes a Pointed Criticism.

The columnist then expressed what apparently is in many other British minds:

"If American ambassadors have been suspected of flunkyism by their countrymen, they have not always succeeded in winning the sartorial approval of their hosts.

"That master of ceremonial, King Edward VII., was defeated by the Americans of his day. As was well said about them then: One never knew where sartorial license would lead them and their ideas about breeches and trousers, frock coats and morning coats, indicated a perpetual state of republican flux.

"Lord Rosebery, appearing at Windsor castle in plain clothes and knee breeches when the command had gone out for full dress and trousers, was greeted by King Edward with: 'I presume you have come in a suit of the American ambassador.'"

Envoys In for a Razzing.

So it begins to look as if the American coronation delegates are coming in for a good round of razzing over here as well as at home.

Every one here is wondering how Gerard's remark yesterday about American tailors not being able to make clothes as well as English tailors is going to take with his countrymen.

On the other hand, some Britishers think that the American decision to wear short pants was a fine gesture. Among these is the Liverpool Post, which today said:

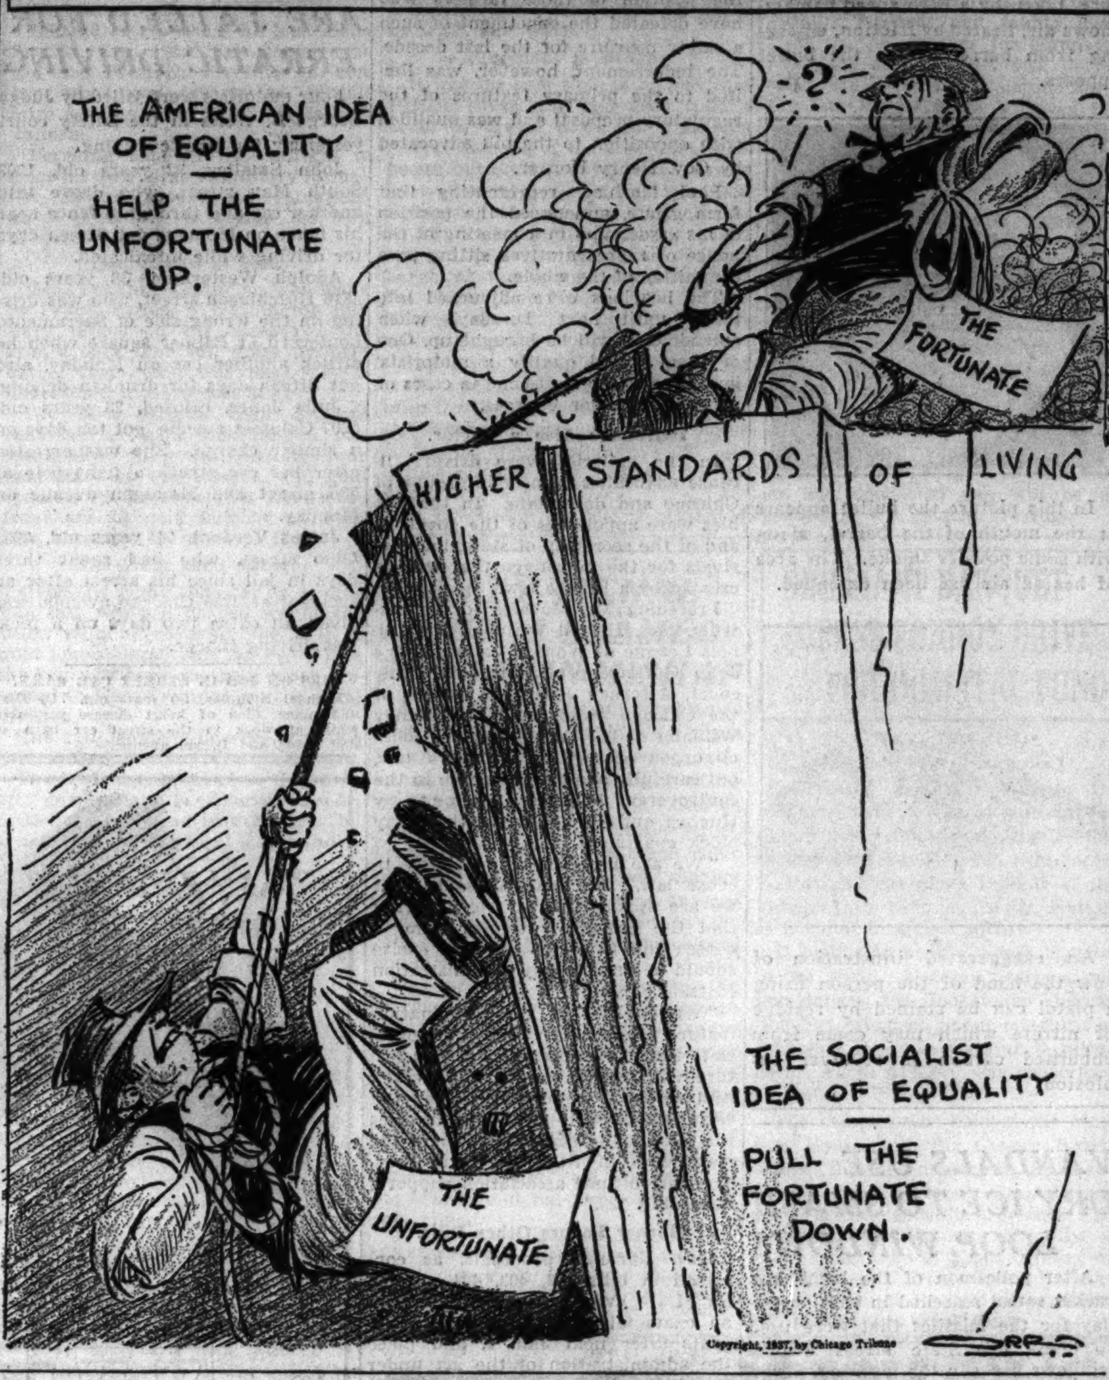
"There is strength of mind as well as courtesy in the announcement of Gerard that he intends to wear court dress. Hitherto America's representatives at the courts of the kings have been conspicuous for standing four square—perhaps to be more physiologically precise the expression should be two square, or the draftsman's term, set square, might be used—in trousers.

Calls Reproaches Unjust.

"These homely habiliments have, in the eyes of many Americans, appeared to be a symbol more or less fitting of a stern devotion to republican ideals, and Gerard's decision is criticized already by certain of his countrymen who cherish a traditional affinity between trousers at court and the Stars and Stripes.

"These reproaches seem unjust. If it be true that hearts just as pure and fair may beat in Belgrave square as in the lowly air of Seven Dials, surely a man may be as loyal in court dress to the constitution of the United States as he could be in even the most mundane trousers. When, after all, did knee breeches become evidence of weak kneed principles?"

WHICH LEVEL ARE WE SEEKING?



Labor Starts Union Drive in Hospitals

Under protection of federal law efforts are being made to organize all nonprofessional employés of Chicago hospitals. In one hospital—the Augustana—96 per cent of these employés have already joined a union.

The workers include attendants, orderlies, floormen, elevator operators, maids, and kitchen help. Nurses, interns, and other professional employés are not involved, according to Alexander Marks, one of the organizers in charge of the campaign. He estimated that 20,000 hospital workers in Chicago are eligible to join his union, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Demand Shorter Hours, More Pay.

E. I. Erickson, superintendent of Augustana hospital, said a hundred of his employés have formed a union, demanding more pay, fewer working hours a week, vacations with pay, and recognition of the union.

"We were surprised to receive the demands," Erickson declared. "I told them we would be willing to deal with any group or committee of our help, but that I didn't see how we could recognize any outside organization.

"The employés reported back to their organizers, and a federal conciliator, Harry Sheck, came to see us. He advised us that under the Wagner act our employés have the right to join the union and to have union representatives bargain with us.

Calls Problem Serious.

"Mr. Sheck did his best to be in fact a conciliator. We were willing to make a working agreement with the employés without recognizing the union, but the employés declined to accept such an agreement. When their organizers again called they were told that the hospital board would have to consult with the boards of other hospitals.

"It is a serious problem. We would not want to establish a policy affecting all hospitals. A strike of hospital employés is unthinkable.

"So far we have declined to recognize the union."

Other Hospital Workers Join.

Organizer Marks said he and Organizer William Schoenberg had presented the demands at Augustana. He added that some union members also have been obtained among employés of the Grant hospital, 551 Grant place, and in St. Joseph's hospital, 2100 Burling street, both in the vicinity of the Augustana at 409 Garfield avenue.

Marks insisted the union officials were not seeking to hurry the Augustana management into making a decision, and said no date has been set for a further discussion of the issue.

TRAVELING MOTHER LEAVES BABY WITH PERFECT STRANGER

Mrs. Richard Owens of Peabody, Mass., had a worried look yesterday as she drove from Cleveland to Chicago. She had let Richard Jr., not yet 3, take his nap in the car of a perfect stranger bound in the same direction, and she had lost track of the stranger.

Mrs. Owens had met the other motorist en route to Cleveland. He had invited her to follow him because he knew the road, and then had taken the sleepy youngster into his car because Mrs. Owens' back seat was filled with luggage. In Cleveland trafic the cars were separated.

Learning the stranger had not turned the child over to Chicago police, Mrs. Owens had the police here telephone Cleveland police. The stranger had left Richard Jr. with them. He turned out to be Harold Dickman, 19 years old, of 1869 Millard avenue, who still hadn't got home last night. Mrs. Owens was on her way to visit a sister, Mrs. Marvin Duncan of Brookfield.

3,000 Guests Gape as G-Man Shuns Altar

San Antonio, Tex., April 27.—[Special.]—The social life of San Antonio was all upset tonight. A huge and elaborate wedding cake was drying out. Hundreds of wedding presents lay unopened or were being wrapped for returning. The minister had his best wedding service ready but no ceremony to perform.

For the marriage of Melvin Purvis, the famous Chicago G-man, and his beauteous bride, Miss Janice Jarratt, had been suddenly called off.

The sudden change of plans stunned friends of the popular young couple. Out of town friends and relatives were here. Purvis' two sisters, one of whom was to be maid of honor, had come from his family home in South Carolina.

Minister's Service Prepared.

William A. McSwain, young attorney whom Purvis succeeded as head of the Chicago office of the bureau of investigation in 1932, had come here to be best man. Rev. Arthur McKinstry had been engaged to perform the ceremony in St. Marks Episcopal church.

The flowers had been bought. A huge wedding cake, formed into a pyramid of confection and surmounted by a miniature bride and bridegroom, had been baked. Three thousand invitations had been sent out. Many presents had been received at the home of the bride's widowed mother, Mrs. C. D. Jarratt.

In the midst of all this hubbub about the marriage came the startling announcement that there was to be no wedding, for the time being at least.

Irked by Round of Gayety.

Principals in the affair announced only that the marriage had been "indefinitly postponed." But reports concerning the rifts were:

Purvis, the punctilious young man who regulated the activities by the clock, didn't like to be kept waiting. The former federal agent, modest and quiet even after he had killed John Dillinger, was irked by a continual round of social functions.

The rising young San Francisco attorney had flown here last week. Ever since his arrival he and his pretty bride-to-be had been fêted at breakfasts, at teas, at luncheons and dinners at some of the town's best homes. It was said the retiring Purvis was getting tired of the high life which his vivacious girl friend was enjoying to the utmost.

Stamps Away in a Huff.

Gen. Denhardt Will Tell His Story to Jury

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New Castle, Ky., April 27.—[Special.]—Chemical test tubes and magnifying glasses were brought into the murder trial of Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt today until the testimony began to sound like a detective mystery story, with the end still in suspense.

While the solution of the death of Mrs. Verna Garr Taylor of La Grange, Gen. Denhardt's fiancée, rests on whether she killed herself or whether the general fired the revolver, with no third party involved, and with the case for the prosecution about two-thirds completed, the element of mystery still remains.

Although Gen. Denhardt never has made a public statement of what happened on the night Mrs. Taylor met death, he will be the first witness in his own defense, his attorneys announced tonight. His appearance is expected Thursday or Friday.

Fixes Distance of Gun.

The most important testimony was that of Dr. A. J. Miller, pathologist of the University of Louisville, who was permitted to give the opinion, in response to a long hypothetical question, that the gun with which Mrs. Taylor was killed, which was Gen. Denhardt's, must have been held more than 9 inches from her body and probably more than 18 inches. This would almost exclude the suicide theory.

Next came the testimony of Sergt. John I. Messmer, head of the Louisville police crime laboratory, who testified that residue of nitrate, which may come from unburned carbon in a revolver explosion, was found between the third and index finger on Denhardt's right hand and in the web between the index finger and the thumb. Sergt. Messmer found four spots, he testified, retrieved from a paraffin mold made of Denhardt's hand two days after Mrs. Taylor's death. One spot was like a pin point. The others had to be observed through the magnifying glass.

Hands of Victim Tested.

A similar test of Mrs. Taylor's hands yielded negative result, the witness testified.

The revolver with which the woman was killed was tested and deposited powder residue on the hand of the person who fired it, Sergt. Messmer declared.

The paraffin test has been in use in Louisville for three years. In this a mold is made with the hot wax which is supposed to draw out of the pores any nitrate deposits there. The reaction agent turns the residue blue and brings it to view in a formation like a comet tail.

F. C. Buckmaster, chemist from Pittsburgh, Pa., who has testified in 3,000 criminal cases, told of tests with the Denhardt revolver which left a typical residue and said that in his opinion the spots found by Messmer on Gen. Denhardt's hands were gun powder residue, and that Messmer's test was reliable.

Questioned About Nitrates.

Cross-examined, Buckmaster said there were nitrates in many substances, that one might pick them up in the dust and particularly around a farm. But, he insisted, the reactions from such deposits on the hands would not have the same shade of blue and formation that would result from the powder blown out of the space between the barrel and the cylinder of a revolver. The deposits may remain on the hands,

WINS CONTEMPT TERM DELAY IN COURT BATTLE

Appeal Planned on Zintak Case Ruling.

Robert W. McKinlay, sentenced yesterday morning to a year in the county jail for contempt of court, is in no immediate danger of leaving his home at 7817 Essex avenue for a cell. In the afternoon McKinlay won a stay of mittimus until June 23 and his attorneys said they believed the Appellate court would prevent his going to jail at all.

McKinlay, a federal court receiver, was sentenced by Judge Robert Crowe O'Connell of the Criminal court, who presided at the first embezzlement trial of Frank V. Zintak, ousted clerk of the Superior court. In this trial, it was charged, McKinlay bribed a juror to hold out for acquittal. The jury disagreed.

Defense Attorneys Protest.

Defense Attorneys George Guenther, Benedict J. Short, and W. W. Smith claimed that the action of the judge in passing sentence in the morning was entirely unexpected and in contravention to the rights of their client. They returned in the afternoon to make heated protests against the procedure adopted by the judge and the prosecutors.

When motions for vacation of the sentence and for a new trial were denied, the lawyers immediately acted for an appeal. Guenther, a veteran of Criminal court practice, voiced his confidence that the reviewing court would upset Judge O'Connell's action. In the meantime he is at liberty in $1,000 bond. The higher court will decide, probably next fall, whether McKinlay really must go to jail.

Trial Next Monday.

McKinlay also has posted $5,000 bond under two indictments charging bribery and conspiracy which are based on the same facts on which the contempt case was predicated. He is scheduled to go to trial next Monday before Judge Robert Jerome Dunne of the Criminal court.

The chief witness will be the Zintak juror, Gustave Anderson, 58 years old, 330 West 58th street, who has testified before Judge O'Connell that he was paid $25 by McKinlay and was also offered a four year city job at $2,500 a year. Anderson said he decided to tell his story when the job was not forthcoming.

Anderson was also cited for contempt, but his hearing was continued to May 10 by Judge O'Connell yesterday when First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert Crowley said he would be needed at next week's trial.

The Defence Argument.

In protesting McKinlay's contempt sentence the defense attorneys contended that they came to court only to argue the legal question as to whether the contemner—the defendant—should be forced to answer 135 questions submitted by the state in an interrogatory in connection with its contempt petition. The defense counsel had previously made a general denial under oath, but asked to be excused from answering specific questions on the ground that it might incriminate McKinlay in his criminal trial.

"The termination of the case yesterday should not have been a surprise to anybody," Judge O'Connell said last night. "I do not know how anybody could have gained the impression that the matter was up only for legal arguments. The defendant was not sentenced because of his refusal to answer the questions, but because of the facts."

Judge O'Connell, although a nephew of Robert E. Crowe, one time Republican leader, was elected to the bench a few years ago as a coalition candidate. He is the youngest member of the court.

Objects to Order.

One of Guenther's objections was that the court order said testimony was heard, when in fact no testimony was heard in McKinlay's presence. Other objections were that McKinlay was refused the right to face his accuser and cross-examine him. He said McKinlay was out of town when Juror Anderson made his charges before three judges sitting en banc. [Judge O'Connell, Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley and Judge Benjamin P. Epstein, judge at the second Zintak trial, which ended with Zintak's acquittal.]

Guenther also asserted McKinlay's sworn denial was ignored by Judge O'Connell and that he was acting on a petition filed on the basis of information and belief by the state's attorney's office. The sentencing order, he said, was signed by the judge before it was even shown to the defense for possible objections.

No Refusal to Reply.

The defense also protested that McKinlay did not refuse to answer the specific interrogatories, but only asked the indulgence of the court in withholding answers until after the criminal trials, so his defense would not be revealed in advance. It was also declared that the state in its brief asked for a six months' sentence whereas the judge imposed a one year sentence.

McKinlay, usually confident and talkative, sat on the sidelines with his son, Attorney Robert T. McKinlay, during the vitriolic exchanges between his lawyers and Prosecutors Crowley and Mal Coghlan. He quietly applauded as Attorney Guenther shouted that the court was taking the word of a self-confessed scoundrel against that of a reputable citizen. His smile changed, however, when Crowley retorted that the so-called scoundrel, Juror Anderson, was a friend of McKinlay.

McKinlay was asked if he wanted to make a statement.

"I am chockful of things I'd like to say," he replied, "but I have to talk through my lawyers, and they do not want me to make any public statement at this time."

CLARK IN CLASH WITH TAX BOARD ON CUDAHY LEVY

Assessor John S. Clark yesterday accused the board of tax appeals of attempting to defeat his purpose of increasing assessments on personal property and thus reducing taxes on real estate. The latest point of issue between the assessor and the appeals board involves the assessment on the personalty of E. A. Cudahy Sr.

Clark assessed Cudahy's stocks on a valuation of $467,850 and the board reduced it to $75,000. Clark asked the board to hold a rehearing on the case and asserted his valuation was based on information obtained from the Securities and Exchange commission.

"I made the assessment on sound methods but the board did not inquire about them before cutting the assessment," said Clark.

"This unwarranted cut amounts to $15,000 in tax money. It would take taxes on eight blocks of bungalows or four blocks of two flats to equal this amount. If the bungalow owners were treated like Mr. Cudahy their taxes would be cut from approximately $100 each to about $10."

SEEKS $2,000,000 OF UNCLAIMED PHONE REBATES

A move by the city to claim about $2,000,000 now held by the Illinois Bell Telephone company in unclaimed rebates was started yesterday by Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes at the direction of the city council. He instructed James J. Danaher, an assistant, to prepare a petition to the federal court asking that the money be paid into the city treasury.

The money is the amount left over from about $20,000,000 which the company had collected in excess of rates fixed by the Illinois commerce commission and which the federal court ordered repaid to subscribers. The state government also is striving to get the unclaimed amount through legislative enactment.

CAPTIVE CHINESE WOMEN FORCED TO WED SOLDIERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, April 27.—Gen. Ma Pufang, garrison commander at Sining, today solved the problem of what to do with forty-five women his soldiers captured and designated as "bandits."

He arranged a mass ceremony and wed them to members of his bodyguard, performing the simple wedding rites himself. Gen. Ma and most of his soldiers are Mohammedans.

Although the women were called bandits, they probably were part of the Chinese communist "Amazon" corps. Sining is the capital of Tsinghai, frontier Tibetan province formerly known as Kokonor.

Dr. Karl Landsteiner Drops Fight on Listing as Jew

GEN. DENHARDT WILL TELL HIS STORY TO JURY

Prosecution Hammers at Suicide Theory.

even after washing, for as long as five days.

A third angle today was the testimony of Dr. J. A. Kennedy, Louisville serologist, that spots which he had found on the overcoat which Gen. Denhardt wore the night of Mrs. Taylor's death, Nov. 6, had been found to be human blood.

Tests also have been made of the blood found on Mrs. Taylor's clothes. The state has promised later to show that these blood stains were of the same grouping. The prosecution did not show that today, as Dr. Kennedy said he could not make such tests.

Blood Expert to Testify.

The witness on this will be E. R. Donaldson, blood expert of the federal bureau of investigation, who is expected here Thursday

The effect of Dr. Miller's testimony on the general's chances in the trial is problematical. If a .45 caliber revolver such as the general's is taken in the hands, held a short distance away, and pointed at one's own breast, it appears very awkward, perhaps impossible, to make a wound such as was found in Mrs. Taylor's body. The wound was under the left breast and to the left. The barrel of the gun is long and it is difficult to hold many inches from the body when pointed toward the body. It would be impossible at 18 inches.

Dr. Miller's opinion was based not only upon his observation of many gunshot wounds, but upon a microscopical study of the wounded area of Mrs. Taylor's flesh and upon five test shots made into the carcass of a hog which had been killed and draped with the black dress and pink slip which Mrs. Taylor wore on the night of her automobile ride with the general which ended in her death in a roadside ditch.

Question Long and Detailed.

Commonwealth Attorney H. B. Kinsolving Jr. propounded his question at the opening of court today. It took twenty minutes to state the question, which outlined in detail the condition of Mrs. Taylor's clothes and her body at the entrance point of the bullet, and the descriptions of the five test shots.

There were no powder discolorations on the dress, it was stated, no powder marks were discernible on the undergarment, and no residue of powder in the fabric. The body showed a wound about the size of a quarter, with an area of powder gases deposited around the wound, which disappeared when washed, except for a slight discoloration at the lower edge. There was no powder residue in the flesh, around the wound, or in the entrance. No powder particles were found in the wound.

Question for the Jury.

The evidence of the five test shots indicated that such a condition was the result of holding the gun away from the body. Any close contact would have produced entirely different results, it was pointed out. How far away the weapon would have to be held, and whether this was possible, are questions for the jury to decide now.

Dr. Miller's opinion makes it practically impossible in theory for Mrs. Taylor to have killed herself as Gen. Denhardt has insisted.

The opinion of lawyers who are familiar with blue grass farmer juries such as the one in this trial is that the jurors will not be greatly swayed by expert testimony. They looked weary today as the lawyers wrangled in chambers and while the long questions were being read to the witness.

Dr. Miller was cross-examined by Rodesk Myers. The pathologist admitted that he was not a ballistics expert and could not tell the effects of different powders. It is contended that the powder in the cartridge that killed Mrs. Taylor is no longer used.

Comparison of the size of the holes in the dress showed that the original bullet hole was five-eighths by three-eighths of an inch. The hole made by the contact shot in the test was three-eighths by three-quarters. Differences in human and hog flesh were emphasized.

Gas with Bullet

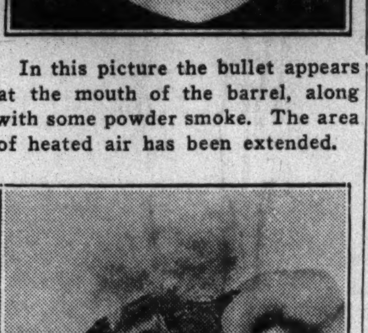
In this picture the bullet appears at the mouth of the barrel, along with some powder smoke. The area of heated air has been extended.



An exaggerated illustration of how the hand of the person firing a pistol can be stained by residue of nitrate which may come from unburned carbon in revolver explosion.

VANDALS USE DRY ICE TO SMASH LOOP WINDOWS

After policemen of the bomb and racket squad searched in vain yesterday for the missiles that were used to break five State street display windows early in the morning, Sergt. Andrew Aitken announced a theory that no one could disprove.

The missiles, Sergt. Aitken contended, were lumps of dry ice propelled by powerful slingshots as the vandals cruised past the stores in an automobile. The ice quickly evaporates when exposed to air, therefore the police were unable to gather evidence. They usually look for such old-fashioned and oft-used objects as ball bearings and stones.

Police were wondering what to use for evidence even if they catch up with the scientific vandals.

FARMERS' GROUP FAVORS LICENSE OF AUTO DRIVERS

But Balks at Tests for All Applicants.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—The Illinois Agricultural association this afternoon indorsed the passage of a drivers' license law, reversing the position of those farmers who have defeated the enactment of such a safety measure for the last decade. The indorsement, however, was limited to the primary features of the regulatory proposal and was qualified with opposition to the bill advocated by Gov. Henry Horner.

Paul Mathias, representing that farm group, announced the position of his association in a meeting of the house of representatives sitting as a committee of the whole.

The hearings were adjourned late today until next Tuesday, when amendments will be brought up. One of them would qualify a motorists' license card as a bail bond in cases of arrests on minor charges.

Patronage Also a Factor.

In the galleries were drivers' license advocates from civic groups of Chicago and downstate. In the lobbies were appointees of the governor and of the secretary of state, lobbyist rivals for the patronage that will be created by a license law.

Preceding Mr. Mathias to the rostrum, Mrs. Harold White of the Illinois League of Women Voters, Judge John Gutknecht of Chicago's Trafic court, Attorney Joseph H. Braun of the Chicago Motor club and Sidney Williams of the national safety council urged passage of a drivers' law, but carefully avoided reference to the controversy between Secretary Hughes and Gov. Horner that may block enactment.

"We are in favor of a drivers' license law," Mr. Mathias said, "but we are against the $1 fee, believing that the growing revenues from licenses and from the gasoline excise should be used to pay administration costs.

"We doubt that the examination feature is necessary and we appreciate that the elimination of this feature will slash administration costs. And we favor administration by the secretary of state who now handles the automobile registrations and the certificates of title for motor cars. The agricultural association supports house bill 128."

Horner Favors Other Bills.

Gov. Horner's proposals, as contained in bills 402, 403, 404 provide for $1 fee every three years, require an examination of all license applicants after next Jan. 1, and place the administration of the act under the highway department, which is run by F. Lynden Smith, former Horner campaign manager, now state director of public works.

House bill 128, introduced by Dennis J. Collins [R., De Kalb] provides for a license without fee, for an examination only when there is reason to suspect the applicant's competency, and for administration of the law by the secretary of state.

FOUR MOTORISTS ARE JAILED FOR ERRATIC DRIVING

Four motorists were jailed by Judge George B. Weiss in the Safety court yesterday for erratic driving.

John Smalley, 32 years old, 1303 South May street, who drove into another car and through a fence near his home on Monday, got fifteen days for driving while intoxicated.

Adolph Westerman, 38 years old, 4816 Hutchinson street, who was driving on the wrong side of Sacramento boulevard at Palmer square when he struck another car on Monday, also got fifteen days for drunken driving.

Julia Jones, colored, 23 years old, 5207 Calumet avenue, got ten days on a similar charge. She was arrested after her car struck a light pole at 53d street and Michigan avenue on Monday.

James Verdoni, 21 years old, 2028 Ohio street, who had spent three days in jail since his arrest after an accident at 2256 Chicago avenue, was given an extra two days on a reckless driving charge.

DIES ON JOB IN STREET CAR BARN.

Michael Nicholas, 50 years old, 716 East 92d place, died of heart disease yesterday while at work in the street car barn at 63d street and Drexel avenue.

SPEEDER POSTS BOND; THEN DIES AS CAR CRASHES

Believed to Have Fallen Asleep on Way Home.

Peter Jacobs, 26 years old, 401 Arlington avenue, Elgin, was fatally injured yesterday while driving home from Berwyn after posting $15 bond for speeding. His automobile left the Lake street highway near Bartlett road, caromed off a culvert and post, and crashed into a tree. He died three hours later in Sherman hospital in Elgin.

Jacobs, who worked at night for an Elgin transfer company, was arrested while driving sixty miles an hour in Harlem avenue in Berwyn on his way to work on Monday. While waiting to be booked he walked out and went to work, but was ordered to post bond yesterday.

Falls Asleep at Wheel.

He drove from his job to the Berwyn police station, posted the money to guarantee appearance in the Berwyn police court next Monday, and started back to Elgin. Apparently he fell asleep at the wheel.

Jacobs' father, Joseph, of Royalton, Ill., was killed in an automobile accident there last Dec. 17.

Malcolm Johnson, 44 years old, 711 Belmont avenue, was fatally injured yesterday when he stepped off a safety island at Ashland, Lincoln, and Belmont avenues and walked against the side of an automobile. He died several hours later in Alexian Brothers' hospital. The driver, Frank Feiter Jr., 20 years old, 1931 Osgood street, was not held.

Dies After Collision.

Stephen Semro, 43 years old, of Tiedtville died last night in Westlake hospital, Melrose Park, of trafic injuries. He was hurt in a collision Saturday night in Hillside. His wife, Dorothy, 41 years old, mother of four children, is in the same hospital with injuries suffered in the collision. Raymond Dodge, 19 years old, 28 East Elm street, Hinsdale, was driving the other car.

Reuben Olson, 47 years old, 1349 Adams street, a chauffeur in the city water pipe extension department for the last eighteen years, was fatally injured yesterday. His car collided at Lake street and Cicero avenue with another driven by Lloyd Lillevig, 24 years old, 155 Elgin avenue, Forest Park.

A charge of manslaughter against Edwin Henderson, 228 North Oak Park avenue, Oak Park, was dismissed yesterday by Justice of the Peace Martin H. McGrath in the suburb. On April 11 Henderson's car struck and killed a pedestrian, Henry Zimmerman, 79 years old.

At 4 p. m. yesterday, the coroner's office reported, Cook county's trafic death toll for the year stood at 350. Chicago was the scene of 276 of the deaths and of other accidents in which 6,339 persons were injured.

EX-KING SUES FOR LIBEL; FIGHTS TO PROTECT WALLY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 27.—Still indignant over what he regards as slurs on him, his fiancée, Mrs. Wallis Simpson, and their American friends, the duke of Windsor, former King Edward VIII. of Great Britain, today began a libel suit against the author and publishers of the book, "Coronation Commentary." The duke seeks damages.

From his place of exile at St. Wolfgang, Austria, the duke ordered his solicitors, Allen and Overy, to bring the libel charge and seek an injunction to stop further sales of the best seller.

The ex-king brought suit despite the fact that "Coronation Commentary," which contained words of criticism about both Edward and Mrs. Simpson, was "taken out of print" yesterday by the publishers, William Heinemann, Ltd. After suppressing the book the publishers and the author, Geoffrey Dennis, a schoolmate of Edward at Oxford, agreed to tender Edward a formal apology.

Suit Has No Bearing in U. S.

The duke, ever mindful to protect Mrs. Simpson and his American friends from ridicule, is believed to have acted in attempt to discourage the sale of the book in the United States. It was pointed out that he could bring suit for libel in other countries, but that his presence would be required in a foreign court to bring such action. It is not believed he contemplates any such procedure. His suit in England, legal authorities said, would be of no consequence in the United States.

[Dodd, Mead & Co., American publishers, announced "Coronation Commentary" would be released in the United States despite the suit.]

Informed sources said that Edward would not be required to return to England if his suit came up for trial. It was said he has the privilege of presenting his testimony to a commission appointed by the court. This commission would go to Austria to get his deposition. Some legal authorities expressed the belief the suit would never come up for trial.

Jury Would Hear Case.

Should the exiled sovereign decide to press the action in court, a judge and jury would hear the case. If libel were proved by Edward the jury would be requested to fix the amount of damages. The author and publishers could appeal the verdict if they so desired.

"Coronation Commentary" was sold out in London last Saturday when it became known Edward had issued his ultimatum to suppress the book or he would bring a libel suit.

Dennis, the author, refers in his book to the duke's brief reign as "muddling, fuddling, and meddling." He also makes mention of "Edward's lover's prodigality." He calls Mrs Simpson "shop soiled" and says "she clashed too crudely with the nation's idea and ideal, dream and myth of feminine royalty."

EARLY REUNION EXPECTED

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTS, France, April 27.—The exact date and place of the wedding of Mrs. Wallis Simpson and Edward, duke of Windsor, still is unfixed, as far as can be learned here. But one thing seems certain—Mrs. Simpson and the duke will be reunited as soon as the last legal obstacle is removed.

Theoretically they are now free to be seen together, the six months' period for her divorce to become absolute having expired today. However, fear that some legal technicality might be found for delaying the decree, and thus retarding their eventual marriage, undoubtedly will keep either of them from making any move until after next Monday when a British court is expected to pronounce the decree absolute.

It is expected that on Tuesday either Mrs. Simpson will leave to join Edward somewhere, or he will arrive here.

Plans Ceremonious Wedding.

Wherever the marriage takes place, Mrs. Simpson evidently is planning to make it a ceremonious one, but her trousseau is not yet complete, nor likely to be, for another ten days.

This is the only thing which might delay Mrs. Simpson's departure if she decides to join the exiled king in Austria and the only reason for holding up the marriage if Edward, as reported, has decided to defy the official wishes that the wedding be postponed until after the coronation of King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth on May 12.

Legally, if they plan to marry in France, the wedding could be held immediately.

Pershing's Choice

(Story in adjoining column.)

Gen. Pershing has ordered a fancy uniform from his Washington tailor for his appearance at the coronation in London. He used the blue dress uniform of a United States army general of civil war days as a model. This is an artist's drawing of the coronation uniform.

Had not Gen. Pershing chosen the fancy dress, he probably would have appeared as above. This is a late picture of the general in khaki uniform.

PERSHING COPIES GRANT ON OUTFIT FOR CORONATION

Gold Saber to Be Worn with $600 Uniform.

Washington, D. C., April 27.—(AP)—When John J. Pershing, general of the armies, sails tomorrow to represent President Roosevelt at the coronation of King George VI., he will carry with him one of the most gorgeous uniforms ever worn by an American officer.

Instead of the khaki he took along in 1917, Gen. Pershing's baggage on the liner President Harding will contain what war department officials term a "Gen. Grant" full dress blue uniform.

Pershing adopted the uniform to meet his own ideas of military formality. By war department regulations he is permitted to design his own outfit.

Cost Placed at $600.

Gen. Pershing's uniform was made by Frank Krupp, a Washington military tailor, on the model of the army's dark blue full dress uniform dating from civil war days. It is understood to have cost $600.

The knee length, high collared coat carries gold embroidered oak leaves along the collar and cuffs, four gold stars on each sleeve, and gold epaulets on the shoulders. Down the front are 12 gold buttons on each side, arranged in series of four.

Will Wear Gold Saber.

Over the right shoulder is a wide buff sash which is draped around the waist without covering the belt of gold embroidered oak leaves. From the belt will hang the gold saber presented to Gen. Pershing by the First division.

The full length trousers have two gold stripes running down each leg.

The black hat is called a "fore-and-aft" chapeau and is ornamented with ostrich feathers and gold braid. The general will wear patent lether shoes.

PLAN SERENADE FOR EDWARD IN TYROLEAN TOWN

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ST. WOLFGANG, Austria, April 27.—All talented villagers of St. Wolfgang are rehersing Tyrolean songs, dances, and music to serenade Edward, the duke of Windsor, on the eve of the exiled king's departure from Apesbach, the villa to which he journeyed March 29.

When he will depart is the duke's secret. It was indicated at his villa that he does not want the plans for his wedding to Mrs. Wallis Simpson revealed before a London court rules that his American born fiancée is free to marry him.

This morning Edward continued work on his documents plotting his past official and private trips on a big map of the world. An aid motored to Salzburg to purchase new maps to enable him to carry on his work. The duke played golf in the afternoon. He is having a new plane built for him in England. It will be ready in June.

Wins Divorce and $17,000; Sobs as She Leaves Court

Mrs. Meta Erdle, 2236 West 115th street, won an uncontested divorce yesterday from Reiner W. Erdle and a large settlement. But Mrs. Erdle sobbed as she left the courtroom of Judge Philip J. Finnegan. The divorce was obtained on grounds of desertion. Mrs. Erdle testified they were married on March 26, 1933, and her husband, who is head of the Austenel Dental laboratories, 5932 Wentworth avenue, left her on Jan. 21, 1936. She received $17,000, $35 a week for four years, an automobile, a $10,000 insurance policy, two pieces of real estate, and $1,200 fees for her attorney.

King and Queen Have Narrow Escape from River Tragedy

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 27.—The much heralded trip of King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain down the Thames river in an admiral's barge to open the new national maritime museum at Greenwich almost was marred by a tragedy today. The barge's wash knocked down a group of spectators on the river's edge. Bystanders rescued them.

The spectators were standing at the foot of a flight of steps leading from the Thames embankment when the trim new barge went by, escorted by four new and powerful motor torpedo boats. They had not figured on the size of the wash from the fast craft and were caught off guard by a six foot wave.

Precedent Is Broken.

It was the first time in history that British sovereigns had used such a craft to travel down the "London river." Instead of the traditional gorgeous, but clumsy, royal barge, rowed by twelve men, which was last used eighteen years ago, the king, clad in an admiral's uniform, and his queen stepped into the handsome 26 knot barge of the commander-in-chief of the Nore. [The Nore is part of the Thames estuary.] A port of London authority police launch led the way.

The party slipped swiftly down the river, which was cleared of all shipping for the occasion. The king and queen were accompanied by Princess Elizabeth, their daughter, and Sir Samuel Hoare, first lord of the admiralty.

At Greenwich the mayor presented an address to the king, who, in reply, mentioned the historic past of Great Britain's seafarers. Queen Mother Mary joined the party at the museum. Queen Elizabeth unlocked the doors of the museum, which is devoted to history of the British rule of the sea. The royal party returned to London by automobile.

Issue Coronation Program.

While the king was opening the museum, his brother, the duke of Gloucester, represented him at an official luncheon for issuance of the coronation program. It will go on sale tomorrow, but already it has been declared a best seller. Hundreds of thousands of copies have been sent all over the world. Nearly 100,000 went to the United States.

Insurance underwriters are doing a rushing business and taking heavy risks on the weather for coronation day, May 12. Weather risk policies were introduced at the coronation of the late King George V., twenty-six years ago, so a real precedent is lacking.

Plan to Record Discourse.

Profiting by what happened in America to phonograph records of the farewell speech made by his brother, former King Edward VIII. of Great Britain, King George VI. is going to have his coronation broadcast discourse specially recorded and sell the phonograph records. The British have not yet got over the fact that Americans picked up Edward's speech and sold the disks at a big profit.

The original metal matrices of the speech which George VI. will make on his coronation day will be deposited in the British museum.

FAULTY SIGNAL LIGHT IS BLAMED FOR TRAIN MISHAP

A defective signal light was blamed yesterday for the derailing of a coach of an eight-car North Western suburban train on the elevated structure between Canal and Clinton streets, just south of Kinzie street, on Monday night. The coach came to a stop when it hit a steel viaduct girder. Ten persons were injured and 50 others were jolted in the crowd of 480 passengers homeward bound from the loop.

The accident occurred when the mechanical device regulating a switch snapped shut after the engine, tender and first six cars and the front trucks of the seventh had passed over the open switch to another track. This caused the coach to swing around and smash into the girder.

Investigators for the Illinois commerce commission said the cause of the defective signal has not yet been determined.

SENTENCED FOR PASSING BAD CHECKS.

James Alberts, 51 years old, who cashed several spurious checks here, was sentenced to 90 days in the Bridewell by Municipal Judge Gibson E. Gorman yesterday.

BRILLIANT BANQUET OPENS LONDON DRIVE FOR HOSPITAL FUND

BY MAY BIRKHEAD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 27.—Perhaps the best foretaste so far of the extraordinary color and variety the British coronation festivities and ceremonies will attain was given tonight at the lord mayor's banquet for the National hospital in Queen square.

It claims to be the oldest hospital in the world. Needing nearly a million dollars, the Rockefeller Foundation has promised about one-third of that sum if a like amount is raised here. About $125,000 was subscribed at tonight's function.

The banquet was held at the Mansion House with Sir George Broadbridge, the lord mayor, in the chair. Among those present were Prince and Princess Chichibu, brother and sister-in-law of Emperor Hirohito of Japan; the duke of Kent, brother of King George VI. of Great Britain; the countess of Rothes; maharajahs, and many other celebrities.

REBELS KILL 800 IN AIR RAID; PUSH DRIVE ON BILBAO

Guernica Burns to Ground After Bombing.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 27.—Defenders of Bilbao, main seaport and industrial metropolis of northern Spain, tonight were working feverishly to rally the Basque loyalist army. The army literally fell apart before the rapid advance of Gen. Emilio Mola's Fascist rebels, according to dispatches reaching here.

As four towns yielded to the sweep of the rebels, the full extent of Bilbao's peril became apparent. Gen. Llano de la Encomienda, Catalan born leader of the Basques, ordered his forces, now reduced to 15,000 to halt and make a stand, and called for 80,000 more troops. Workers were set to digging trenches and throwing up barricades only a few miles outside Bilbao.

Cradle of Liberty Burned.

Along with news of the rebel sweep came the full story of the air bombing of Guernica, shrine of Basque tradition and liberties. Bombs slaughtered 800 of the 7,000 inhabitants and fire reduced the city to ashes.

The raids began at 4:30 p. m. yesterday and lasted for three hours. Bombers and pursuit planes swept over the town first throwing hand grenades into the market day crowd. The raiders returned dropping explosive and fire bombs. Finally they loosed machine gun fire on citizens fleeing to the open fields. The town burned furiously through the night.

Two churches, a convent, a hospital and a first aid station were wrecked or burned. The ancient parliament building which houses cherished relics and the eternal oak tree, traditional symbol of Basque liberty, however, escaped the fire.

Basques Accuse Germans.

The Basques charged the raid was carried out by "German aviators" in the pay of the rebels. The destruction was carried also to the neighboring towns of Arbazegui and Bolivar. Basques declare the rebels had no military objective in bombing the towns which were asserted to be open and undefended. A factory producing war material that lay outside Guernica was untouched.

Many survivors fled from Guernica to Bilbao. Plodding oxen drew ancient, solid wheeled Basque farm carts piled high with such household possessions as could be saved from the blaze.

Today the two main roads into Bilbao—the road to the east along the sea coast, and the southeast road to Durango—were clogged with retreating troops and fleeing refugees, heading for already overflowing Bilbao.

Two Columns Push Ahead.

Fascist rebels, following up their great smash of yesterday today pushed two powerful columns along the sides of a triangle pointing at Bilbao. One force occupied Durango, once a town of 9,000 but now abandoned, and advanced a few miles to a point only 15 miles southeast of Bilbao.

The second column pushed through the smoldering ruins of Eibar, munitions manufacturing center 18 miles southeast of Bilbao, and northward five miles to occupy Marquina, long noted as the home of the Basque nobility. The town was taken almost without a fight, and the rebels went on to Lequeitio, resort town of 4,200 on the seacoast. Here the rebels veered to the left and tonight were reported within a few miles of devastated Guernica.

8,000 Italians Appear.

Eibar was still an inferno when rebels entered it this morning. Loyalists several weeks ago dismantled the factories and removed most of the munitions stocks, but some fell into the hands of rebels. Loyalists set fire to the town of 25,000 before evacuating yesterday.

Persistent reports reached here that the force pounding toward Bilbao includes 8,000 Italians and Germans. The Germans for the most part compose the crews of the heavy artillery, but it is said others are mixed in the Italian ranks to prevent a stampede such as occurred after the loyalists' early March defeat of Italians at Brihuega, on the Guadalajara front northeast of Madrid.

Warships Shell Valencia; 4 Slain.

VALENCIA, Spain, April 27.—(AP)—Spain's temporary capital counted four dead and twenty-seven wounded tonight and blamed a German pocket battleship for aiding an early morning rebel naval bombardment.

Fishermen said the Admiral Graf Spee, German warship assigned to the international neutrality patrol, stood out to sea beyond the rebel cruisers Canarias and Baleares while the latter pumped thirty shells into Valencia from a distance of three miles off shore. Apparently the Spee served as a lookout for the cruisers, the fishermen reported.

Shell Madrid Newspapers.

MADRID, April 27.—(AP)—Rebel artillerymen turned their guns today against Madrid's newspapers in an effort to silence the presses which carry the government's news of the war to the people. One newspaper office was hit. Shells fell repeatedly near three other newspaper plants, and it was apparent that the buildings were specific objectives of consistent firing.

Thirty Madrilenos died today in the sixteenth day of shelling and the toll rose to at least 280. Three persons were killed while they stood before the Bank of Spain.

Tries to Kill Self

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Lillian Kavanda, age 21, in court yesterday when her silence caused judge to order mental examination.

Science will undertake to find the answer to the problem of blonde Mrs. Lillian Kavanda, 21 years old, who tried to commit suicide on Monday by slashing her wrists in the presence of her sweetheart. Arraigned yesterday before Judge Joseph B. Hermes in Women's court, the young woman, who lives at 2300 Michigan avenue, declined to explain the cause for her wish to die.

Judge Hermes fined Mrs. Kavanda $200 and ordered the case continued until next Monday. He requested an examination of the woman by Dr. David Rotman, municipal court psychiatrist.

CONFEREES IRON OUT NEUTRALITY BILL; RUSH OKAY

President to Get It by Airplane at Sea.

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—Agreement on neutrality legislation to replace the law which expires by limitation at midnight next Saturday night was reached late today by the conference committee appointed by the senate and the house to iron out the differences in the two resolutions which the respective chambers passed.

Leaders planned to rush the compromise measure through both houses on Thursday and to send it by airplane to President Roosevelt on Friday or Saturday for his signature.

Seek to Prevent Gap.

The President will be at sea by that time on his fishing vacation trip, but indicated his willingness to sign the measure so that there will not be a gap in the country's neutrality legislation, first adopted in the summer of 1935.

Existing neutrality law provides that the United States will permit no exportation of arms, ammunition, or implements of war to any belligerent or to any faction in civil strife. It also prohibits loans to such belligerents or factions. American nationals are warned that they may travel on vessels registered under a belligerent flag only at their own risk. American republics, when at war with a non-American power and not coöperating in such war with a non-American power, are exempt from the provisions of the act.

Would Extend Scope.

The legislation which the conferees agreed upon today includes extensions of the existing law in the following respects:

Trade with belligerents or factions could be placed on a "cash and carry" basis by the President so that some foreign government or individual would accept all right, title and interest in commodities destined for a belligerent before the shipment left the United States. Travel by American nationals aboard belligerent vessels would be declared illegal with such exceptions and under such regulations as the President might prescribe. American merchant vessels could be prohibited from transporting to belligerents such commodities other than arms, ammunition, or implements of war, which they are absolutely prohibited from transporting, as the President may proclaim. American merchantmen engaged in trade with belligerents would be forbidden to be armed. The President would be directed to include in the arms embargo the usual lethal weapons which he proclaimed April 10, 1936, "but not to include raw materials or other articles or materials not of the same general character as those enumerated" there.

POPE PIUS STRICKEN WITH HEART ATTACK; FORCED BACK TO BED

VATICAN CITY, April 27.—(AP)—Pope Pius suffered a slight heart attack today but remained determined to conduct his customary Wednesday reception for newly married couples tomorrow.

Sources close to the 79 year old pontiff disclosed that the attack occurred following his luncheon. At the same time he complained of the return of light pains in his legs.

His physician, Dr. Amanti Milani, put him to bed, administered an injection for his heart and warned him that he had been over exerting himself. The pope replied: "Our ministry does not permit of rest periods."

BLONDE MYSTERY CLEARS SELF UP IN GANG SLAYING

The mysterious blonde mentioned in the heart affairs of Oscar Klinger, former pugilist and poolroom owner slain by a gang, appeared at Shakespeare avenue police station yesterday and introduced herself to Capt. Charles Pawlowski. She said her real name is Virginia Martin, 3241 Maypole avenue, that she is 21 years old and has been employed as a strip tease dancer in cabarets under the name of Honey Lee.

"I haven't seen Klinger in eight months," she said when asked whether she had been Klinger's latest sweetheart. "I was only with him a few times and was never his sweetheart." She was freed.

TRAIL OF JUDGE'S STABBER SOUGHT IN TAMMANY HALL

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—Investigation into the stabbing of Municipal Judge John F. O'Neil, 59 years old, on a busy street corner in Greenwich Village, turned tonight to the devious ramifications of Tammany politics in which the wounded jurist was a widely known figure. He was reported near death in a hospital.

[A. P. Wirephoto.]
Judge John F. O'Neil.

Judge O'Neil was knifed in the back as he stood waiting for a bus this morning. His assailant, a dapper, wiry man wearing a tan polo coat, darted down the street and escaped before passing throngs realized what had taken place. The knife was concealed in a folded newspaper. Witnesses told police they thought the man was merely clapping a friend on the back.

Three possible motives were advanced by police, of which politics appeared the most important. The theory of a disgruntled litigant seeking revenge was somewhat discounted since Judge O'Neil has been trying cases with juries for the last year. Possibility of domestic trouble was minimized by the jurist's friends.

Justice O'Neil's wife said that before leaving home the judge had removed some papers from a safe and put them in his pocket. These papers have not been found.

Walks from His Home.

Police believed the attacker was familiar with the judge's habits. Mrs. Mary McGivney, a housewife and neighbor, said she had seen "the man in the polo coat pacing back and forth in front of the judge's home during the morning hours.

O'Neil walked out of his second story apartment and down the street to the corner of Sixth avenue where he waited for a bus to take him to court.

The murderer struck twice and then raced down the street toward 5th avenue, his figure fading away in the mist.

Boy Tells of Crime.

Samuel Beckerman, a laundry boy, said he witnessed the attack. It looked to him at first, he said, as though somebody patted the judge on the back. Then the judge put his hand to his back and spun around "like a corkscrew."

Fast losing blood, O'Neil staggered a half block to his home and went up the steps. He called his wife from the lobby and said:

"Follow me to St. Vincent's. I've been stabbed!"

John Burke, a porter, who was sweeping the sidewalk, half carried and half led the wounded jurist to the rear entrance of the hospital, less than half a block away. The judge was placed on an emergency operating table under the care of Dr. Raymond Sullivan, head physician.

FEDERAL AGENTS SEEK WEALTH OF SLAIN FENCE

Hope to Find Cash or Gems in Deposit Box.

Searching for the wealth Albert Montlake is believed to have amassed as a diamond and bond fence, federal agents will today open his safety deposit box in the University State bank, 1354 East 55th street. In it they hope to find money or jewels and, more important, a clew to Montlake's mysterious assassination.

Montlake, known to police as a thief for 25 years and a fence for the last ten years, was shot to death Monday night as he was stepping into his car around the corner from his apartment at 7300 South Shore drive.

Federal officials, who previously had kept in the background of the investigation, took charge of the deposit box yesterday when Montlake's brunette widow, Anna, 36 years old, demanded permission to open the box for money for funeral expenses.

Their Reasons Undisclosed.

Their action hinted that Montlake was an important figure in the underworld. They declined to say whether their principal interest was in collecting the government's tax on his income, gathering evidence for the New York bond case in which he and Meyer Gordon were named defendants, or solving some gangland crime as yet undisclosed.

Disbursements of $1,400 in two weeks were shown in records that Montlake kept in his apartment in a combination of Yiddish and shorthand. There was no indication as to what the payments were for, but they were made to men listed by their first names only, Joe, George, Al, etc.

Early theories that Montlake was pointed out to his killers by a man who left his apartment with him were discredited when police found that this man was a Nebraska jewelry customer.

Gordon, a loop jeweler living at 3565 Pine Grove avenue, was still in custody last night, despite his efforts to win freedom on a writ of habeas corpus.

Jewel Valuation Decreased.

Gordon was taken into custody a few hours after the shooting, as it was hinted that Montlake's revelations had brought Gordon's indictment in New York on conspiracy charges arising from the discovery of $21,000 in bonds taken by the Dillinger gang from a Racine, Wis., bank.

The diamonds found on Montlake's body and in his car were found yesterday to be worth far less than the $50,000 police originally estimated.

The night before they separated on Jan. 30 Mrs. Lois Purdy, 26 years old, 457 Jefferson street, Glencoe, attended a dance at an armory with her husband, Donald, a sergeant in the National Guard, and he hit her because she danced with a private. When Mrs. Purdy told this story yesterday Judge Donald S. McKinlay awarded her a divorce and custody of Donald Jr., 5 years old. Attorney Harry X. Cole said Mrs. Purdy waived alimony, but that her husband agreed to support their child.

FIRST OF PAROLE BILLS PASSED IN HOUSE TEST, 92-1

26 from Cook County Fail to Record Selves.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—The first of the group of pending bills for parole reform before the Illinois general assembly was passed by the house of representatives today by a vote of 92 to 1, but 26 of Cook county's 57 representatives failed to record themselves.

The twenty-six Cook county members who did not vote—and all or nearly all of them were in the house chamber at the time—were the following:

REPUBLICANS.

Adduci	Harewood	Saltiel
Broche	Petrone	Slater
Degrazio	Roderick	Warfield
Granata	Ruddy	Woodward

DEMOCRATS.

Berman	Kewin	Rategan
Boyle	Kluczynski	Shannon
Daley	Mastro	Vacco
Franz	McCabe	Weber
Hruby	Quinn

The bill was called up by Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg, Republican minority leader, as a test of sentiment on the complete set which already have been passed by the senate. In order to avoid the present hostility between the two houses, Schnackenberg called one of his own bills, which is a duplicate of a Harold G. Ward senate bill. He also selected the least controversial of the set of bills for the experiment.

Schnackenberg Shows Surprise.

This was the bill to provide that the parole board, in considering a convict's application, shall have no power to pass upon the sufficiency of the indictment or the evidence in the case, although it shall have access to all the information contained in those records.

When the roll call was over, Schnackenberg indicated surprise that this measure did not receive greater support, particularly from Cook county. In his opinion, Chicago is more acutely interested in the program than any other part of the state.

Explain Failure to Vote.

In defense of the Democrats it was argued that some refrained from voting because they preferred to wait and support the duplicate bill sponsored by a Democrat, Senator Ward. But no such argument was advanced in behalf of the Republicans, several of whom have been regarded as friendly to this legislation.

There was no debate over the measure. In calling it up Schnackenberg merely outlined its provisions and spoke of its noncontroversial nature.

The one negative vote on the bill came from Harry W. McCaskrin [R., Rock Island], an attorney who defends the present system.

The executive committee of the house voted to withhold action in all joint resolutions for constitutional amendments—a variety of which have been presented—until a decision on which one will be supported has been reached.

The committee recommended the adoption of a joint resolution by Harry L. Topping [R., Kankakee] calling on the University of Illinois to prepare and collate information concerning the gross incomes of all persons, firms, and corporations in the state with a view to the passage of an income tax—one without exemptions or graduations.

MOSCOW ALARMED OVER CHAOTIC STATE OF LIGHT INDUSTRY

MOSCOW, April 27.—(AP)—The newspaper Izvestia tonight expressed alarm at "chaotic" conditions in the commissariat of light industry, which supplies the nation with consumer goods. Izvestia, organ of the central executive committee, said:

"The situation of light industry cannot be called otherwise than alarming.

"The output of goods is far behind the plan for the first three months of 1937. Factories are working without plans and only 50 per cent of the workers fill the norms. Chaos and confusion prevail."

He said the congress "might" ask the federal trade commission to bring up to date its studies made in 1929 on the subject under consideration "by examining the economic effects of resale price maintenance under the novel and rapidly changing conditions now attending business in this country."

Outlaws Price Cutting.

The Hiller-Tydings bill seeks to outlaw retail price cutting. It would amend the anti-trust laws to legalize interstate contracts preventing the resale of branded or trade-marked good below specified prices in those states—some 38 in number—having so-called fair price laws. The Supreme court recently upheld such state legislation in cases originating in Illinois and California.

"The present hazard of undue advances in prices, with a resultant rise in the cost of living," said the President's letter, "makes it most untimely to legalize any competitive or marketing practice calculated to facilitate increases in the cost of numerous and important articles which American householders, and consumers generally buy.

"You will note that the federal trade commission has made no study of the effect of resale price maintenance on consumers since 1929, but the commission does mention a reputable body of informed opinion to the effect that such control of resale prices would be harmful to the consuming public."

President's Real Objection.

The President's real objection to the measures in the opinion of congressional leaders is that it contemplates state control with mere cooperation through supplementary legislation by the federal government, while he wants direct federal action.

The Supreme court, in its decision upholding the Ashurst-Summers prison-made goods act, preventing the shipment of convict-made goods into states which prohibit their receipt or sale, charted a course of possible state-federal action where child labor could be abolished and such things as wages, hours, and trade practices could be regulated, but Mr. Roosevelt has evinced no enthusiasm for such a plan.

When asked at his press conference whether there would be any wage and hour legislation at this session of congress, the President replied that he did not know.

Congressional leaders understand that Thomas Corcoran and Benjamin Cohen, the brain trust lawyers, are working on a wage, hour, child labor, and fair trade practice legislative program, but no bill has been forthcoming.

Mr. Roosevelt, who yesterday forbade government employés to speculate in the stock market, today urged the public also to avoid speculation. To make his point the President told a story of his days as governor of New York which carried a warning.

Mr. Roosevelt told of the survey of an upstate New York village of 125 families. Of these 105, Mr. Roosevelt said, were found to have played the market, almost all on margin. Of the 105 investors of the unnamed village all but one lost their homes, their savings or were plunged into debt for several years.

The one investor who made money, Mr. Roosevelt explained with a laugh, was the baggage boy at the railroad station. The youth married when he was $1,500 ahead in his account and his new bride persuaded him to withdraw the money and invest in a home, he said.

PRESIDENT NOMINATES WOODRING TO REMAIN AS SECRETARY OF WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.] — President Roosevelt today moved to make permanent the appointment of Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring by sending the Kansan's nomination to the senate.

Harry H. Woodring.

Woodring has been serving as secretary of war on a recess appointment since last September. He was assistant secretary of war under the late George H. Dern, who died last August. On Dern's death he automatically became acting secretary of war and was given a recess appointment by the President under the law which states that the office of secretary of war shall not be vacant longer than thirty days.

Woodring was governor of Kansas from 1931 to 1933. During the war he enlisted as a private and was commissioned a second lieutenant. He resigned to return to private life and was a banker in Neodesha, Kas., at the time he ran for governor.

PRESIDENT GOES FISHING; LEAVES CONGRESS IN FIX

Problems Abandoned on Capitol Steps.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28 [Wednesday].—[Special.]—Leaving a pretty kettle of fish to be boiled into administration broth by sets of Democratic cooks on Capitol hill, President Roosevelt early today boarded his special train for a ten day fishing cruise in the Gulf of Mexico. The train was scheduled to depart at 6 a. m.

To a divided and embattled senate judiciary committee Mr. Roosevelt left the fate of his plan to pack the Supreme court with six unquestioning New Dealers. He left all senators and congressmen stewing over the economy plea in his revised budget and relief message of a week ago and his governmental reorganization plan.

Calls Flood Committee.

The presidential special was gathered together as the homes of thousands in the east were being threatened by rising flood waters. For these Mr. Roosevelt called a hurried meeting of his emergency flood committee and left instructions that everything possible be done to alleviate flood suffering.

To congress the President left no comfort. The holding aloof of the factional strife within his own party is a stratagem developed more than a month ago during his visit to his second home at Warm Springs, Ga.

The President went to the infantile paralysis colony he founded at the Georgia resort shortly after he gave his court plan to a startled nation. As the first mutterings of dissent developed within his party Mr. Roosevelt said he was confident that he could push his program through congress and revealed that he was ready to sit it out as long as congress.

Summers Long and Hot.

This fishing trip, according to White House familiars, is a subtle means of telling congress that while it stews over the court plan the President can enjoy himself. It is intended to point out that Washington summers are long and hot—that the only escape is voting with the administration.

The presidential train will travel through the south all of today. No stop is scheduled until tomorrow morning when Mr. Roosevelt will visit Beauvoir, the home of Jefferson Davis, president of the confederacy. From what is now a confederate veterans' home the President will motor to Gulfport, Miss., where he reboards his train for New Orleans.

Mr. Roosevelt will reach New Orleans tomorrow, where he will board the presidential yacht Potomac for ten days of gulf fishing.

On May 10 Mr. Roosevelt will dock at Galveston, Tex., visit Houston and continue on to Fort Worth to spend the night with his son Elliott. May 11 he will begin his journey home by way of St. Louis, to arrive in Washington May 13.

PRODIGAL HOUSE PUT UP AGAINST BUDGET CHOICE

Spend or Slash Problem Squarely Ahead.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—The house shuddered in the throes of indecision today as the statesmen faced squarely a decision on whether to continue the delights of a four year spending spree or to enter upon the horrors of a hangover of economy.

Two committee decisions gave the members a clear choice. A war department appropriation bill totaling 416 millions, 25 millions more than last year, was reported by one appropriations subcommittee. A slash of 20 per cent in a 100 millions deficiency appropriation bill was announced by another subcommittee.

Education Bill Dies.

A third development was the death in the educations committee, by a vote of 12 to 5, of the federal education bill which would eventually cost the government 300 millions and more yearly. This measure, which caused a row in the senate recently between Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.], chairman of the finance committee, and Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson, is pending on the calendar of that body.

Members also were given an opportunity to vote directly upon the entire problem of retrenchment in the form of a concurrent resolution introduced by Representative John Taber [R., N. Y.], ranking minority member of the appropriations committee.

The resolution called upon President Roosevelt to submit to congress as early as possible a program of retrenchment in budget estimates, appropriations, and proposed appropriations in line with his April 20 economy message.

The resolution asked that the President recommend the following:

1. Revisions in budget estimates submitted to the present session and not yet acted upon.

2. Revisions in appropriations now contained in pending appropriation bills.

3. Revisions in appropriations already voted under which balances are still available.

4. Such suggested changes as should be made in existing laws requiring expenditures of public money in order to reduce such expenditures.

The resolution also asked the President to advise congress what pending measures, whether sponsored by him or not, should, in his judgment, be deferred until revenues are adequate to finance them. If measures must be enacted, the President is asked to suggest means of revenue to provide the necessary additional money.

The President is also requested to outline to congress what form of taxes he had in mind when he mentioned in his recent message that new taxes might be necessary at the next session.

House Democratic leaders somewhat defiantly defended the increase in the war department bill.

"People Strong for Defense."

"The people of this country are pretty strong for national defense," remarked Speaker William B. Bankhead, when asked at his press conference if the 25 million increase was in accord with President Roosevelt's recent plea for "restraint" in appropriations.

The speaker's face lighted as he revealed that he had just talked with Representative Clifton Woodrum [D., Va.], in charge of the second deficiency bill for 1937.

"The departments have asked for 100 millions to last out the year," he announced. "But Mr. Woodrum says his committee will slash that to 80 millions."

WOMAN GIVES FIRST DEFENSE EVIDENCE IN WILHELM WILL CASE

Rev. J. P. O'Callahan.

The first testimony for the defense in the suit to annul the marriage of Mrs. Mary Scully Fagan Wilhelm, wealthy widow who died in 1933, was presented yesterday in the court of Judge Grover C. Niemeyer. Fifteen nieces and nephews of Mrs. Wilhelm contend her mind was unsound when she married August Wilhelm four months before she died at the age of 75. An estate of $500,000 is at stake in the suit.

The defense witness was Mrs. Lillian S. Condict of Glencoe, former private secretary to a bank official. She declared Mrs. Wilhelm was a good business woman and was well dressed. Mrs. Condict's testimony was presented by agreement of attorneys for both sides, although the plaintifs' case has not been completed.

Earlier in the day witnesses included the Rev. J. P. O'Callaghan, assistant pastor at St. Edith's church, 5500 Broadway, who married the widowed Mrs. Fagan to Wilhelm.

FARLEY PRESENT AT CORNER STONE LAYING IN GARY

James Aloysius Farley, postmaster general and boss of New Deal patronage, laid a postoffice cornerstone in Gary yesterday morning and dedicated a new postoffice in Galesburg during the afternoon. In Gary Farley predicted that President Roosevelt's plan to pack the United States Supreme court will be successful. At a banquet in Galesburg he said the success of the New Deal recovery program depends on enactment of the court proposals.

Today Farley will consult with Indiana Democratic leaders in Indianapolis, supposedly about what shall be done with Senator Frederick Van Nuys of Indiana. Van Nuys is opposing the court reorganization.

Thousands of loyal Democrats assembled at 6th avenue and Massachusetts street in Gary for the ceremony at the $500,000 postoffice which is under construction. Many in the audience were steel workers, who wore buttons of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

OHIO RIVER RISES AT WHEELING, BUT FALLS UPSTREAM

Waters Return to Banks at Pittsburgh.

Wheeling, W. Va., April 27.—[Special.]—The rain swollen Ohio river climbed to a flood crest of 45.7 feet here tonight after receding within its banks upstream. It is predicted the river will begin to fall within a few hours.

Some streets along the water front were under water, forcing residents to higher ground. Police were ordered on double shifts to be ready for possible rescue work.

Many Forced to Flee.

Many of the 10,000 residents of Wheeling Island, opposite Wheeling, in the middle of the river, were forced to flee as water submerged a great part of the island.

Hundreds of families for miles along the river fled from their homes during the day and several other communities were under water. The entire downtown district of Wellsburgh, W. Va., was inundated, as were parts of Cumberland, W. Va., and Empire, O.

Recede Near Pittsburgh.

After rising to a crest of 35 feet at Pittsburgh, ten feet above flood level, the flood waters returned to river banks, leaving nearly 5,000 homes flooded in Allegheny county, Pa. More than 800 families were left homeless in the Pittsburgh suburbs of Sharpsburg, Etna, and McKees Rocks.

Husband Makes Faces at Their Baby; She Sues Him

Edward Fitz, 2206 Lincoln avenue, a paper mill foreman, thought that his wife, Kate, 22 years old, a hat check girl, received a fabulous salary. That's why he kept all his own income for himself, Mrs. Fitz and her attorney, Norman Becker, told Judge Philip J. Finnegan yesterday. Fitz also made faces at their baby, Marilyn, 2 years old, said Mrs. Fitz. Judge Finnegan awarded her $5 a week pending hearing of her suit for divorce which charges cruelty.

Faces Murder Charge

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Stella Stevens, 14, of Grayson, Ky., who is charged with the slaying of Jimmy Scott, young hitch-hiker, shot to death while playing kissing game in farmhouse.

Grayson, Ky., April 27.—(AP)—A preliminary hearing will be held Saturday for Stella Stevens, 14, Olive Hill farm girl who is charged with the slaying of a boy with whom she was playing "postoffice" last Wednesday night, Coroner C. W. Henderson said today.

Henderson swore out a murder warant against the girl, daughter of Drew Stevens, because, he said, "public sentiment demanded it." Meanwhile, Hayden [Eddie] Romines, 25, remained in jail here as a material witness in the investigation of the kissing game death.

County Attorney J. R. McGill Sr., who talked with Romines in his cell, said the youth denied he was in the darkened bedroom in the Stevens home when a boy known as "Jimmy Scott," about 16, was shot to death.

McGill quoted Romines as saying he was in the kitchen and that when he heard a shot in the adjoining room he ran in to see "Jimmy" standing erect with his hand against his chest.

COURT 'PACKERS' BACKED TO WALL IN SENATE FIGHT

Jocky to Block Adverse Report by Committee.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—Swamped with compromise offers when the senate judiciary committee met in executive session today to consider President Roosevelt's Supreme court packing bill for the first time, administration leaders sought unsuccessfully to avert the possibility of an adverse report.

Senator Marvel M. Logan [D., Ky.], a proponent of the bill to put six additional justices on the Supreme court, proposed that the committee report the measure as it stood, without recommendation. A chorus of objections met this suggestion and Senator Logan did not formally present his motion.

Tomorrow, Senator Logan announced, he will seek unanimous consent to shut off discussion on the bill and all compromise proposals and to begin voting on May 11. Various senators said they would object to this suggestion, which admittedly was made at the request of Chairman Henry F. Ashurst [D., Ariz.].

Ashurst Admits His Doubts.

Logan denied that Chairman Ashurst requested him to propose reporting the bill as sent up by the President, without recommendation, and denied also that the suggestion was made for the purpose of avoiding a possible adverse report. However, Senator Ashurst declared as late as Saturday that an unfavorable report was not unlikely.

Such a possibility became more apparent today when Senator George McGill [D., Kas.], a member of the committee who has been considered in favor of the President's bill, offered a compromise amendment. It would provide for the appointment of an additional justice for each member of the court over 75 years of age [instead of 70] who refused to retire and limit the number of such conditional appointments to not more than two in any one presidential term. After the size of the court had been thus increased subsequent vacancies could not be filled except to prevent the total number from falling below nine.

Compromise Bloc Grows.

Senator McGill's amendment increased the number of committee members who are seeking compromises to four. Senator Pat McCarran [D., Nev.] proposes a flat increase of two justices; Senator Carl Hatch [D., N. M.] wants to limit conditional appointments to one a year, and Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.] is urging a substitute measure requiring a vote of two-thirds of the justices to invalidate an act of congress.

Senator George W. Norris [Radical, Neb.], also favors the O'Mahoney scheme, contending that it can be effected by legislation instead of by constitutional amendment, and urged it in committee today. However, he is expected to support the President's plan. Counting Norris for the President's bill and excluding the four compromisers, the committee stands evenly divided, with seven for and seven against.

MOTHER FORGETS NEW BABY; RECALLS HIM AFTER DISAPPEARANCE

Apparently the victim of amnesia, Mrs. Louise Aevermann, 30 years old, returned late yesterday to her home at 1315 North Central avenue from where she disappeared early Monday. She had been brought home Sunday eleven days after the birth of her second son at St. Anne's hospital. Mrs. Aevermann said she wandered about unable to remember her name. When told that the baby was doing well, Mrs. Aevermann said: "The baby. What baby?" Later, when the child was placed in her arms, she remembered his birth.

Boy, 14, Pedals 187 Miles on Candy and 5 Sandwiches

With five chicken sandwiches and a bag of jelly beans to sustain him for 187 miles, Thomas Kautzman, 14 years old, climbed on his bicycle Sunday afternoon at his home in Indianapolis and started for Chicago. He arrived yesterday morning at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Martha Sponer, 130 North Parkside avenue, who fed him ham and eggs. Despite his plans to pedal back, his mother is on her way to Chicago to take him back by train.

RESEARCH BARES AVERAGE MAN'S LIFE IN THE CITY

Facts concerning the average man in the average American city, his family and manner of living, his income, property, and taxes are revealed in a report entitled Social Characteristics of Cities, prepared by Prof. William F. Ogburn of the sociology department of the University of Chicago.

There are three to four persons in the Jones family of Averagetown, a mythical northern city of 50,000 population, Prof. Ogburn finds after long research. The average cost of homes is $5,000. Every second family has a radio.

The person employed in a factory earns $1,300 annually and those in retail stores $1,350. The average tax for each person over 15 years old is $43 a year and the tax load on the citizen who works is placed at $80 a year, or one-seventeenth of his wage.

Orders Couple Reinstated in State Welfare Jobs

At a hearing held yesterday by the Illinois civil service commission in the rooms of the state industrial commission at 235 West Wacker drive, Raymond Davis and his wife, Alois, of Buncomb, Ill., were ordered reinstated in their positions in the state welfare department. The commission found that although the couple was discharged ostensibly for retrenchment purposes no retrenchments were made.

THE ABC OF PARK TAXES

MEMBERS of the Illinois legislature, many of whom live outside Chicago, are considering a bill that may cut the tax you pay for Chicago's parks by 75/100 of 1%.

Tax cuts sound good to most of us, but is this proposed tax cut as good as it sounds?

It means saving you only 37½ cents on a $50 tax bill—only 75 cents on a $100 tax bill—and so on. But it means reducing, curtailing and sacrificing many of the uses your Chicago parks now offer you free. It means impairing the physical condition of your parks and boulevards. It means reduced real estate values as well as penalizing the happiness, health and safety of your family and children.

This proposed bill would not save a small taxpayer enough in a year to cover the carfare or automobile cost of one day's outing for the family in the Forest Preserve or Brookfield Zoo. Yet, if it becomes law, your parks will lose four dollars of U. S. Government aid toward every five dollars they must expend to carry on essential rehabilitation and improvement work. We cannot get WPA contributions unless we match them one dollar to four. And increased unemployment in Chicago will increase the cost to taxpayers for relief.

Chicago's park system is its pride, its greatest single asset, admired throughout the world. If you favor a vote for and not against your parks and boulevards, advise your State Senator or State Representatives. Or mail us a postcard and we will notify them for you.

R. J. DUNHAM, President
Chicago Park District

MURDER CHARGE TO BE PRESSED IN TRIANGLE KILLING

State to Ignore Inquest Action on Husband.

An indictment charging Samuel Willeford with the murder of his wife's lover will be asked of the grand jury despite the recommendation of a coroner's jury yesterday that he be held on a charge of manslaughter.

Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney, who made this announcement last night, said that in his opinion the killing was not manslaughter but premeditated murder.

The recommendation of the coroner's jury was made at the conclusion of an inquest into the death of Charles Truchan, the lover of Mrs. Floris Willeford, who was shot and killed by Willeford Sunday in the Willeford home at 2724 West 38th street.

On the witness stand Mrs. Willeford calmly told the story of her intimacies with Truchan. Throughout his wife's testimony Willeford glared at her. When she finished her story she started toward him hesitatingly. He turned his back on her. On Monday Mrs. Willeford said she would stand by her husband if the first word of reconciliation came from him.

Stepfather on Stand.

The inquest, held in the county morgue, was attended by Truchan's mother, Mrs. Frank Potempa, 3219 West 37th street, and her husband, stepfather of the victim. Potempa said he had tried unsuccessfully to break up the love affair between Mrs. Willeford and Truchan. After leaving the stand, the witness referred bitterly to Mrs. Willeford as a cradle snatcher. She is 26 years old and Truchan was 21.

Mrs. Willeford, an attractive brunette, spent her time reading a confessions magazine before she was called as a witness by Deputy Coroner James Whalen.

She told of Truchan coming to the Willeford home on Sunday. Willeford searched through the young man's overcoat for a weapon, remarking: "A guy has to be careful."

"They both laughed at that," Mrs. Willeford continued. "Then Sam asked Charles if he really cared for me. We both assured him we were very serious. I tried to keep my husband from shooting, but he was too strong for me."

Calls Truchan The Kid.

Mrs. Willeford referred to Truchan as the kid and told of his being nice and helpful to the family.

Q. [By Assistant State's Attorney Irwin Clorfene] Did you really regard him as a kid? A. No, not at the last. He always acted so much older than he was.

Q. When did you start being intimate with him? A. About two years ago. Sam said at first it was just an infatuation that I'd get over.

During the hearing, the Willeford's three children, Samuel Jr., 11 years old, Jack, 9, and Floris, 6, played in an anteroom. Afterward they were taken to the juvenile home. Willeford, who did not testify at the inquest on the advice of his attorney, was locked up in the county jail. Mrs. Willeford was taken to the Brighton Park police station.

A charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors was placed against Mrs. Willeford by juvenile authorities on behalf of her children. She will be arraigned in the Domestic Relations court this morning.

PARKER AND SON ON TRIAL

Ellis Parker (right), New Jersey detective, and his son, Ellis Jr., as they went on trial in Newark, N. J., yesterday charged with conspiracy to force the "confession" of Paul Wendel that he kidnaped the Lindbergh baby.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Newark, N. J., April 27.—(AP)—An accusation by the government prosecutor that Ellis H. Parker and his son "knew all about" an alleged attempt to tamper with prospective jurors in their conspiracy trial in the Wendel case was met tonight with a countercharge that it was "a scheme to prejudice the jury against us."

A federal grand jury began an immediate investigation of the jury tampering charge and United States Attorney John J. Quinn announced he would recommend that it indict two men named in the allegation.

Quinn accused the Parkers after a member of the jury panel testified he was approached by a man who told him "it would be easy to make some 'change' on this jury."

"Five or ten grand would be nothing," the witness, Michael J. Blessington, quoted the man as saying.

He named Peter J. Dodd, West Orange bartender, as the man who made the remark to him yesterday and testified also that Peter F. De Angelo, a prospective juror, spoke to him similarly.

Both men denied they had such conversation with Blessington.

Patterns and Tailoring Give Them a High Value Rating at $1.95

Cut out for sleeping, there's a lot of things about them that would make it easy for us to pass them off on you as lounge suits. As low as the price is for sleeping get-up of this quality, we didn't concede one point in our tailoring and finishing specifications. The patterns are all good—stripes, all-over figures and the majority of them on both light and dark grounds.

Sports Oxfords

That Know Their Style and Comfort Obligations from the Ground Up $5.85

The moccasins are genuine in that they follow to the letter the principiles of construction set-up by the early Teepee dwellers. The saddle strap oxfords come with brown saddle strap, black saddle strap, all brown, and have corrugated red rubber soles. The Blucher front reverse calf oxford (in brown, grey, and white) bases a good deal of its popularity on its rugged good looks, and is far lighter in weight than it looks.

Neckties

The Collection Is Made Up of Silk Foulards and Silk Crepes 85c

Swinging into the peak of a season and staging a tie sale as interesting as this one is (to put it mildly) unusual. These ties are silk and the richness and variety of designs, some of which are on light colored as well as those hard to get green and blue grounds, are some of the best we have seen even among far more expensive neckwear.

This Suit With Bellows Shoulder Jacket Is of Galashiels Tweed

Woven in Galashiels, Selkirkshire county, Scotland, this homespun expresses in its weave the mellow ruggedness of the country that is its place of origin and why it can lay claim to knowing about a Scotch moor grouse drive, and know, too, the ritual of Sunday golf at St. Andrews. It is a tweed genuinely a blue blood among British sport clothes fabrics, and you'll see that by the hand loomed look of its weave and discriminate use of color.

MILLINERY REUNION

By CALEB

THERE was once a time when strong men looked upon things of fashion and snorted in disdain. Some still do, but if so, they have simply looked upon—and not into—fashion.

If fashion ever was a sissy business, it has become a business of iron and steel and steamers, of travel and shooting and trapping—and big industry.

A generation ago women's hats were a matter of varied trimmings on monotonously similar frames or bodies. In the middle '20s, a designer gained a following for the cloche, a close little hat devoid of trimming, but original in shape and style. The cloche was one of the earliest nude hats and started a great vogue.

Season after season new ideas were developed, each based on conceptions which departed radically from the old idea of a persisting form under a variety of trimmings.

The past decade has seen the rise (and sometimes partial fall) of pillboxes, turbans, berets, skull caps, muffin brims, boleros, bretons, sailors, tricornes, bicornes, peach baskets, watteaus, cartwheels, cloches, vagabonds, snap-brims up in back, off-the-faces, and poke bonnets, to name the most important types of hats.

Most years, three or four of the above types have dominated the season.

This year, every one of the above is good. Every one of the above types is being shown in every extensive showing of millinery. Our millinery section this year reminds one of a class reunion—with old grads of all the decades past present with varying degrees of conspicuousness and audibility.

Fur from animals—made into felt—contributes to, and many palm trees, many plants, and the labor of many men and women produce, the more than a million dollars' worth of hats we'll sell in our fifth floor millinery section alone this year.

A smart hat rests peacefully enough upon the soft and shining hair of our customer. The daring and enterprise which make the smart hat possible are something to be told another day.

We recently advertised fur coats at $78. The copy listed a number of different furs on which we had quoted values of $99 to $250.

We find that our salespeople were not entirely familiar with those garments valued at the higher prices, and therefore in some instances they did not always advise our customers correctly in this regard.

DEMAND BAN ON TALL BUILDINGS AROUND AIRPORT

Call Bigger Field Useless Without Zoning.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

The construction of tall buildings near the city airport at 63d street and Cicero avenue, as permitted under the present zoning laws, would make the field unsafe for the landing and departure of giant airliners, nullifying the proposed expenditure of $500,000 to enlarge the landing area.

Aeronautical authorities voiced this warning yesterday, pointing out that the city council for five years has neglected to pass an important amendment to the existing regulations which would prevent the building of such structures. The amendment has been on file with the council since 1932.

132 Foot Buildings Legal.

Miss Mary S. Florence, secretary of the city zoning board of appeals, explained yesterday that the zoning ordinance now permits construction of buildings as high as 132 feet on streets around the flying field.

But if several tall buildings were located within a few hundred yards of the landing area not even the proposed expansion of the airport from 320 to 640 acres would make it safe for transport operations, airmen pointed out. They recalled that commercial airline operators objected only a few months ago to a 50 foot chimney near the field. The chimney now has been cut down to about 30 feet.

Air line operators and the city aero commission both have asked the council to zone the neighborhood of the airport so that no buildings more than thirty-three feet high could be constructed within 380 feet of the field, and that none higher than sixty-six feet be constructed within half a mile of the airport.

Ask Three Mile Zone.

Furthermore the air lines have asked that another two and a half miles around the field be zoned so that building heights would be held down to a maximum of 150 feet three miles from the airport.

This request could not entirely be fulfilled unless an entirely new zoning law was passed, but the amendment now on file would limit the heights of buildings to thirty-three feet close to the airport and to sixty-six feet for a considerable distance around it. This compromise measure the air lines could accept.

Airmen stressed the need for action on the zoning amendment, inasmuch as the city council and the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad have agreed on a plan for moving the railway's tracks which now bisect the large area available for an airport.

2 PLANES FORCED DOWN IN WEST; 15 ARE ABOARD

Denver, Colo., April 27.—(AP)—Two transport planes, carrying a total of eleven passengers and crews of four, were forced down in this area tonight.

At the edge of the Cheyenne, Wyo., field a United Air Lines plane shattered its landing gear when Pilot Cliff Coppin made a forced landing. None of the nine passengers or crew of three was injured.

At Sterling, Colo., a Wyoming Air Lines plane made a forced landing on a field lighted with automobile headlights. The Sterling landing was caused, Pilot H. C. Holloway said, by bad weather.

The United Air Lines plane is a twin motored, 14 passenger Douglas transport. It left the airport a few minutes after 9 p. m. and made the forced landing a short time later.

The United Air Lines plane was en route to New York from San Francisco. Among the passengers was Newell Beatty, 2670 Elston avenue, Chicago.

WEDDING OFF

Melvin Purvis, former Chicago G-man, and Janice Jarratt, his fiancee, whose marriage has been postponed indefinitly following spat in Miss Jarratt's home town of San Antonio, Tex.

3,000 Guests Find They Have No Place to Go.

yesterday afternoon. Thin lipped Purvis, who even "killed by the clock" when he was a G-man, paced the lobby in irritation. Finally Miss Jarratt arrived.

She was only a few minutes late, but she was late, nevertheless. They spoke sharply to each other, it was said. Then Purvis stamped away in a huff.

A dinner party was canceled at a late hour. In the evening society editors were informed that announcements of a scheduled breakfast in honor of the couple had better be left out of the papers.

Purvis left last night for Austin, where he spent the night. He was sighted at the union depot in Fort Worth, but he dodged away from reporters and boarded a train for San Francisco.

Bride-to-Be Mystified, Too.

Miss Jarratt motored to Victoria, Tex., southeast of here, with her sister, Mrs. A. J. Rummel, who lives in Victoria. They spent the night in a Victoria hotel and were interviewed briefly before they hurriedly left town.

"I don't know what it's all about," Miss Jarratt insisted. She confirmed the announcement that the wedding had been indefinitly postponed. She did not appear disturbed, however, and even smiled bewitchingly as she answered a few questions.

Then she stepped into her sister's car and they motored to Port O'Connor, small gulf town, where they stopped at the summer home of Miss Jarratt's close friend, Mrs. Daniel Braman, daughter of Thomas O'Connor, one of the richest cattlemen in the state.

It was reported Miss Jarratt planned to board a yacht tomorrow and sail for New York. If she carries out this plan she will be on the seas at the time her wedding was to have taken place Thursday.

Rebuffed by an Actress, Pasqual Fabris Kills Self

Los Angeles, Cal., April 27.—[Special.]—Despondent over "rebuffs and disappointments" the last of which was his thwarted love for Frances Langford, stage and screen beauty, Pasqual Fabris, former first violinist of the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra, committed suicide today. In a note he wrote of himself thus. "I am the trinity—God needs me in heaven."

C. I. O. FIGHTS LAW WITH OWN ARMY, SAYS RED LEADER

Tells Role of Outsiders in Strike Wave.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Whether the Committee for Industrial organization moves an army of shock troops from strike to strike when activity by police or the National Guard impends has been one question during the strike wave. Now comes William Weinstone with a disclosure of the part played by storm troops of workers from outside in the General Motors strike at Flint, Mich.

Mr. Weinstone is secretary of the Michigan district of the communist party and was a director of communist activities in the Flint and Detroit strikes. In a recent pamphlet he gives his description as an insider of the mobilization at the Flint plants.

Operates as an Army.

"The General Motors workers," he writes, "in practically all the states affected by the strike, but particularly in Detroit, Cleveland, Toledo, Norwood, and above all in Flint, operated as a single unit, as an army which responded to every critical situation and to every danger.

"Toledo, Norwood, and Detroit workers came to Flint in the first days of the strike and greatly strengthened the fighting lines."

The underground movement of communist agitators as they bore from within the unions and in factory and shop units is often stressed by police investigators. Lieut. Make Mills, head of the industrial section of the Chicago police department, declares professional agitators go from spot to spot, stirring up trouble, but generally staying in the background.

Trained as Agitators.

The old type of I. W. W. agitator, it appears, is hitch-hiking on the C. I. O., because at present it is moving at the highest speed. In communist training schools young men are being trained as agitators and landing jobs as organizers, police report.

At Anderson, Ind., where the National Guard occupied Madison county in February during the strike at the Guide Lamp division of General Motors, Mayor Harry R. Baldwin assailed labor agitators who had come into Anderson. Chief of these was Victor Reuther, a C. I. O. organizer from outside, one of three brothers of radical tendencies who were active in the General Motors strike. Anderson police reported that of 19 men involved in one disturbance there, 14 were from outside.

At Alexandria near Anderson, on Feb. 13, a shock troop motorcade of 50 cars carrying more than 500 persons from Michigan was turned back to the Michigan border under Indiana state police escort.

At Hershey, Pa., where farmers and loyal workers of the Hershey Chocolate corporation three weeks ago drove 500 or more sitdown strikers from the factory in a hand to hand fight, shock troops came to the aid of the strikers. From a C. I. O. rally at nearby Palmyra, iron workers and men from other industrial towns went to Hershey to strengthen the picket lines.

The Hershey employés on April 23 rejected the United Chocolate Workers, a C. I. O. affiliate, as their agency for collective bargaining, by a vote of 1,542 to 781.

A similar massing of storm troops from outside was a phase of the strike at the American Gas Machine company plant at Albert Lea, Minn., which caused riot and disorder April 2. Here, however, the strikers were not affiliated with either the C. I. O. or the American Federation of Labor.

At Albert Lea, Gov. Elmer A. Benson of the Farmer-Labor party, who was supported by the Minnesota communist party in the election last November, stepped in to aid the radicals after outsiders said to have come from Austin, Minn., and South St. Paul and other cities joined the strikers, captured and damaged the gas machine plant, then stormed the jail to free 50 imprisoned comrades.

Releases Strikers.

Gov. Benson intervened, ordered the prisoners freed and censured the sherif who had arrested the strikers.

Tactics of mass strike activities are dwelt upon by W. Z. Foster, No. 1 American communist, in his recent book on the steel strike. One step in his program of increasing mass strike activity is the sending of "flying squads of workers from one area of industry to another."

BEG YOUR PARDON

Frank Darling, who was questioned in the investigation of the murder of Oscar Klingen, was mentioned as an employé of the Maytag Washing Machine company. Capt. Charles Pawlawski said Darling is employed by a household appliance company on Milwaukee avenue which sells various kinds of washing machines.

SERVING ALL CHICAGO

98 per cent of the Entire Population Reside Within Three Blocks of one or more Surface Lines Routes

Of the three transportation systems in Chicago, the Chicago Surface Lines alone provides comprehensive, city-wide service.

It brings more people into the Loop every day than either of the other systems. But its Loop business is only 15 per cent of the total number of passengers it carries.

The overwhelming majority of the 2,000,000 passengers carried daily go from one place to another in outlying sections. They use the Surface Lines because it takes them everywhere inside the city limits.

More than 75 important business centers, many of them equal in population to large cities, have grown up about Surface Lines intersections throughout Chicago.

Street cars, trolley buses and gasoline buses of the Surface Lines system serve the entire city on the basis of a 7-cent fare with free transfers.

The body of Harry W. Woodruff Jr., 28 years old, member of a prominent Joliet family, who disappeared from St. Louis on Dec. 29, was found yesterday on a lonely hillside three miles south of St. James, Mo. A hypodermic needle and a bottle which had contained poison were lying nearby, and police said Dr. Woodruff apparently committed suicide soon after he vanished.

Dr. H. W. Woodruff Jr.

This theory was supported by a farewell note found in the young physician's purse. It was addressed to his father, who with another son, George, conducts an eye, ear, nose, and throat clinic in Joliet, and read: "This event has been long contemplated and often postponed. I'm tired of fighting with myself. I myself, rather than external influences, preclude any possibility of a tolerable existence."

Police Puzzled by Insulin.

Another note, decipherable only in parts, was addressed to "Dear Fran," apparently intended for Miss Frances Groth, 22 years old, of Cass street, Joliet, with whom Dr. Woodruff had been keeping company.

Police were puzzled at the finding also of a bottle of insulin beside the doctor's body. Insulin is used in treating diabetes and Dr. Woodruff had taken a tube of it when he left the St. Louis City hospital where he was resident eye specialist.

Seen in Region Before Death.

At that time he told a nurse: "That's enough to last for a year."

The finding of Dr. Woodruff's body at St. James, which is 100 miles southwest of St. Louis, confirmed the belief that he was seen in Memphis and Poplar Bluff, which are in that region, after his disappearance.

Dr. Woodruff Sr., in Joliet, identified his son's body from a description of the clothing given to him over the telephone. He left last night for St. James. The Woodruff family home is at 1201 Western avenue, Joliet. Dr. Woodruff Sr. and his son, George, said they knew of no reason for the suicide.

CHICAGO PARK LEVY CONFERENCE HEARING RECESSES TO TUESDAY

Springfield, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—After a brief session from which spectators and newspaper men were barred, the conference committee of the assembly, considering the Chicago park district ˛eg levy bill, recessed tonight until next Tuesday evening.

Reporters were told that the recess was taken at the suggestion of Senator Harold G. Ward, the chairman, who advanced the opinion that nothing could be accomplished during the next week toward compromising the $1,400,000 reduction voted by the house after the senate had voted to grant the $9,000,000 requested by the park board.

As the seven house members rushed out of the committee room, their chairman, Benjamin S. Adamowski, handed reporters a statement which he said had been signed by all seven.

Its basis was the contention of Representative E. J. McCabe, one of the two Chicagoans in the house group, that the $9,000,000 levy proposal includes an illegally large amount for "loss and cost of collection." President Robert J. Dunham of the park board has declared there is no such item included, a statement verified by Douglas Sutherland, secretary of the Chicago Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency.

PARK BOARD O. K.S DUNHAM'S PLAN FOR COSTS STUDY

The Chicago park board yesterday approved the recommendation of Robert J. Dunham, president, for an investigation by a citizen's committee of the board's expenditures. The board also approved Mr. Dunham's nominations for the committee: John C. Fitzpatrick, John O. Rees, Douglas Sutherland, Col. A. A. Sprague, Shelby M. Singleton, Mrs. W. H. Hermsdorf, Thomas E. Wilson, Max Murdock, and Herbert Bebb. Mr. Dunham asked the investigation because of the proposed $1,400,000 reduction in the park board's $9,000,000 pegged tax levy, now pending in the legislature.

BackTaxes Pile Up; Deputy Receiver Faces Removal

Judge Harry M. Fisher indicated yesterday he would remove Edward O. Tudor, 10 South La Salle street, a real estate man, as deputy receiver for the county treasurer under the Skarda act of a twenty-four apartment building at 4624 Monticello avenue. Under a former agent $515 was paid on back taxes in six months, while Tudor applied only $437 for taxes out of a total income of $11,400 in eighteen months. Delinquent taxes have increased from $9,000 to more than $15,000.

MAKE FIRST MOVIE ON SYPHILIS CARE IN CHICAGO STUDIO

Blends Hollywood and Medical School Work.

Amid surroundings that are a strange blend of Hollywood and a great medical school, the American Medical association and the United States Public Health service are completing the first clinic in films, a complete, technical exposition of the latest methods of diagnosing and treating syphilis in all its phases.

This unique feature-length picture, which will cost upward of $30,000 despite the fact that no salaries are being paid to its all-star cast, is being produced in the Burton Holmes studios, 459 East Ontario street.

There Dr. John Stokes, famed syphilologist of the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, was at work yesterday over a patient before batteries of cameras and Klieg lights, his face made up like that of any screen celebrity and his demonstration of diagnostic methods of interrupted from time to time by C. Van Arsdale of New York, the professional director of the motion picture.

He was the eighth of nine specialists to appear before the cameras.

Herbert C. Hoagland, studio director, said the finishing touches will be started next week and that the film will be ready for its first showing at the convention of the A. M. A. in Atlantic City on June 7.

After that it is to be shown before county medical societies, hospital groups, and medical students in the hope that it will enable every doctor in the country to approach syphilis with the latest clincial practices at his command.

'FARMER' PLANT SUED BY SECOND WIFE FOR DIVORCE

New London, Conn., April 27.—[Special.]—Philip M. Plant, the millionaire Broadway playboy who took his second wife to a fancy chicken farm three years ago and announced that he had reformed, was served today with divorce papers charging him with adultery and habitual intemperance.

It was understood that a $500,000 attachment order accompanied the divorce papers. Mrs. Plant is the former Mrs. Edna Dunham of Boston. Mr. Plant's first wife was Constance Bennett, the cinema actress who divorced him to marry the Marquis de la Falaise de la Coudraye.

Brother...
You're in a TOUGH SPOT

WHEN you get behind the wheel of a car these days, man, oh man what chances you are taking! Not only your own life, but the lives of your fellow human beings are every living minute in your hands. One slip : : : the law tags you : : : you're it! As a master knows his violin, you have got to know that automobile of yours : : : exactly what size hole it will go through : : : exactly, to the inch, how far it takes to stop : : : exactly what it will and will not do in any emergency. Meanwhile, keeping your eye peeled for any fool or drunk who may, any instant, go completely haywire.

It takes years to become a locomotive engineer : . . months before you can get an air pilot's or sea skipper's license; yet anybody can step into a car and joust fenders on a half hour's notice.

In this mad battle of cylinders, what possible protection have you? Just two things: Your skill and good driving judgment and : : : plenty of the right kind of automobile insurance!

* * *

What kind have you got? We recommend an ALLSTATE insurance policy. Because the ALLSTATE Insurance Company was organized by SEARS, ROEBUCK AND CO. and is run in the "Sears" way : : : naturally ALLSTATE insurance costs much less . . . UP TO 30% LESS!

ALLSTATE has earned the reputation of being "one of the fastest claim-settling companies in the business."

ALLSTATE lets you buy automobile insurance on an easy-to-pay basis . . . 40% down, 30% in three months, 30% in six months. Who else will do that for you? ALLSTATE gives prompt claim adjustment service anywhere in the U. S. or Canada, takes all the worry and bother off your hands and sees you through on any damage or liability suit, paying any final judgment up to the full amount of your policy.

Before you drive that new car one inch, or if you already have insurance (it's bound to expire sometime), find out about ALLSTATE, your own home-town, Chicago company that settles promptly, charges less and is all 'round more satisfactory.

5 REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE WITH ALLSTATE

1. ALLSTATE (organized by Sears-Roebuck) gives you the finest protection money can buy... and SAVES YOU UP TO 30%.
2. ALLSTATE gives you six months to pay.
3. ALLSTATE gives quick, courteous, Nation-Wide Service . . . an ALLSTATE Policy protects you anywhere within the continental limits of the U. S. and Canada.
4. ALLSTATE gives the new car buyer automatic protection under his old policy for a reasonable time, till protection can be transferred to his new car...
5. You KNOW you are dealing with a fine, sound company of highest financial standing, when you are dealing with ALLSTATE.

* * *

Even if you never buy a nickel's worth of Insurance from ALLSTATE, get this remarkable book anyhow. It is without a doubt the clearest, easiest-to-understand statement ever written of just how to protect yourself against risk and against "ambulance chasers," fake accidents, cooked-up testimony, the damage racket in all its phases. We guarantee this book will do much to protect the innocent against the unscrupulous. Get this never-to-be-forgotten book NOW! THE ATMOSPHERE OF DECISION.

In discussing the court packing proposal before the senate judiciary committee Dean Lee of the John Marshall Law school called attention to an aspect of the controversy which deserves the consideration of the American public at this time. He declared that the proposal to pack the court in the interest of the President's plans of social and economic transformation is a "gross impropriety" which would amount to contempt in any court of law or equity. "The Supreme court has more than once set aside a verdict or a judgment," Dean Lee reminded his hearers, "when the evidence showed that they were rendered in an atmosphere of agitation and terror prejudicial to a calm consideration of the rights of the defendant." The Supreme court, Dean Lee suggests, would have been justified in the judgment of all law respecting citizens in refusing to pass upon any case involving a constitutional question in which the administration and congress were politically interested until public agitation and hostile criticism of the court had abated.

The dean's remarks are timely, at any rate, in emphasizing an aspect of the controversy which sensible citizens ought not to ignore, whatever they may think of the issues involved in the President's proposal. The proposal to overwhelm the court was made when important issues of law were pending before that tribunal and important rights or claims of right of the suitors were at stake. The proposal, moreover, was supported not only by a drastic criticism of the court membership by the President himself but by savage public attacks by leading members of the President's official family. It may be conceded that any proposed legislation may and should evoke public discussion, and the more important the issues involved the more violent opinion is likely to be. But it is certainly not conducive to the public welfare that important court decisions involving not only public policies but the private rights of suitors should be submitted to the pressure of inflamed public controversy and violent official attack. The choice of the moment for the executive proposal savors strongly of terrorism.

This consideration no doubt will be given little weight by the ardent adherents of the New Deal, but it underlines strongly a propensity general among them to assume that any of their proposals is both urgent and indubitable. There has never in our national history been a political régime so contemptuous as are the New Dealers of the warnings of the very level headed men who framed the American philosophy of government. Hasty judgment has no terrors for the New Dealer nor doubts of the possibility of mistake. "In the bowels of Christ," Oliver Cromwell once wrote to self-confident zealots who were endangering the precarious peace for which he was laboring, "think sometimes that you may be mistaken." It is the mark of a wise man that he is capable of self-distrust and there was nothing that so clearly shows the farsighted and deep seeing wisdom of the statesmen who framed the American system of government as their efforts to insure that the determination of all questions of great moment should have the benefit of calm reflection. If that is an unattainable ideal it is and always will be one which a wise people will pursue.

VEHICLE LENGTHS AND INJUNCTIONS.

Control of vehicle dimensions is an important requisite of highway policing. After a thorough investigation the Illinois highway department reached the decision that 35 feet should be the maximum length—even that is too long—and a law was passed. Then two auto forwarding companies, which use the so-called truckaway method, found that their machines occupied 40 feet of roadway—the length of the average railway box car. A court was discovered willing to issue an injunction against the enforcement of the 35 foot ordinance until such time as the automobile forwarding companies could have the law changed—or at least attempt to do so. For a period of eight months the state highway patrolmen have had their hands tied not only with respect to these automobile carriers but to all trucks and trailers, because there can be no discrimination. Now Attorney General Kerner, in moving to dissolve the injunction, meets with severe opposition.

There is a peculiar psychology involved. Automobiles are generally sold to the public at a price that is said to be "f. o. b. point of manufacture." Various amounts are added, one of which is supposed to represent the railway freight charges from the factory to the point of delivery. The word "railway" must be emphasized because these truckaway and caravan methods of transport obviously cost less than the charge collected from the consignee. When John Q. Public, in an effort to increase the availability of his highway, attempts to restrict vehicle lengths, he runs against the opposition of certain interests which, in a manner, are fleecing him.

Increased automobile sales depend very largely on the continuance of the family automobile as a recreational medium. Pleasure driving has received some sledge hammer blows in recent years because of the congested and dangerous condition of the highways. These long truckaways that cannot be passed except at a very definite risk are a contributing factor despite their obvious interest in promoting public good will. The injunction never should have been issued.

ANOTHER ENGLISH ALIBI.

Remarks of the author of Coronation Commentary on the rôle played by Americans in the abdication of King Edward VIII. broaden somewhat beyond the boundaries of that sorry chapter in the proud history of English monarchy. Readers on this side of the Atlantic will be astonished to learn that "an un-English set of noceurs had cornered the king," "that some of the most contemptible people alive and that their native country," magnanimous notation, "had spewed forth, were closest around our king." But there was more, it seems, than that, bad as it was. This situation, we are given to understand, was not a sudden precipitation of obnoxious Americans. It was part of an invasion. "The invaders, of course, were not beloved. They were as a rule no credit to the great country they had exploited and deserted nor to the one in which they now were roystering and ruling. Enormous fortunes, doubtfully acquired, had for a generation been heightening the pace and lowering the tone of English society. Their money could apparently buy everything—old houses, old names—there were "old" families in the peerage three-quarters rich American and new families four-quarters, old decencies, the greatest of our newspapers, the chief places in society and the public eye. Their accent was beginning to be an asset, even to the English themselves, in truly smart circles; it was beginning—you listened in, that night?—to be heard in the voice of the young tribal god himself. [As a matter of fact, the accent was distinctly cockney.] They were cock-a-hoop and since Edward's accession getting insolent and out of hand. There was but one more world to conquer. The first woman to sit in the ancient commons was a divorced American; why not then also—?"

These are pungent references, perhaps libelous innuendoes for others than the duke of Windsor. Do they interest the duke of Marlborough, the house of Churchill, the duke of Manchester, the house of Chamberlain, to say nothing of the owner of the greatest English newspaper and the first woman to enter the ancient commons? But certainly the ardent members of the English Speaking union will be expressing indignation in their various accents.

Mr. Dennis will be amazed at this, no doubt, for he has made an obvious effort to be fair and even conciliating. He tells us that "on balance, there has been more unjustified abuse of America by England than of England by America," but what we have from him, in spite of his condescending, is a characteristic English passing of the buck, if we may use an Americanism. Now that he has gratified that propensity, will he not be interested to inquire why English society has been so susceptible to the deplorable influence of Americans, spewed out of their native land, to their dubious dollars and their deplorable manners? The trouble with Mr. Dennis' diagnosis can be pointed out without difficulty. The American undesirable leaves his native country because he finds what he wants abroad. Even in New York he hasn't been tolerated as he is in London, and social history follows his malodorous trail from there to Paris, to Rome, and it may be finally to Venice. The French have long tried to explain their vicious resorts on the ground that they are only for Americans. No more brazen fraud could be conceived. Americans find them when they reach Paris. They are made in France and express certain French conditions. In London Americans of debased inclinations do not create the conditions Mr. Dennis excoriates. They find them in London. They are made in England. Vice seeking Americans, if they could enjoy them at home, would not go to London or Paris or Rome for what they could get in America.

Mr. Dennis, if he were not looking for a scapegoat for English misfortunes, would avoid so obvious a fallacy.

Why are obnoxious Americans so powerful and so popular in England; why are they "roystering and ruling" in England? Why are they expatriates? The answer is not in America. The answer is not "Americanism." Mr. Dennis will find it at home. He has thought to draw an indictment. It is a confession.

The Other Side

IN RACKETERIA.
[Memphis Commercial Appeal.]

A glance at the vote on the Gavagan anti-lynching bill discloses that it was supported by practically all the representatives in congress hailing from those congressional districts in which mobster rule has most completely superseded constitutional state government, and the monopoly of the gangster racket has displaced economic equality.

The constitutional basis of the bill is the first section of the fourteenth amendment in which occur these words: "Nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law; nor deny to any persons within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

Just try to operate a handbook, a saloon or a night club in Chicago or New York under that "equal protection of the laws" gag and see how long you remain open. In many parts of those cities, and in many other cities, the operation of a laundry, a cleaning establishment, a fish market, a restaurant, a labor union, and countless other legitimate enterprises cannot be carried on under "equal protection of the laws," and many more men have been deprived of "life, liberty, or property" than have ever been lynched. There are quite a number of those urban belts in which the actual law is Sicilian lynch law, not American law.

If we are going in for the enforcement of the fourteenth amendment by federal penalties laid upon local communities and upon lax local officials, the place to begin is where the maximum violations of that amendment take place. It is conceivable that such federal intervention might even make those parts of America habitable for Americans. At present the American of colonial stock or the earlier migrations is a sociological curiosity in such areas, and for an American to try to do a local business there—why, it just isn't done, you know.

HERE, FIDO!

"I was bitten by a dog the other day," said the visitor as he eyed the yapping terrier with obvious distrust. He held out his hand and showed an ugly mark.

"Did you have it cauterized?" the housewife asked politely.

"No," he returned. "I just hit it on the head with a spade."—Montreal Star.

ANNEX TO THE BEAUTY SHOP.

Spring has come to Prophetstown. The women all have strange gleams in eyes, towels on heads, mops in hands, furniture and rugs airing. You've guessed it; housecleaning time! The men have all hied to the river, fishpoles in hand, except a few of the henpecked who are forced to participate in the great festival. . . . Today is election day and our mayor is running for his tenth term. A total of three voted this morning. It's really too much trouble. . . . I must tell you about one of our local beauticians and the telephone operator. The l. b. was cut off from her phone because the floor was being varnished, so she went next door, rang central and told her predicament. Of course it was no news to the operator, but it made good conversation. Then the beauty producer gave a schedule of her free time in case anybody could take the towel off long enough for a marcel. And, of course, the operator filled up her appointment book for her. You can't beat our town. B. R. J.

THESE PATHS.

I love these pathways where your feet have trod;
Their very stones seem friendly in the dusk;
There is a fragrance in their fringing sod
Subtle as rose and delicate as musk;
The summer song birds love to linger here,
Haunting the hedges with their melody,
As if they almost knew that you were near
And glorified in your care-free company.

I love these paths, but there is something sad
That whispers to my spirit as I pass,
Something that tells me of a lonesome lad
Who once had roamed here with a lightsome lass—
And as I peer back through the changing years
My eyes are clouded in a mist of tears.

MORE NOTES OF THE '80S.

When we traveled we slept in our seats in the day coaches. There was a prevalent notion that only senators and such should take Pullman berths. The street cars were not yet horseless and the bicycles were of the tall, break-your-neck type. There were no Sunday newspapers in small cities. Instead of movies we had dime museum horrors to amuse us, and we played progressive euchre instead of bridge. All the laundries were operated by Chinese. . . . You could get a swell meal at a hotel for a half and a first class feed in a restaurant for a quarter. Eggs were 10 cents a dozen, butter 25 cents a pound, porterhouse steak the same, bacon 20 cents, and milk poured from a can 5 cents a quart. . . . The maid was always called the hired girl and excepting in the swankiest homes ate with the family. Not infrequently she married the heir apparent. . . . Patti and Bernhardt were annually giving their farewell tours, but the youth of the land now knows them and the farewell tour joke no more than it knows the bustle. The '80s are as far away as the pyramids, as extinct as the dodo—fallen into the limbo of forgotten things. J. B. R.

SPRING HIKES AND POISON IVY.

IRRITATION of the skin because of contact with some poison is a well known phenomenon and many individuals are susceptible in varying degrees. We find ourselves daily in the vicinity of substances by which the skin is not at all affected. But in some not only will reddish blotches occur but there may be a systemic response such as asthma or hay fever.

The commonest sources are poison ivy and poison oak and, with the coming of spring, cross-country hikers must be on the lookout for skin trouble due to certain blistering oils which are secreted by these plants. Some are bothered by the oil of ragweed, while others will develop an eruption on contact with many rosins or gums.

Varnishes are also offenders and difficulty from dressed lether, lacquered surfaces, certain dyes in clothing, hair dyes, or even printer's ink are not unknown. Cosmetics may be responsible—not always a new one, perhaps an old friend, but one which suddenly proves annoying because of some change within the body rendering it more sensitive. Hair tonics, shampoos, rinses, astringents, bleaches, rouges, powders, and lipsticks are all blamed from time to time.

The case is reported of a 16 year old girl who presented a crusty eruption on the face resembling impetigo. Skin reactions were negative to everything except the adhesive tape used in making the tests. Of the ingredients utilized in the manufacture of the plaster the patient reacted only to rosin.

It was then recalled that rosin had been sprinkled on the dancing floor when she was taking lessons. She remembered also that she frequently sat on the floor to change her shoes, using the bare hands to wipe perspiration away from the face. Isolating the patient from anything containing rosin resulted in complete healing, although a return of the difficulty followed another visit to the school.

An old fashioned remedy for poison oak or poison ivy was practiced by our forefathers with some success. It consisted in boiling the leaves and twigs of the young plants and administering by mouth the tea thus prepared. Today the same principle is adopted in making an alcoholic extract, giving it in gradually mounting doses for a few weeks until a high degree of tolerance is established.

For local treatment we must recall that the oils are soluble in soap suds, various alkalis, and alcohol. Thoroughly cleansing the skin with any one of these materials will render the surface poison-free. The applications should be made wide of the affected area so that the thin film of toxin is removed completely.

In the presence of severe inflammation cold compresses wrung out of strong magnesium sulphate are comforting and curative. Congestion is decreased and the pain and itching become less intense. A water solution of iron chloride is of value in mild cases. In addition, the affected parts may be bathed with a lotion of acetate of lead and this will sometimes precipitate the oil, particularly if the remedy can be applied quickly. The mixture is of little help if more than four or five hours have elapsed since the onset of the skin lesions.

Greasy preparations are not advised because the toxin is soluble in fat and is thus spread through their use. After the acute phase of the disease has passed, however, and the skin becomes dry, ointments may then be employed.

Of course, the chief thing is to avoid touching these noxious leaves and one should learn to recognize poison ivy and poison oak. If contact appears to be inevitable, immunization may be desirable. Because the clothing [even a pair of gloves] will harbor the poison, the garments worn at the time of exposure should be dry cleaned. The naphtha or gasoline used in this process will dissipate the offending elements.

EAR DISCHARGE.

Miss L. G. writes: Two years ago I had a radical operation performed because of a mastoid infection. Since then the middle ear has been draining and, though I have treatments each week, there seems to be no letup in the discharge, which has a very foul odor. Do you think it possible for the ear to be cleared up without another operation? If it is neglected, is there any chance that the pus will go to the brain?

REPLY.

The condition described should be treated expertly, as tissue destruction is proceeding. This is evident as long as pus is produced. Most cases of this sort will yield to a program of resistance building—plus careful local irrigations. Some few will require surgical drainage.

LET THE WORLD KNOW.

W. H. J. writes: I don't know why medical men keep reiterating that the cause of cancer is still unknown, for it is known. But, with the present methods of attempting to combat it, you are as near to a solution of its proper treatment—to say nothing of cure—as the planet Pluto is to our erth.

REPLY.

If you know the cause of cancer, why not disclose it? Hundreds of so-called "cures" are announced each year. In some they raise false hopes, for under tests they prove fallacious. Out with it! in the name of hundreds of thousands of victims the world over.

TOO STRENUOUS.

L. L. L. writes:

1. Are eleven rounds of gymnasium boxing daily too strenuous for one who is convalescing from a recent breakdown?

2. Could indulgence in hamburger and onions at a late hour of the evening be responsible for nightmares?

REPLY.

1. Yes, indeed! if you refer to a physical "breakdown." If the trouble was of nervous origin, exercise to the point of fatigue may be indicated.

2. Yes—a sizable herd of them.

IT IS NATURAL.

Mrs. S. writes:

1. What is the significance of a closed fontanel in a baby boy 11 months old?

2. Are beaded ribs in an infant a serious deformity?

REPLY.

1. The fontanel closed by the eleventh month is a natural condition.

2. This is a symptom of rickets. The child should be placed under the care of a competent physician and should receive extra quantities of vitamin D.

HERE'S ONE THAT'S STILL HANGING ON!

From the Tribune's Columns
20 Years Ago Today

APRIL 28, 1917.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE.—In two hours of spectacular fighting shortly before dark British aviators felled fifteen German planes, several being seen to crash and many driven down out of control. The Britishers also downed an observation balloon and after dark sallied forth on a bombing expedition in which they upset three German trains bringing troops toward the front.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The house of representatives refused to authorize Col. Theodore Roosevelt to raise an American volunteer division for service in Europe. The senate probably will take similar action.

NEW YORK.—Declaring he wants to see an American division on the firing line in France within a few weeks, Col. Theodore Roosevelt said his proposal was not to oppose but to supplement universal obligatory military service by "providing for the immediate use of some of the men who would be exempt under the administration's bill."

CHICAGO.—Chicago is ready with her rousing patriotic welcome for Col. Theodore Roosevelt. He will deliver a thundering message tonight at the stockyards amphitheater—a hit the line hard appeal to the patriotism of the nation—after being attended by military and civic units in parades through the loop and at the big night gathering.

WASHINGTON.—Reports that the German submarine blockade is becoming more and more efficient were given serious attention at a cabinet meeting. Most of the discussion was directed toward supplying quickly as many ships as possible to carry supplies to the entente. It was indicated the submarine raids have been so successful the United States must marshal its resources immediately to offset the destruction of food cargoes in the war zone.

CHICAGO.—Samuel Insull will be delegated by Gov. Lowden to represent Illinois at the national defense conference in Washington. It was also understood the governor will name Mr. Insull head of the Illinois defense commission as soon as the legislature passes the pending bill.

CHICAGO.—Simultaneously with an announcement that a strike of more than 500 Jewish bakers had gone into effect it was learned the government may intervene and operate a number of the city's largest bakeries if they are forced to close as the result of a general strike of bakers and bakery wagon drivers which may start on Monday.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence, follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

TO ENFORCE LIEN.

Chicago, April 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—About a year ago I rented my car to a man who has plenty of money. He put the car in a loop garage and ran up a bill of $157 for gas and storage. This garage got a judgment against this man for $150, but they can't get it as he has everything in his wife's name. I hold a clear title to this car. Is there any way under the law to get this car or can this garage sell it without the title? G. H. H.

It was held in Ehrlich vs. Chappele, 311 Ill. 467, that an artisan to enforce his lien must satisfy an outstanding chattel mortgage. There have also been a line of cases holding that the rights of the assignee of a conditional vendor were superior to those of the garage keeper who made repairs. See Motor Acceptance, Inc., vs. Newton, 262 Ill. App. 335. We have seen no cases squarely on the point of charges incurred by a person temporarily intrusted with the car. The case might turn on surrounding circumstances going to indicate that you were to blame or not to blame for the development.

OBSTRUCTING THE STREET CARS.

Chicago, April 23.—Your editorial, "The New Street Car," in your issue of April 20, was good, especially that part with reference to the 'semi-barbarious attitude of the driver who parks his machine in trafic lanes and at an angle" along street car routes. This practice is growing worse each day and there are also numerous instances where a street car load of people is delayed because some "semi-conscious" driver parked his machine in such a position that the street car cannot pass.

The congestions of trafic along these streets would be much worse were it not for the street car with its mass-load and this should be impressed on the minds of the drivers of trucks and individual machines. The street car is really an asset to the movement of his truck or machine along the streets.

I have timed the movement of the Madison street car on numerous occasions from Austin boulevard to Dearborn street and have found that between the hours of 5 p. m. and 6 p. m. this run is made in 32 minutes; between the hours of 9 p. m. and 10 p. m. the run is made in 32 minutes; between the hours of 10 p. m. and midnight the run is made in 29 minutes.

THE OXFORD OATH INTERPRETED.

Evanston, Ill., April 24.—In fairness to those students who took the Oxford oath on April 22, I urge that you correct your erroneous statement of the oath. It does not pledge "abstinence from bearing arms in all wars, even in defense," as was published in THE TRIBUNE, but states: "I pledge not to support the government in any war it may undertake." The meaning here is clear: It refers to wars voluntarily begun by the government [which, incidentally, are contrary to the Kellogg-Briand treaty signed by the government]. It does not in any way refer to unprovoked invasions of territorial United States.

Many students who have taken the Oxford oath are as willing to defend the actual territory of this country as is the war department, but they are determined not to aid in repeating the stupid and disastrous mistake of just twenty years ago. JOHN OHLSON.

NAZIISM VS. FASCISM.

Evanston, Ill., April 23.—This letter is in direct opposition to some of your beliefs, but I feel that you are fair and open minded to all sides of all questions.

I wish to clarify the belief in many minds that Naziism is the same thing as Fascism. Naziism is racial; Fascism is not. Naziism is anti-religious; Fascism is not. Naziism believes that the state should run the industries of the state; Fascism believes that the state should only guide and direct the industries so that they will not use practices injurious to the public. Surely with these differences before you, you cannot fairly say that Naziism and Fascism are the same thing. WILLIAM BECKER JR.

THE JEFFERSON MEMORIAL.

Chicago, April 24.—One might as well cry out in the wilderness as expect to be heard in Washington, via congressmen or otherwise. As one citizen to another, however, I am getting sick of the high and mighty ways of Roosevelt and his underthumbs in Washington. It seems to me they are trying to do over the whole nation and do us at the same time. The latest atrocity, and one that aptly illustrates a general situation, is the plan to chop down the live cherry trees around the tidal basin in Washington and substitute a dead mausoleum to the memory of Jefferson. Of what use to Jefferson, long dead, or any one else, a mausoleum, depressing at best?

Washington is rapidly becoming a stone city, with block after block covered with huge buildings, at the taxpayers' expense. Their insensate desire for building still not satisfied, the Washington dimwits devise a scheme to destroy the most beautiful thing in the city and erect more buildings to house nothing but a memory. Is there no end to the depredations of the Frankenstein government at Washington?

GERRY BRUCE.

GULLIBILITY.

Chicago, April 23.—The reasons for a revolutionary change in the Supreme court are as unsound as the arguments of the agitators who say a canal from the St. Lawrence through New York to the Hudson river would reduce the time of grain export shipments from Lake Superior points to Europe, at a saving of 8 to 12 cents a bushel.

The last big grain exports were made in 1932. The freight per bushel to Europe via Montreal and existing water routes was 12 cents; via New York barge canal and New York City, 12.6 cents. So much for that.

Take your map and draw triangles taking in Buffalo, Montreal, and Albany, and Montreal, New York City, and Southampton.

If you can believe the agitators after that, it would be useless for you to go back to grade school to finish your course. You never could cease being gullible. HENRY F. GILG.

Kansas City, Mo., April 23.—Some years ago, when I was a student at Roanoke college, Virginia, a student from Louisiana, in the history class, referred to the "war between the states." The professor, a native of North Carolina who had lived through the civil war, insisted that the student should call it the "war of the rebellion." The student replied that his father would never permit him to call it by any other name than a "war between the states." Dr. Fox said: "Mr. Gates, any unsuccessful uprising against government is a rebellion, with all respect to your father's views. H. E. ZIMMERMAN.

LOOK OUT, ANNIE.

Chicago, April 21.—Please warn Orphan Annie never again to venture on that river in a rowboat, as one of the easiest tricks an alligator does is dump a boat's occupants overboard and devour them at ease. I have had many years' experience among these reptiles and consider the alligator the shrewdest of them all,

SENATE LETS UP ON HOUSE; FREES SALES TAX BILLS

Horner Forces Lose Tilt Over School Funds.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—Senate combatants backed away a little in their war with the house today, releasing from executive committee six of the twenty-two house bills placed there last week as retaliation for the lower chamber's massacre of a senate measure.

Among those restored to the senate calendar were three bills extending the 3 cent sales tax to Feb. 15, 1939, which are supported by the Horner administration. They must be passed this week or the tax will revert to 2 cents.

Plan Passage Tomorrow.

It is the intention of senate leaders to pass the bills on Thursday, either at a session just after midnight or later in the day. They appear to have little opposition.

Another of today's incidents had a Horner-Chicago angle and the governor's supporters were defeated. This came when Robert M. Harper [D., Moline] attempted to obtain reconsideration of the vote by which two school appropriations were passed last week.

One of the bills would appropriate $2,733,231.57 to several downstate counties to make up the total of the state distributive school funds due them for 1931, 1932, and 1933.

$2,000,000 Extra for Education.

The other would appropriate $2,384,256 to the Chicago Board of Education to pay the excess costs of educating blind, crippled, and delinquent children.

The senate judiciary committee tonight recommended passage of the state bar association's criminal code. Public hearings on the recodification plan designed to speed up justice and to grade punishment in conformity with the character of the offender, will be held next week, Senator Harold G. Ward, committee chairman, said.

Floyd E. Thompson of Chicago, former justice of the State Supreme court and president of the bar association, spoke briefly tonight in favor of the code. It had met defeat in the legislature two years ago. Sponsors were more hopeful for success this session.

A Cudahy Divorced

Mrs. Mary Jacklyn Roth Cudahy, former actress, who won divorce in Los Angeles yesterday from Michael Cudahy.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 27.—[Special.]—Mrs. Jacklyn Roth Cudahy, a professional dancer, obtained a divorce here today from Michael "Jack" Cudahy, member of a meat packing family. She testified her husband barred her from their home when he entertained guests and that he once came home at 3 a. m. and insisted that she and some guests join in drinking with him. An out of court property settlement was said to provide that Mrs. Cudahy will receive $250 a month for her support. The couple were married in 1933.

City Employe Is Found Dazed in Country Ditch

A man found in a dazed condition in a ditch beside highway 23 near Genoa, De Kalb county, last night was identified from cards in his pocket as George Bieze, 30 years old, 3623 Castello avenue, a city health department dairy inspector and a Democratic precinct captain in the 33d precinct of the 34th ward. When taken to the Sycamore hospital he was unable to explain how he got into the ditch, although he recalled owning an automobile. No car was near where Bieze was found. His family was notified.

ROTARY DISPLAYS WIDE VARIETY OF BUSINESS ITEMS

4th Annual Show Opens; 25,000 to Attend.

Almost everything from kitchen and office appliances to models of the transport planes, ocean liners, and streamlined railroad engines went on display yesterday at the Hotel Sherman as the Chicago Rotary club opened its fourth annual business exposition.

The show is expected to attract more than 25,000 visitors before it closes at 10 p. m. Friday.

The variety of the 120 exhibits that are crowded into the grand ballroom, exhibition hall and mezzanine of the hotel results from the fact that because booth space was allotted only to Rotary club members and the club admits only a single representative of any given industry.

Action Displays Popular.

Action displays were the most popular yesterday. These included driver tests under the auspices of the Chicago Motor club; a fur fashion show every half hour; a scale on which visitors were weighed by means of a vacuum cleaner, and an exhibition of fine binding and lether tooling.

Other centers of attraction were a typewriter used by President Theodore Roosevelt on his African expedition, a display showing the history of electric illumination, a free ice cream bar, and a replica of the costume to be worn by a duchess at the coronation of George VI.

Two Scholarships Awarded.

The club yesterday awarded $200 scholarships to Miss Esther Levitsky, 18 years old, 1653 North Fairfield avenue, who will graduate in June from Tully High school, and William R. Throckmorton, 17, of 1611 Juneway terrace, a senior in Sullivan High school.

At a luncheon that preceded the show's opening, Charles A. Dostall, president of the club, had as his guest, Randall L. Jones, president of the Rotary club of Salt Lake City, Utah.

GETS YEAR ON FRAUD CHARGE.

Albert M. Hanson, alias John B. Hanley, 53 years old, 601 Jackson boulevard, was fined $10 and sentenced to a year in the Bridewell by Judge Frank M. Padden in Felony court yesterday on two charges of obtaining money by false pretenses.

BILL TO RETIRE JUDGES BEATEN IN WISCONSIN

Madison, Wis., April 27.—[Special.]—Gov. La Follette's judicial retirement plan was beaten in the house today when more than twenty Progressives failed to support it. It was lost by a vote of 55 noes to 35 yeas.

Last week an amendment was added to the bill for a referendum on it at the spring election of 1938. That was accomplished at a night session that lasted into the next day. At that time it became evident that the bill could not be passed then, so time was gained until today in the hope of getting enough votes.

Today's session, however, proved the failure of that plan. The vote was 57 to 32 against reconsidering the referendum amendment.

Some critics of the bill had objected to the provision to allow judges to retire on half pay, and an attempt was made today to cut that to one-quarter. That was beaten 75 to 13.

The governor's measure, smashed today, would have allowed Supreme court justices who had served ten or more years, and Circuit judges who had served fifteen or more years, to retire.

PALL MALL

THE MODERN BLEND

15 cents for 20 cigarettes

Since the end of the last century, the Turkish blend of Pall Mall has been famous as "A Shilling in London, A Quarter Here."

Now Pall Mall bids for the favour of the modern American smoker with The Modern Blend. At 15¢ for twenty, it follows faithfully the thorough English blending method of the Turkish Pall Mall and is the only cigarette of its type which scorns the use of artificial flavouring of any kind. The clean, pleasing taste of the new Pall Mall comes solely from carefully selected, more expensive domestic and Oriental tobaccos, blended more expertly. Its straight tobacco flavour leaves none of the after-taste of "sugar-coating."

PATTEN'S WIDOW LEAVES $595,515; TAXES TAKE HALF

Value Rises $350,000 Since Her Death.

The estate of Mrs. Amanda L. Patten, widow of James L. Patten, philanthropist and wheat king, now has gross assets of $595,515, but expenses and debts, including a total of $283,232 in taxes, will leave only $241,223 for her two children, the beneficiaries.

This was disclosed yesterday when the first current report of the estate's condition was approved by Judge John F. O'Connell of the Probate court. It also revealed a $350,000 rise in the value of the assets since Mrs. Patten died Jan. 26, 1935.

$15,000,000 Fund Distributed.

Her death terminated a $15,000,000 trust in which her husband had placed his estate for her benefit. The trust upon her death was distributed apart from her estate, half going to seven charities and the balance being shared by the Patten children, Mrs. Agnes Patten Wilder Parma and John Lowrie Patten.

The taxes on Mrs. Patten's estate include $118,831 for federal estate taxes, $128,184 for income tax for the years 1933 and 1934 while Mrs. Patten was living, and $36,217 for the state inheritance tax.

Billy Sunday Leaves $150,000.

Judge O'Connell also approved a final accounting yesterday of the estate of William A. [Billy] Sunday, picturesque evangelist of the sawdust trail, who died Nov. 6, 1935, at the age of 73. He was visiting then at the home of a brother-in-law, William J. Thompson, 1427 Morse avenue.

After claims of $20,666 were approved, the balance of the estate, consisting of $150,000 in United States government bonds, was left to the widow, Mrs. Helen [Ma] Sunday. Judge O'Connell approved payment of this sum to Mrs. Sunday. The claims included a $13,429 federal estate tax, and $4,204 Oregon state inheritance tax. Mr. Sunday's legal residence was in Oregon where he had a large farm. The securities were held in Chicago.

The evangelist's estate was estimated at $50,000 when his will was filed for probate on Dec. 3, 1935. At that time Mrs. Sunday explained that earlier her husband had created three trusts for herself and their two surviving children, Paul and William Jr.

FIGHT FOLLOWS AUTO STRIKE IN PLANT IN INDIANA

Connersville, Ind., April 27.—(AP)—Three men were injured here tonight in hand-to-hand fighting which followed the calling of a strike at the Rex Manufacturing company by the United Automobile Workers of America.

Several hundred plant workers, members of the Cabinet and Refrigerator Workers Protective association, refused to join the U. A. W. A. members in the strike and remained in the plant.

The fighting started when U. A. W. A. pickets, armed with clubs, gathered around the plant and prevented 500 night employés from going to work.

U. A. W. A. spokesmen said the strike had been called "because the company had discriminated against U. A. W. A. members and had declined to confer with a grievance committee."

Half of the company's 1,400 employés are members of the U. A. W. A. The others are members of the Cabinet and Refrigerator Workers association.

Company officials said they had requested aid from Gov. M. Clifford Townsend. They said the governor informed them he would send a representative to the scene.

JERRY J. HORAN, FLAT JANITORS' LEADER, IS DEAD

Jerry J. Horan, president of the Chicago Flat Janitors union and international president of the Building Service Employés union, died last night in the Passavant hospital, where he had been a patient since Friday. He was 50 years old.

Mr. Horan's home was at 3500 Lake Shore drive. He had headed the janitors' and service employés' unions for the last ten years. Labor leaders called his administration constructive and progressive, and cited the fact that less trouble had been reported in the janitors' union under his leadership than ever before.

FIGHTER DIES

(Story in adjoining column.)

THE FIGHTIN'EST MARINE DIES IN BED: DAN DALY, 64

Ill a Week of Heart Ailment.

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—Sergeant Dan Daly, the "fightinest man" of the marine corps, who fought for thirty years from the halls of Montezuma to the shores of Tripoli, died peacefully in bed today in his home, Glendale, Long Island.

He was 64 and succumbed to heart disease. He had been ill a week.

The fates wrote an ironic last chapter to the story of "Dan Daly, Devil Dog," who always wanted to die with his boots on. He was the most decorated man in America, holder of two congressional medals of honor, rough, tough, and two fisted.

Praise from Gen. Butler.

"He was the fightinest man I ever saw," Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler once said. Gen. Butler also has two medals of honor.

He retired from the service in 1929 and took a job guarding a bank in Wall street.

The Marine corps was good to Dan Daly—he thought. He got a wheelbarrow full of medals—eleven of them, three wounds, and the privilege of having officers, even the President, salute him first because he wore the Congressional medal.

"I've had a lot of fun," he said once. "Yep, a lot of fun. I've seen a lot of things and I've done a lot of things. I've taken my fun where I found it."

Affair with the Boxers.

There was that day in Peking in 1899. The Boxer rebellion was aflame. Chinese were slaughtering foreigners. There were many women and children in the American legation—and Dan Daly. He kept picking off the snipers and fought alone in the bastion against a horde of yellow men. For that he got a wound and his first congressional medal of honor.

And then in 1915 he surprised a detachment of Cacos in Haiti and chased away all he didn't kill.

For that he got his second medal of honor.

He retired from active duty with a limp from shrapnel shortly after the world war and got his full retirement papers in 1929.

RABBI GUSFIELD, RETIRED CHURCH HEAD, DIES AT 60

Rabbi Julian J. Gusfield, head of the Congregation B'nai Joshua at 20th street and Ashland avenue until a year ago, died last night in his apartment at the Hotel Windermere East after a long illness. He was 60 years old.

Since his retirement from the congregation Rabbi Gusfield had engaged in banking activities. He conducted services at the Jewish Old People's home for many years and was a past president of Ramah lodge, B'nai B'rith.

He is survived by his widow, Claudia; a brother, William Gusfield of Beaumont, Tex., and a sister, Mrs. E. M. Friend of Birmingham, Ala.

May H. Richards, Sister of Mrs. C. H. McCormick, Dies

Mrs. May Hoit Richards, sister of Mrs. Cyrus H. McCormick, died yesterday of a heart ailment at the home of Mrs. McCormick at 20 East Burton place. Mrs. Richards, widow of Harold W. Richards, was 66 years old. She lived at 73 East Elm street. Mrs. Richards was born in Chicago. During the world war she served on the women's board of the Navy league. Besides Mrs. McCormick she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. J. Russell Scott; two other sisters, Mrs. Edward N. Mackey of Boston and Mrs. Burdette W. Ford of Evanston, and a brother, Henry F. Hoit of Kansas City. Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. today at the Graceland cemetery chapel.

Mrs. Esther L. Sanger Funeral to Be Tomorrow

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow for Mrs. Esther L. Sanger, an associate in Sanger Tours, Inc., 307 North Michigan avenue, who died suddenly Monday in the Norwegian Lutheran Deaconness hospital following an operation. The services will be held in the chapel at 124 Madison street, Oak Park. Burial will be in Oakridge cemetery. Mrs. Sanger and her husband, Harry T., started Sanger Tours in 1909, and following his death in 1929 she continued the business. Surviving her is a son, Harold E., with whom she lived at 2007 South 11th avenue, Maywood.

Mrs. Harriett Greisser Dies; Born in England in 1837

Peoria, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—Mrs. Harriett Greisser, 99, died here today of pneumonia. She was born in Worcester, England, July 24, 1837. Her parents brought her to the United States at the age of 7.

Vincent Bryan, Former Song Maker, Movie Official, Dies

Hollywood, Cal., April 27.—(AP)—Vincent Bryan, 54, author of many song hits of the last three decades, was found dead today in his hotel room. At one time his income was reputed to be $50,000 yearly. He had served as co-director with Charlie Chaplin and Harold Lloyd.

SALESMAN DIES IN HOTEL.

Arnold Danzinger, 55 years old, a salesman, was found dead of heart disease yesterday in his room in a hotel at 4641 Sheridan road.

MRS. IVAH W. COBURN, KNOWN FOR COLLEGE DRAMA TOURS, IS DEAD

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ivah Wills Coburn, widely known actress who appeared in more than 300 rôles, mostly classic, died today in Lenox Hill hospital of intestinal influenza.

Mrs. Ivah W. Coburn.

Mrs. Coburn was the wife of Charles D. Coburn, and appeared with him in many productions both in New York and through the south and middle west. She was a native of Appleton, Mo.

She went to school at Chicago Musical college which was headed by Florenz Ziegfeld Sr, father of the famous showman. Her first stage appearance was with E. H. Sothern in "Hamlet" in 1900.

Later she traveled with Proctor's Stock company, as its leading lady. It was on one of the southern tours that she met Mr Coburn, whose home was in Savannah, Ga. In 1906 they were married in Baltimore.

The Coburns established a professional partnership, generally appearing together for many years, both in New York and on the road. They organized a company which presented a répertoire of sixteen Shakespearean plays, with occasional French and Greek classics, in more than 100 universities and colleges.

Among the productions in which Mrs. Coburn appeared were: "The Better 'Ole," "The Yellow Jacket," "The Farmer's Wife," "The Plutocrat," and "Lysistrata."

AMNESIA VICTIM QUIZZED IN HUNT FOR J. R. RAMSER

With data before him provided by the Chicago police, Sherif I. V. Pluitt in Bisbee, Ariz., last night was questioning an amnesia victim in an effort to learn if he is Joseph Retz Ramser, Chicago broker who has been missing since March 17.

Ramser, who was president of Banning & Co., investment brokers at 100 West Monroe street, was last seen by Miss Hazel Melchior, 1960 East 73d street, when they parted at the Illinois Central station at Randolph street after a dinner engagement.

Doubt was expressed by Ramser's mother and sister, who live at 180 East Delaware place, that the man in Bisbee is the missing broker. When first questioned the amnesia victim said he thought he was married and had a son named Harry. Ramser is a bachelor.

The sherif said the man told him he had an office in "a First National bank overlooking a large lake."

LYDIA L. WILSON, ZION RELIGIOUS PIONEER, DEAD

Mrs. Lydia L. Wilson, 71 years old, widow of the Rev. Alexander M. Wilson, died yesterday at her home, 2605 Elizabeth avenue, Zion. Col. Timothy Pickering, quartermaster general during the revolutionary war and later postmaster general, secretary of war, and secretary of state, was her great-great-grandfather.

Mrs. Wilson and her husband were among the first to join the late John Alexander Dowie when he established a religious colony in Zion at the beginning of the century. After his death she joined the Grace Missionary church, where she had been active for many years.

Surviving are three sons, Lorenzo, Alexander F., and Theodore; eleven grandchildren, and one great-grandchild. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the chapel at 2710 Sheridan road, Zion, with burial in Greenwood cemetery.

Midgets Who Starred for Years Share Same Tomb

Fort Wayne, Ind., April 27.—(AP)—Charles and Eliza Nestel, troupers together in life, were together in death tonight. The bodies of the two midgets lay side by side in a vault in Lindenwood cemetery. Eliza, 80, blind and for fifteen years almost deaf, died last Sunday a week after her brother. The two, as Commodore Foote and Queenie, fifty years ago played before Queen Victoria of England. They retired twenty-five years ago.

PHILIP S. ALLEN DIES AT 65; PROFESSOR OF LITERATURE AT U. OF C.

Prof. Philip Schuyler Allen, 65 years old, professor of German literature at the University of Chicago, died in his home at 5730 Drexel avenue yesterday after an illness of several months.

Prof. Philip S. Allen.

Prof. Allen was born in Lake Forest, the son of Ira W. Allen, who was a co-founder with Horace Mann of Antioch college and founder of Lake Forest Academy for Boys. The son studied in Europe after his graduation from Williams college in 1891.

He took postgraduate work at the University of Chicago and from 1893 to 1895 was the center of the football team under the direction of Coach Alonzo Stagg. He joined the university faculty in 1903. He married Miss Jessie Acker of Brooklyn in 1894. She died in 1934. One son and three daughters survive.

HANGS SELF IN BASEMENT.

Joseph Klinowicz, 61 years old, hanged himself with a section of clothesline yesterday in the basement of his home at 4837 South Seeley avenue. Relatives said he had been despondent because he could not find a job.

R. F. Friske, Ex-Evanston Bank Cashier, Found Dead

Rudolph F. Friske, 38 years old, former assistant cashier of the City National Bank and Trust company of Evanston, was found shot to death yesterday in the basement of his home in Kalamazoo, Mich. His widow said he had been despondent because of ill health, which forced him to resign in January as cashier of the American National bank in Kalamazoo. Mr. Friske was also treasurer of the Kalamazoo Chamber of Commerce.

GERMANY LIMITS DISHES IN CAFES TO SAVE ITS FOOD

Fish, Sausage and Cheese Urged for Diners.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 27.—German restaurants and hotels were informed today by the Guild of Restaurant Proprietors as to the exact restrictions under which Germany's four year plan for self-sufficiency must be enforced in the serving of meals. The limit of dishes on their menus was announced as follows:

Hors d'oeuvres, up to six cold and four warm; soups, up to four; fish, unrestricted—in accordance with the campaign to increase fish consumption and reduce meat consumption. There is no restriction on poultry or venison, according to season.

Ten Grilled Dishes Allowed.

Special daily dishes ready for service are restricted up to ten; grilled dishes including chops and steaks, and main meat dishes also up to ten; egg dishes, up to six; cold dishes, up to fifteen; variety of sausages, unrestricted, and sweets and cheese, as desired.

Vegetables and salads will be issued regularly as supplies are available.

Fish Menus Ordered.

Restaurants may not offer more than six luncheon or six dinner menus of which two must be fish. If only three menus are offered, then one must be fish.

The new order will be enforced from May 1 and café proprietors disobeying it will be punished severely. It was stated that many restaurants now offer up to 400 dishes "which only confuses the guest in choosing his meal."

MONK WHO HIT HITLER IN LETTER HELD AS TRAITOR

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, April 27.—Germany will be treated to another Catholic treason trial because a monk wrote anti-Hitler letters to friends in the United States.

The charges will be brought against Brother Donatus of the Franciscan monastery at Frauenburg, near Fulda. Donatus allegedly wrote to an American friend in a letter mailed Feb. 20:

"You ought to have Hitler and his gang in America. It would all be over with liberty, to be sure, and you would have to turn one of your forty-eight states into a penitentiary or concentration camp. But you would complain too much. Whoever complains here goes to a concentration camp."

Louis F. Swift, Former Packing Co. Head, Is Ill

Louis F. Swift, former president and chairman of the board of Swift & Co., is ill in the Chicago Memorial hospital, it was learned last night. Because of his age, 75, his condition was considered serious. Mr. Swift's home is at 170 South Green Bay road, Lake Forest, but for many years he has been passing a large part of the year in California. He served as president of the meat packing company from 1903 to 1931, and then served a year as chairman of the board.

GETS YEAR FOR STEALING LINEN.

Roy Grant, colored, 24 years old, 4352 Indiana avenue, an ex-convict, was sentenced by Judge Frank M. Padden in the Felony court yesterday to a year in the Bridewell for stealing linens from laundry trucks.

Senate Confirms Biddle as Ambassador to Poland

Washington, D. C., April 27.—(AP)—The senate today confirmed Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr. of Philadelphia a sambassador to Poland. Also confirmed were the nominations of Florence Jaffray Harriman of the District of Columbia as minister to Norway, and Robert Granville Caldwell of Texas as minister to Bolivia.

SQUATTER LOSES A WAREHOUSE AND THE INCOME

As a squatter in a five story furniture warehouse at 6051 Wentworth avenue, Louis Buettner was doing very well. He had a place to live, rent free, and he was getting an income from 400 persons he had persuaded to store their furniture with him.

But Judge Michael Feinberg spoiled things for him yesterday. L. M. Davidson, trustee for the property, came in to complain that the man who originally leased the warehouse, Henry Spangler, had disappeared, and Buettner, who had succeeded him, wasn't paying any rent.

Buettner explained that he had been Spangler's manager and had taken over the business when Spangler vanished last summer. Buettner said he had offered the trustee $50 a month, instead of the higher rental Spangler had paid, and that the trustee wouldn't accept it. Judge Feinberg ordered Buettner out of the warehouse and told him to help Davidson straighten up accounts.

$100,000 Love Case Against Younghusband Up Monday

Trial of the $100,000 breach of promise suit brought by Miss Alyce Strand, 28 years old, against her former employer, J. Leslie Younghusband, wealthy cosmetics manufacturer, was set for Monday in the court of Judge John J. Lupe by Judge Joseph B. David yesterday. Judge David's call of cases will be transferred to Judge Lupe beginning May 3. Younghusband's fourth wife, Mrs. Lillian Hawes Carter Younghusband, has a suit for divorce pending.

Convalescence of Child Should Be Happy One

It Will Be, if He Is Kept Interested, Occupied.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS
[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

You will, if you are an affectionate and understanding mother, be patient and tactful with your convalescent child. You will guard his strength and feed him often and carefully.

But even all that is not enough. In addition he needs to be kept interested and happily occupied. This is not only good for him mentally, it also is good for him physically. Restlessness, discontent, boredom do not contribute to his recovery. They also make it much harder for his mother who has, after all, her home to care for as well as her sick or convalescent child.

What are some of the ways in which you can keep your young convalescent happily occupied? Well, of course, much depends upon his age and what he may be allowed to do, such as using his eyes, walking around, or only sitting up in bed, etc. But grouping them all together:

There always are books, to read or look at.

There are the cutting out of pictures and the making of scrap books.

There are painting and drawing and "crayoning."

There is the following up by a child of his special interest, provided it isn't too strenuous a one. Small pets in a box, an aquarium, a bird in a cage, stamp or other collections are examples of what I mean. [And don't let me forget to mention the amazing amount of entertainment a child can get out of a big mail order catalog, especially if you are able to give him a little money with which to order something from the book.]

Then there are miniature windup trains, small animals, scales for weighing, tiny cars and trucks and figures, and small blocks. Small dolls and colorful scraps for making tiny clothes will please the little doll lover.

The older girl can crochet, embroider, and knit.

And both boys and girls of all ages can make innumerable interesting articles for presents, or just for fun.

Mrs. Bevans' column also appears in The Sunday Tribune.

Infant Welfare Benefit

Mrs. G. Hewett Williams is a member of the Edgewater Juniors of the Infant Welfare society, who are holding their annual rummage sale tomorrow and Friday at 2128 North Halsted street. Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Frederick J. Price represented the Juniors yesterday at the large luncheon given by the woman's auxiliary of the society at the Arts club for the presidents and press chairmen of the 30 centers of infant welfare.

The luncheon was a delightful party, as a birthday party should be. It was the birthday of the auxiliary, which is celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of its founding this month. The society itself is only a year older than the auxiliary, which was formed by ten young south side girls, the original members of the Kenwood Social Service club, which now is one of the thirty centers that make up the auxiliary.

Mrs. Elias Lyman Jr., president of the auxiliary; Mrs. C. K. Sanders, publicity chairman, and Miss Jeannette Townsend, executive secretary, made short talks at the party. A total of 14,339 babies were cared for in the 18 stations maintained in the congested areas of the city, and 24,346 pints of cod liver oil were consumed by the babies. The auxiliary membership exceeds 2,800 women, all of whom work steadily during the year for Infant Welfare.

Baby week, May 2 to 8, is the 23d in Chicago. Among the benefits for Infant Welfare that will be given soon are a card party the Hinsdale Seniors will give today.

Models Today Face Exacting Requirements

Personality Behind Facial Beauty Demanded.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A Ziegfeld slogan read: "Through these portals go the most beautiful girls in the world!" And the Ziegfeld beauties justified the slogan. An elaborate interpretation of the slogan might well be a Hollywood highway placard. But the latest scene to suggest the slogan is the bureau for models. I'm told that the trek to model bureaus today is like the Hollywood treking of a few years ago, before girls learned that a pretty face wasn't enough for Hollywood fame.

From Miss Sue Helvarg, who conducts a model's bureau agency, we learn a few truths which it were well to pass on to girls inspired with the success of certain of the very famous models. In a recent article Sue Helvarg tells that modeling is an exacting business. How exacting it is you may guess from your mild experience of posing long hours to have your own photograph taken. "Think how much more tiring it is for a girl who adopts this means, day in and day out, for a living!"

The beautiful but dumb model has gone the way of all b. but d. ladies. A girl must first photograph well to be a model, and there must be a personality that the camera can capture. Exotic types are discouraged because advertisers want the clean, fresh type of American girl, with poise and charm. The business life of the average model, Miss Helvarg tells, is five years. Most of the girls coming into her office today, the model agency head tells, do so frankly in the hope of getting into the movies. And girls have gone from the model ranks to become screen darlings—for example, Marion Davies, Norma Shearer, Dorothy MacKaill, and Madge Evans. Among the more recent recruits are Phyllis Brooks and Ruth Coleman.

Ruth Clark, one of the famous cigaret models, has lasted more than the proverbial five years.

Miss Helvarg tells that a beautiful girl may photograph badly, while one who is plain in real life may become a great photographic success. But the work has its heart breaking side. A girl must be financially prepared to wait for the breaks, which may come slowly. At any rate, it takes three months, often longer, to bring one's self to the attention of advertisers. And only one girl out of every thousand makes the grade.

We gather from Miss Helvarg's comments that a girl, before coming to the big city to try her luck at modeling, had better let the local photographer get in his work to see how well she photographs rather than believe all that the endearing relatives and friends may say about her beauty.

Shirtwaist Frock a "Must"

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

No matter what else you have in your summer wardrobe, by all means don't forget to have at least one shirtwaist frock in your collection. You must know, by now, that there is no other style of dress so suitable to a wide variety of purposes. We think the model illustrated today has much to distinguish it from the commonplace. For example, the rather generously styled collar has a crisp bow for accent. The sleeves are puffed, and the back is the "action" type. The yoke is cut straight across in both front and back, giving the illusion of broad shoulders so much in demand these days. The blouse part of this one-piece dress is cut trimly and yet is roomy and comfortable. There are no plaits and no paneling in the back. The superb fit and fullness in the skirt are achieved solely by cut and one deft seam down the center front.

Figured cottons, linens, and wash silks make up extraordinarily well in this model, and current fashion prescriptions make them almost imperative for chic. Plain shades always will be favored by the more conservative among us, and they, too, make up attractively in this frock.

Style No. 2944 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3⅞ yards of 39 inch material, with ½ yard of 1 inch ribbon.

Comedian Fields Is Busy on Plans for New Movie

Hollywood, Cal., April 27.—[Special.]—W. C. Fields, movie comedian, has sufficiently recovered from a complication of illnesses which removed him from the screen in 1936 to begin preparation for his new story, "That Man's Here Again." Shooting is to start in June. Fields wrote the story in collaboration with his gag man, Jack Cunningham, while under treatment at Las Encinas sanitarium.

Psst! Spinach Escapes from Health Bogy!

Eat It Now Because You Like It!

BY MARY MEADE.
[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

The "eat spinach for your iron" craze has died down, thank goodness, and nowadays we eat spinach because we like it. A preachment of "you must eat this because it's good for you" arouses antagonism in most of us, due to sheer contrariness of nature, perhaps. And now that nobody is preaching very hard about the food values of spinach, we've all taken a liking to this green vegetable.

Fresh green spinach always is best, although there are a few canned and dried products which are easy to use, and almost as good. There is a right way and a wrong way to cook spinach, but more of that later, after introducing our business woman's spinachful short-cut menu for today.

BUSINESS WOMAN'S DINNER.
Pineapple Juice
Baked Ham Slice
Mashed Sweet Potatoes
Minced Spinach with Grated Cheese
Whole Wheat Bread
Radishes and Tiny Green Onions
Strawberry-Banana Shortcake
Coffee

Spinach should be washed carefully in a large quantity of water, and should be placed in a kettle without water. The drops clinging to the greens after the washing will be sufficient to cook them.

MINCED SPINACH WITH GRATED CHEESE.

To prepare minced spinach with cheese, cook the spinach for five minutes, using only the water which clings to the leaves after washing. Chop the greens and sauté for five minutes longer in butter. Add salt and pepper and sprinkle grated cheese over the hot spinach. Serve at once.

Strawberry-banana shortcake is an interesting variation of plain strawberry shortcake and is made simply by combining strawberries and sliced bananas, half and half. Some of the berries should be crushed so that there will be plenty of juice to add to the attractiveness of the dessert. A simple, old fashioned shortcake may be made by this recipe.

Strawberry-Banana Shortcake.
[Serves Four.]

1½ cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
3½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ cup butter
⅔ cup milk
Strawberries, bananas

Sift the dry ingredients together into a bowl. Cut in the butter and blend with pastry mixer or finger tips to a very coarse meal. Stir in the milk vigorously, using a little more, if necessary, to make a soft dough. Pat the dough into a greased cake pan and bake for 12 minutes at 425 degrees. Split the cake and fill with sweetened strawberries and bananas just before serving. Top with more fruit, cut into wedges, and serve with cream.

Tomorrow's Menu

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

ASKING BIDS.
[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

Yesterday I announced that while asking bids have been proved perfect from a technical point of view, mass psychology and the inability of players to readjust their bidding habits have induced me to make two minor changes in the asking bid system. For the benefit of readers who missed yesterday's article I will briefly restate the first change.

With such bidding as: South, one heart; West, one spade; North, two spades. North's two spade bid is put back to its original, traditional status of a cue bid, showing first round spade control and a big hand. To make an asking bid in spades North must jump one round and bid three spades.

The second change concerns a bidding sequence such as: South, one spade; West, pass; North, four clubs. As originally outlined, this four club bid was an asking bid setting partner's suit as the agreed trump suit. The ingrained habits of millions of players, who had been using such a four club bid for years as a preëmpt, sometimes led to tragedies, and I have, therefore, decided that this particular method of setting the trump suit shall be abandoned. In such bidding the four bid over an original one shall again be considered preemptive, not asking.

TODAY'S HAND.

Frank K. Perkins, one of New England's outstanding players and bridge writers, has a terrific grievance against red headed feminine opponents. He was "fixed" to the queen's taste by one such on the following hand:

North, dealer.

NORTH
♠ 10 9
♥ 10 7 3
♦ A Q J 9 4

WEST
♠ Q J 8 7 4 2
♥ 9 8 4
♦ 6 5
♣ 3 2

EAST
♠ K 3
♥ K Q 6 5
♦ K 8 3

SOUTH
♥ A J 2
♦ 10 7 2
♣ K Q 6 4

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

Frank's bête rouge was West, and, as her opening, produced the deuce of spades, with the most innocent expression imaginable. When East played the king declarer was given a serious problem. Naturally he thought of the possibility that the deuce lead was not really a fourth best, but that was not his only worry by a long shot! To hold up the spade ace would risk a heart shift by East, and if the defenders got home as much as one heart trick and then shifted back to spades [if the vital diamond finesse were unsuccessful] the contract would be defeated. In that case it would be the heart trick, permitted by declarer's failure to grab the opening lead that would be fatal. [Obviously, declarer could not afford to hold off the first trick and then put up the heart ace on a heart shift, because that would expose him to three heart losers if the diamond finesse failed.] So Frank decided to "believe" the woman with red hair and won the opening lead.

The diamond finesse lost to the king and, on a spade return, South had to listen to his outraged partner muttering something about a "sucker for red hair and a baby stare."

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: I opened the bidding with one heart [opponents did not enter the bidding]. Partner responded with two diamonds. What should I now bid with the following: ♠ 9 6 4 ♥ A K Q 7 ♦ K Q 6 4 ♣ K 7?

Answer: Three diamonds.

Tomorrow's Hand

West, dealer.

♠ 9 5
♥ 10 7 3
♦ 6 5 4 3 2
♣ 7 5 3

WEST
♠ K 10
♥ K J 5
♦ K Q 9 8

EAST
♠ Q J 8 4 3
♥ 8 4
♦ J 10 7
♣ J 10 6

SOUTH
♥ A Q 9 6 2
♦ A
♣ A 8 4

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's article.

JO-JOTTE POINTER.

The double at Jo-Jotte is much the same as the penalty double at bridge. It means that the defender expects to defeat the declarer. When a contract has been doubled declarer may redouble or pass, but may not rescue himself. At the end of the play the player with the higher total score [including bonuses, honor melds, and trick score] scores below the line the trick score of both players at their doubled value.

That makes it necessary for a player to be very sure that he will beat declarer before he doubles. If the hand is a close one defender should pass. If he outscores declarer he will score enough for game. If declarer wins the hand he will not score enough for game. A good double should be based on a high honor meld [40 points or more] plus a few sure tricks in the play.

Monday Dates Are Announced by Two Brides

Bonbright Nuptials Take Place June 7.

BY JUDITH CASS.

MONDAY, which isn't usually chosen as a wedding day, perhaps because even as children we learn to speak of it as "blue Monday," is to be the wedding day of two of the season's fashionable brides.

Miss Rosemary Kemper, daughter of the James Scott Kempers of Winnetka, and George Whiting Roberts of Boston will be married on Monday, May 24, and Miss Elizabeth Bonbright, daughter of the Howard Bonbrights of Grosse Pointe, Mich., will become the bride of young Charles Hosmer Morse, son of the Charles H. Morses of Lake Forest, on the first Monday in June, the 7th.

The Roberts-Kemper wedding will take place at 4:30 o'clock in Christ church, Winnetka, with a reception following at the Kempers' Sheridan road home. The Morse-Bonbright nuptials will take place, of course, in Grosse Pointe, in Christ church chapel, at 5 o'clock, with a reception afterward at the home of the bride's parents.

Kemper Attendants Are Announced.

Mrs. David Howe of Burlington, Vt., sister of the bridegroom, will attend Miss Kemper as matron of honor, and Miss Mildred Kemper will be her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids include three out-of-town school friends of the bride. They are Miss Jane Richardson and Miss Elizabeth Hess of New York, who went to Smith with Miss Kemper, and Miss Betty Gouldman of Richmond, Va., who attends the Childe-Walker school in Boston where the bride has been studying until a few days ago.

The fourth bridesmaid will be Miss Kemper's sister-in-law, Mrs. James Scott Kemper Jr., the former Eleanor Kirkland. The junior Mr. Kemper, who will be an usher, and his wife will come from Cambridge, Mass., just in time for the wedding.

The best man is to be Charles J. Innes, a Boston friend of the bridegroom. The ushers will be other eastern friends.

Miss Bonbright Guest in Lake Forest Now.

Miss Bonbright is visiting in Lake Forest now, but since she has come to supervise the remodeling of the house in which she and Mr. Morse will live after next August, there are no parties being given for her. The house belongs to young Mr. Morse's sister, Baroness Wolfgang Beck von Peccoz, who is acting as hostess to Miss Bonbright now in the Morses' house during the absence abroad of Mr. and Mrs. Morse.

Baroness Beck will be hostess to her brother and his bride during a part of their European honeymoon, for they plan to visit Baron and Baroness Beck when in Germany. When Mr. Morse and Miss Bonbright decided to sail June 12 for Europe they advanced their wedding date from the 12th to the 7th.

A gay week-end will be in store for Mr. Morse, Miss Bonbright and their attendants immediately preceding the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Bonbright will give the bridal dinner on Saturday, June 5, and there will be a dinner-dance the following night.

Mrs. Jefferson D. Currier and Miss Clarice Hamill will be Miss Bonbright's only Chicago attendants, Miss Jean Derrick of Grosse Pointe will attend her cousin as maid of honor, and the other bridesmaids will include Miss Cora Buhl, who was among the attendants at the wedding of Miss Cornelia Ranney to Wyndham Hasler; Miss Gertrude Riker, Miss Peggy Williams, Miss Joan Chatin, Miss Sarah Mitchell, Miss Marthe Douglas, and Miss Peggy Seybourn, all of Grosse Pointe.

The bride's brother, William P. Bonbright, will be Mr. Morse's best man, and ushering will be Edward L. Brewster, Mr. Currier, Ernest A. Hamill II., Fred W. Fairman Jr., Charles W. Newhall, Sanger P. Robinson, Brewster Perry, and Nelson L. Barnes Jr. of Chicago, and Allen Sheldon and Oliver Brooks of Grosse Pointe.

Babcock-True Nuptials May 15.

Miss Jane Babcock and Charles Henderson True Jr. are another couple who have settled upon a May wedding day, Saturday, the 15th. The ceremony will take place at the Winnetka Congregational church at 4:30 o'clock, followed by a reception at the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. Raymond J. Koch, in Winnetka.

Miss Babcock, a daughter of Mrs. William F. Babcock, will be given in marriage by her brother, Charles W. Babcock, and her sister, Mrs. Auguste C. Babize Jr., will be the matron of

SOME time ago a story appeared in this space telling how Mme. Nazimova dealt with some theater patrons whose loud and constant talk was annoying both audience and actors. An amplified and corrected version of the story comes from Washington, D. C., from a woman who happened to be in the theater the night of the occurrence. The play was "'Ception Shoals," in which Nazimova was starring in 1917, and the only other feminine member of the cast was Edith Luckett, who, by the way, now is Mrs. Loyal Davis of Chicago. The offending persons were in a box, and one of them was the wife of an ambassador from a foreign court. A member of the box party was the elder Mrs. Marshall Field. The sound of the talk, which she felt prevented the mood of the play from being established, finally enraged Nazimova to a point where she would go on no longer. Advancing to the front of the stage, her eyes on the offending box, she called "Curtain." The curtain descended. Back in her dressing room, she announced to the show managers she would not go on with the play unless the annoying box party left the theater.

Incident— Movie— Humanity— Battleground— Info.

"But we can't ask a foreign ambassador and his wife to leave," pleaded the managers.

Nazimova was adamant. "Then announce to the audience that they can have their money back. I will not go on with the play while that box party is in the house," she said.

The house was darkened while representatives of the company went to the box to explain matters, with apologies. And kept dark while the members of the party left the theater.

At the matinée next day a great box of American Beauty roses arrived in Nazimova's dressing room. The card enclosed was that of Mrs. Marshall Field. She was attending the matinée, and regretted the incident of the preceding evening, was the generous message on the card.

THE film with the enigmatic title, Dulac's "The Seashell and the Clergyman," is not being shown at Fullerton hall at the Art institute this afternoon as originally announced. Instead George Melies' "primitive," "A Trip to the Moon," and Rene Clair's first film, "The Crazy Ray," are being shown instead. The Rene Clair film, a fantasy that relates the story of a few odd characters who find themselves awake while the rest of Paris sleeps under an hypnotic ray, was done when Clair, a successful French producer, was still an amateur, who, like other young Frenchmen of his period, bought a movie camera, found a few hundred francs, and went out to make a picture. The influence of Chaplin and Mack Sennett—"the subtle pantomime of the first and the slapstick of the second"—are traceable. For if Cezanne, Picasso, and Matisse were the heroes of countless American painters, says the Art institute's Dan Rich, Chaplin, Sennett, and Griffith were masters to whom the young Parisians looked during the same period.

Good Morning!

ACTING: Good.

DIRECTION: Able.

SETS, SOUND, PHOTOGRAPHY, ETC.: Satisfactory.

STORY: Small town girl makes good. Learns that the "most popular boy in his class" at home, whom she had adored and by whom she'd been high-hatted, is a "phoney"—and that the press agent who's put her across is an all round regular guy—and the man she wants forever never.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: There's nothing very hefty about this piece—but Miss Bruce's charm, Kent Taylor's likeableness and good looks, and the excellence with which other members of the cast handle their slight rôles should make "When Love Is Young" acceptable to all fans who don't demand a lot for their money.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

You'd have to hunt a long time before you'd find a travel kit to match one we saw the other day. It's not too expensive, it isn't littered with nonessentials though it has just about everything you'd need and it is light in weight and unusually compact.

It's a little gray box that takes up no more room than a couple of pounds of candy; it looks a little bit like a small piece of smart airplane luggage. The lid, which lifts easily and stands up without flip-flopping, reveals eight elegant and essential beauty aids, each snug in its own compartment—another advantage in a kit you take when you go tripping. There's no rattling or spilling.

The beauty preparations are fine—products of a house of high standards. There is cleansing cream, of course; this one a fairly new arrival on the beauty horizon but a most successful one. Tissue cream, a good one that really defeats dryness, is in a slightly smaller jar, but there is enough to serve you for a fairly long time. Traveling without tissue cream would be folly, especially if you're outdoors very much, so don't overlook this.

There is also a sizable little jar of a protective cream that is one of the most lasting of all makeup foundations. It can keep your face well groomed from dawn until dusk if you apply it properly, which is certainly a talking point for the base you use when you're traveling. Nothing in the world wilts you like sightseeing, so you'd best watch out. There is skin tonic in the kit, too, and a finishing lotion that flatters your skin of neck, arms, and back.

Club Gathering Faces Fight on Court Proposal

1,500 Women in Tulsa for Convention.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Tulsa, Okla., April 27.—[Special.]—Consideration of President Roosevelt's proposal to pack the Supreme court, coupled with fiery organization politics, give promise of heated sessions here this week at the eighteenth council meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. William Dick Sporborg, who will present court resolution.

Tulsa, oil capital of the world, has put on her best bib and tucker to play hostess to the 1,500 club leaders from the forty-eight states and Alaska arriving here. Hotels are swamped, while private residences are taking care of the overflow.

The big-hearted city has slipped in only one detail and that is the weather. Cool, almost cold, breezes send delegates scurrying from the Adkar temple, convention headquarters, to and from hotel lobbies.

Each one of these delegates here is prepared to cast her vote Friday morning either for or against President Roosevelt's Supreme court proposal. The result of this vote will indicate the official stand of General Federation, largest organization of women in the world, with its affiliate enrollment of more than 2,000,000. Predictions are that it will be against the proposal.

In the last two months individual clubs throughout the country have been polled individually on the Supreme court reorganization plan and delegates instructed how to vote. The General Federation does not take a stand on controversial questions without the action of its member clubs.

Even so, there is an undercurrent of feeling here that the federation should not have dipped its fingers in a matter so controversial as the court problem. Mrs. Roberta Campbell Lawson, General Federation president and a Tulsa resident, indicated her opinion about "dipping" into the question, however, in her opening address this morning.

"Education for living—the General Federation theme—would be a sham if we did not seek real knowledge about the framework of our government," Mrs. Lawson said. "The President's recommendation for reorganization of the Supreme court has whetted the wits of the people and brought our lethargic minds into activity."

Before a vote is taken Friday the council delegates will hear the issue debated Thursday evening by two widely known liberals. Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] will take the offensive, attacking the President's proposal, while Joseph B. Keenan, assistant to Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, will defend the court plan.

Mrs. William Dick Sporborg of New York, dynamic, aggressive chairman of the legislation, will present the resolution to the council Friday morning.

Termed "a declaration of principle," the resolution reads:

"Aware that the constitution of the United States neither specifies nor mandates the number of judges for the Supreme court, but realizing that the philosophy of government motivating that constitution clearly intended the three branches of our democracy, the executive, legislative and judiciary, to be a wholesome check on each other for the common good of all the people, we, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, in council meeting assembled, declare our objection to the implications and the intent of the President's plan for reorganization of the Supreme court."

Finds Children Admire Firm but Fair Discipline

New Brunswick, N. J., April 27.—[Special.]—Wealth is less important to a successful parenthood than "firm but fair discipline," coupled with traits of understanding, recognition, and companionship, according to the consensus of 2,000 children from 10 to 20 years of age. Their description of the "ideal parent" was discussed here today by Miss Alice Sowers of Washington, D. C., parent education specialist for the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Mischakoff to Quit Symphony for Radio Job

BY CECIL M. SMITH.

Mischa Mischakoff, concert master of the Chicago Symphony orchestra since 1930, has resigned to become concert master of the new National Broadcasting company orchestra now being formed in New York. The new orchestra will play a series of weekly radio concerts next season under the direction of Arturo Toscanini and Artur Rodzinski.

Mr. Mischakoff is a native of Podalia, in southwest Russia. His talent ripening early, he was graduated from the St. Petersburg conservatory at 16, receiving the two highest prizes of the institution, the gold medal and the Anton Rubenstein prize of 1,200 gold rubles. He became concert master of three important Russian orchestras in fairly quick succession.

After many harrowing experiences in the revolution and several years' separation from his family Mr. Mischakoff came to New York in 1923. He was selected winner among 500 contestants in a competition for a solo appearance with the New York Philharmonic orchestra.

The success of this engagement paved the way for a prosperous American career. He was concert master of the Philadelphia orchestra, under Leopold Stokowski, for two seasons before coming to Chicago.

Mr. Mischakoff first appeared in Chicago on Feb. 21 and 22, 1930, playing the Tschaikowsky concerto with the Chicago Symphony. At the close of the first of these concerts he signed a contract to return in the fall as the orchestra's concert master, succeeding Jacques Gordon.

He will play for the last time in Chicago as a member of the orchestra tomorrow night and Friday afternoon in Orchestra hall at the closing concerts of the season.

Ruth Heizer, mezzo-soprano, and Lillian Magnuson, pianist, gave a joint recital in Kimball hall last evening for the benefit of the scholarship fund of Zeta chapter of Phi Beta fraternity.

Miss Heizer is an admirable musician, with keen perception of the implications of her songs. In medium volume her voice is warm and lustrous. She needs to improve its extremes of dynamic range. Her pianissimo is pallid. When she sings loudly the focus of her voice is insecure, and her breath support does not enable her to project a tone squarely into the audience. With her sharp intelligence she will soon correct these deficiencies.

Miss Magnuson is a captivating pianist in music like the Brahms Intermezzo, opus 117, No. 1, which requires an essentially gracious and feminine approach. She is not a successful bravura player, however, and would be wise to stay away from the same composer's E-flat minor scherzo. This requires a technical showmanship and a massive, columnar tone which are physically beyond Miss Magnuson's reach.

THE STAGE

"Red, Hot and Blue," the musical comedy which came to the Grand Opera House three weeks ago for a run that was expected to continue well into the summer, will end its engagement next Saturday night. Patronage, although heavy, was apparently not able to meet the operating expenses of the production, which are about $20,000 a week. In addition, the three stars, Jimmy Durante, Ethel Merman, and Bob Hope, have other contracts in various branches of amusements which they wish to fulfill.

Miss Merman will go to Hollywood for a motion picture production. Jimmy Durante will return to night club work at the Chez Paree for a brief period, beginning next Friday. Bob Hope will go back to New York for radio work.

The sudden decision to terminate the stay of "Red, Hot and Blue" at the Grand Opera House, will bring Katharine Cornell into Chicago two weeks earlier than arranged. She will come to that playhouse on May 17 with a repertory of two plays—"The Wingless Victory," by Maxwell Anderson, and "Candida," by George Bernard Shaw.

Be Picturesque While Dancing

New Bathrobes Boast Linings of Terry Cloth

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Need a new spring bathrobe, a nice new affair of snappy terry cloth cut with this year's streamline and the right kind of short sleeves? Hurry to town and see some new arrivals; they come in a cool fresh green, a dusty pink coral, and a black and white effect that looks gray. They're knockout finds and ought to please the most fastidious soul.

The design is springlike; realistic colored tulips are printed against white for the outside and the practical absorbent white terry cloth is used on the inside. The skirts flare, the waistlines are neat and small, and the white lining rolls over to form the masculine type collar. A cotton cord and ball tassel keep the robe smooth around the waistline. These are priced around $7 and can stick around the house or help decorate the beach scene.

For considerably less money you can find one color pastels made with short sleeves and a zipper down the front. Still others come in a grand assortment of colors, have hoods and pockets and wrap around the streamline like a monk's robe. See the rusty brown ones or the egg yellows, as well as the soft old blue.

In the same shop are some of the best looking dotted Swiss house coats we've ever seen. Cool white with millions of blue, red or pink pin dots, with rows and rows of lace or self-ruffles down the front, around the sleeves, and even racing merrily around the hem of the full skirt. They're feminine finds and all have reasonable price tags.

Children's Aid Benefit Will Be Gay Event

Bridge, Sports, Dancing on Program.

Entertainment ranging from bridge to heavyweight boxing will be on the program of the Merry-Go-Round benefit to be held on Friday by the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society at the Lake Shore Athletic club. Mrs. Barrett Wendell Jr., chairman, is in charge of the event.

In a debate on bridge systems, Mrs. Elliot Evans of Evanston, national women's bridge champion, will defend the Sims and Four Aces methods against Mrs. Maxine Miner, well known exponent of the Culbertson system. After the debate, which is scheduled for 12:30 o'clock, there will be an open duplicate bridge tournament with a case of champagne and a basket of liqueurs among the many prizes.

On the day's sports program will be exhibition bouts featuring Joe Louis, heavyweight challenger, and Barney Ross, the welterweight champion. Nationally known swimmers, bowlers, squash, and handball champions also will perform.

One dining room at the club has already been sold out for the evening's dinner-dance and floor show, but tickets are still available for a second dining room, a cocktail party, the swimming carnival, and the boxing matches.

Friday's all-day celebration is the first appeal made by the society to the general public in four years, Mrs. Wendell said, adding that the organization helps about 5,000 destitute children throughout the state each year.

WOTTA LIFE! WOTTA LIFE!

THE TRAP

By Elizabeth Jordan

[Copyright: 1937: by Elizabeth Jordan]

SYNOPSIS.

Alida French and Vance, who live in the same building, meet in Dr. Cunningham's office, through Miss Rogers, the doctor's nurse. Vance is upset by what the doctor tells him. Alida accepts his invitation to dine with him. To divert his mind Alida tells him her problem of Avalon, an ancestral home on the Massachusetts coast, which she has inherited, and which she would like to open up for paying guests, but the house is haunted.

INSTALMENT III.
THE HAUNTED HOUSE.

"What I mean, of course," Alida hurried on, "is that it has the reputation of being haunted. The natives have a horror of it. Even the housekeeper who had been there so long with Uncle Amos wouldn't live there alone after he disappeared. She paid a country woman to live with her. So you see my position. The income is much less now than it was when she had it. I can't afford to live in the house alone, even if I wanted to. I certainly can't afford to keep a maid there, even if I could get one who would stay. I can't rent rooms or take 'paying guests,' because no one would be willing to live there. I can't sell the house, because no one will buy a house with such a sinister reputation. Meantime the taxes on the property are eating it up. I want to go there this summer. I ought to go at once. I can't afford to stay on in New York. But——"

"It's a problem, all right," Vance admitted soberly. The coffee came. He drew out his cigaret case and offered it to her. For a moment, as they lit their cigarets, neither spoke.

"What's the story?" Vance asked then. "Of course there's a story attached to the house."

"O, yes, there's a story," Alida gloomily admitted. "Several members of my family who lived there have disappeared. The cheery theory is that those who disappeared first have come back and lured later victims into the unknown. One day you see them. The next day you don't—and they're never seen again. That sort of thing. And of course there are tales of horrible sounds and shadowy shapes——"

"How many have disappeared?"

Vance was staring at his guest with frank curiosity. This was an amazing yarn, but he thanked Providence for it. It was making him forget. . . .

"Only four in over a hundred years, as a matter of official record," Alida was saying. "They all go in the same way. They don't leave a trace or the slightest clew behind them. The first victim was the original owner—Capt. Amos French. He built the house. You see," she amplified, "it has been in my father's family from the beginning. As I've said, the old captain, as they called him, my great-great-grandfather, was the first to disappear. He was 70 by that time. His wife had left for a visit to Boston the day before he vanished. His two sons were married and living in Boston. His housekeeper was off for the night. He was alone in the house. A neighbor saw him going into the house through his kitchen door about 6 o'clock. It was May and broad daylight. He was never seen again."

"Amazing," Vance repeated. "Still, he could have——"

"Of course. That's what everyone thought—that he had simply cleared out—especially as his old wife was rather shrewish. But his ship, the apple of his eye, was right there in the harbor. He owned the ship himself. He'd never have left her. Besides, he had a lot of interests in and around Quinnet, and they were all left at loose ends. Also the house was exactly as it was when he had last entered it. The housekeeper had left his supper on the kitchen table. He had eaten it. His pipe and tobacco were found on the table. His newspaper lay on the floor beside his chair. His coat and cap hung on their usual pegs. None of his clothing was missing except what he had on when he disappeared. There was one rather ghastly little touch. He had slipped off the heavy boots he had worn around the place that day, and they lay beside his chair. He had evidently put on his house slippers—for they were missing."

She stopped and drew a deep breath.

"There was a great deal of excitement over his disappearance," she went on. "Then, about fifty years later, his oldest grandson, my grandfather, the second Amos, disappeared in exactly the same way. He, too, was alone in the house at the time. He, too, vanished suddenly early one spring evening. That was too much for the natives—especially as there had been tales of howls and wails and ghosts around the house. The second victim's wife, my grandmother, Alida French [I'm named for her], boarded up the house after a few months and took her two sons, my father and Uncle Amos, his older brother, to Europe. When they came back they lived at Avalon. All the Frenches had adored the place. Grandmother and Amos and father lived there peacefully till father married and moved to New York. Grandmother died soon after that, and Amos lived there alone, with Mrs. Quimby to look after him. The mystery of Avalon was almost forgotten till fourteen years ago, when Uncle Amos disappeared. That revived all the excitement and the ghost stories."

"I never listened to a more extraordinary yarn," Vance murmured.

"The strangest thing about Uncle Amos' disappearance was that someone else vanished with him," Alida went on. "The second victim was Amasa Tarwell, a Boston broker, a pal of my uncle's, who had come to spend the week-end with him. The night he arrived the two men went into the ground floor study after supper for a talk. At about 10 o'clock Uncle Amos rang for Mrs. Quimby, the housekeeper, and ordered whisky and hot water and lemons. It was a terribly cold and stormy night. There was a regular blizzard going on. Mrs. Quimby brought what they ordered. Then she left for a friend's cottage across the fields, where she always spent her nights—in deference to the high moral standards of the village. She had a helper, Comfort Folger, who also slept at home when she worked there. Uncle Amos was a bachelor. Mrs. Quimby had a hard time getting to her friend's house through the storm, and she got very wet. The next day she had to stay in bed with a bad cold. No one ever saw Uncle Amos or his Boston chum again. When Mrs. Quimby returned to the house the second day after the blizzard she found the whisky bottle and empty glasses on the table, but the two men had vanished into thin air. Nothing has ever been seen or heard of them since."

"I'll say this stuff is creepy," Vance admitted with a shiver. "No signs of murder? No blood, no stains, no new made graves under the barn or in the cellar? No charred bodies in the furnace?"

"Nothing of the sort, anywhere. The house and grounds were turned inside out, of course. There was another odd thing. The hats and overcoats of both men were still hanging in the front hall. They couldn't possibly have gone out without them, that wild night."

There was a long silence—a depressed one on the part of the girl, a thoughtful and deeply puzzled one on the part of the young man.

"What you've really got to do," Vance advised with sudden animation, "is to lay those ghosts. You've got to find out what's back of all this. Your house is being slandered. You've got to clear its reputation. There must be some explanation. Probably it's a simple one."

Alida shook her head.

"Lots of people have had that idea, including plenty of Frenches. There are family records, stories of innumerable efforts and investigations. Uncle Amos never made any investigations. Apparently he never gave those disappearances a thought. You see, there had been only two of them, almost fifty years apart. For almost fifty years nothing had happened. Even the talk about shrieks and howls had died down. After Uncle Amos disappeared, Mrs. Quimby, the housekeeper, lived there. As I've said, she always had Comfort Folger with her. They both slept in the house then, but neither woman would stay there alone at night. The stories about shrieks and ghosts started up again and got worse and worse. The neighbors wouldn't cross the threshold of the house. It has a really frightful reputation now."

The raconteuse stopped abruptly.

"I'm talking too much," she admitted. "That's because I've had another letter today from Mr. Haven. He was Uncle Amos' friend and partner. He's looking after the estate. He says the house is going to rack and ruin and that I simply must do something about it."

She broke off. "Now it's your turn to talk." She added contritely: "Tell me your problem. You said you would tell me."

Monday Dates Are Announced by Two Brides

Bonbright Nuptials Take Place June 7.

honor. The other attendants will include Mrs. Herbert C. Virgin Jr. of Madison, Wis., sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Charles Babcock, Mrs. John Kirkpatrick of Tulsa, Okla., and Miss Margaret Maw of New York.

Mr. True's best man will be James M. Bennan of Oak Park, and his ushers will be Dr. Virgin, Lynn Shollenberger, Richard Babcock, younger brother of the bride, who will return from his studies at Dartmouth; Mr. Babize, Frederick Curtis of Petosky, Mich., and Everett Mills.

Miss Maribel Rodiger Guest at Lake Forest.

A pretty young woman who visits in Lake Forest frequently and has many friends there is Miss Maribel Rodiger of Greenwich, Conn. She is staying until Friday with her uncle and aunt, the Nicholas Starosselskys, who entertained at luncheon Sunday for her.

Mrs. Charles S. Sheppard, the former Rosemary Lytton, is stopping at the Drake hotel for two days on her way to the orient to join her husband, who is a lieutenant in the British navy. Mrs. Sheppard has been spending the last six months in New York with her mother, Mrs. George Lytton, because wives of British naval officers are not allowed to accompany their husbands to the orient.

Mrs. Arthur J. Bamford of 1530 State parkway is sailing today on the Normandie to attend the coronation. Her daughter, Miss Beatrice Bamford, will join her mother later after she finishes a course in journalism she is taking at Northwestern university.

Give Dinner Tonight for Dr. Bridges.

The last of the series of lectures that Dr. Horace J. Bridges is giving as a benefit for The Cradle is being postponed from tonight until next Wednesday because the speaker is being given a dinner tonight in recognition of his twenty-five years of service to the community. The party will be in the crystal ballroom of the Blackstone hotel and the Chicago Ethical society, of which Dr. Bridges is the leader, has planned it with Edwin S. Fetcher and Joseph L. Valentine in charge of arrangements.

Dr. David Saville Muzzey of New York will be the toastmaster, and the speakers will be Dr. Bridges, Dr. John Lovejoy Elliott of New York, and Dr. Shailer Mathews. A group has come from St. Louis for the affair, and among the Chicagoans who will be there are the British consul general, Lewis Bernays, and Mrs. Bernays [Dr. Bridges was born in England]; Dr. and Mrs. Duncan H. Browne, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Fremont Tittle, Mrs. Herbert F. Perkins, Rabbi and Mrs. Louis L. Mann, Miss Alice Gerstenberg, Mrs. Welch Dickinson, Frank S. Cunningham, the Ernest S. Ballards, Dr. Isaac Abt, the Sewell Averys, the John C. Slades, and the William Walraths.

Paulist Choristers Give Concert Tonight.

A large and fashionable audience will hear the Paulist Choristers tonight at Orchestra hall, where the youthful singers will carol for funds for the Paulist Choir Summer school in northern Wisconsin. Father O'Malley will conduct the chorus, which is in its thirty-third season.

Among those who have taken boxes for tonight's concert are the Lester Armours, the senior and junior Edward A. Cudahys, the Joseph M. Cudahys, the Paul McNultys, the Vaughan C. Spaldings, the Stuyvesant Peabodys, Mrs. George V. McIntyre, and Col. and Mrs. Albert A. Sprague.

The Chicago Drama league has arranged a delightful lecture and luncheon program today, followed by a matinée of the new play, "Close Quarters." The party will mark the end of its winter season. Prof. William M. McGovern of Northwestern university will speak on "Drama Through the Ages" at 11 o'clock at the Arts club, where luncheon will be served following his talk.

Mrs. Hayden B. Harris, Mrs. Harold C. Pynchon, Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick, Mrs. H. Newton Hudson, Mrs. Edwin G. Foreman, and Mrs. Charles S. Davis are among those who have made reservations for the luncheon.

The Rev. and Mrs. Duncan H. Browne will entertain at tea this afternoon in their apartment at 200 East Delaware place for the committee and ushers for the fashion show and tea the social service committee of St. James' church is giving next Tuesday afternoon at the Woman's Athletic club. The Rev. Mr. Browne is rector of St. James'.

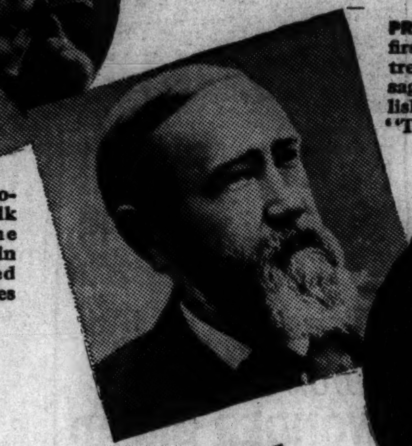
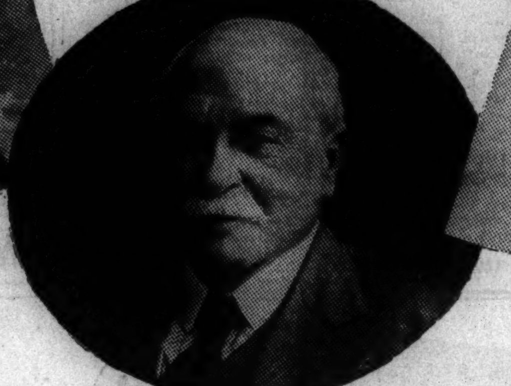
The Parade of EDITORIAL COURAGE that built over 3,000,000 circulation

an all-time record high

MARK TWAIN gave people something to talk about instead of the weather. His sketches in the Journal provided "parlor-talk" anecdotes for millions.

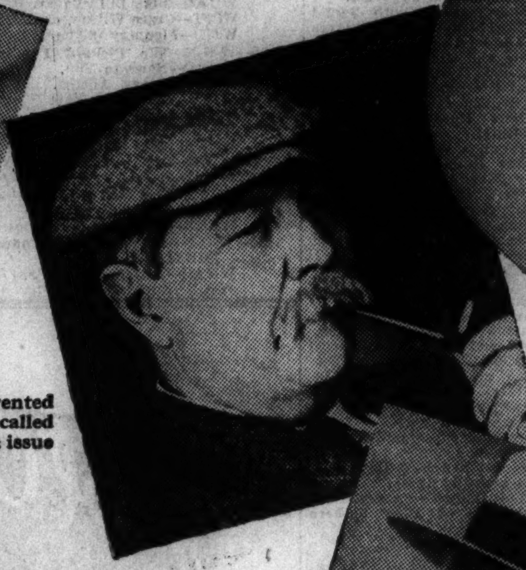


PRESIDENT BENJAMIN HARRISON was the first of four presidents to use the Journal's tremendous circulation to carry his messages to the nation. In the Journal he published his greatest series of essays, called "This Country of Ours."

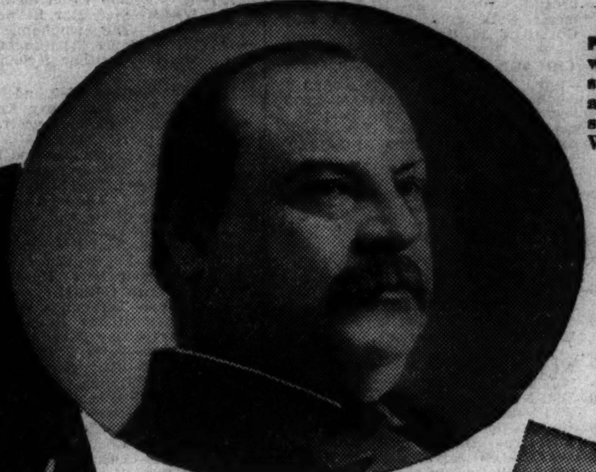


WILLIAM DEAN HOWELLS wrote his outstanding novel, "The Coast of Bohemia," in 1893—and wrote it for the Journal. Later he became a monthly contributor. His autobiographical page was regarded as the finest criticism of that time.

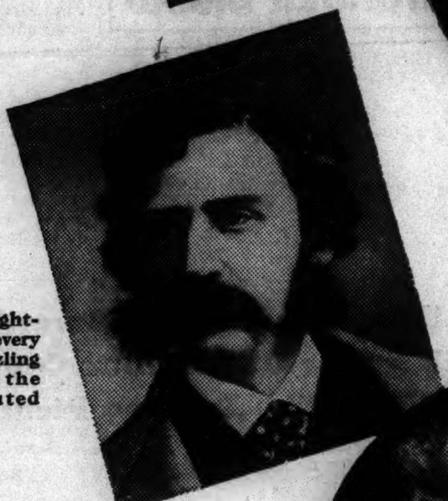
PRESIDENT THEODORE ROOSEVELT thundered, "No piled-up wealth . . . will permanently avail any people . . . " through the pages of the Journal. A regular contributor from the White House.



SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE invented trouble for Sherlock Holmes, called for Watson, solved the crime in issue after issue.

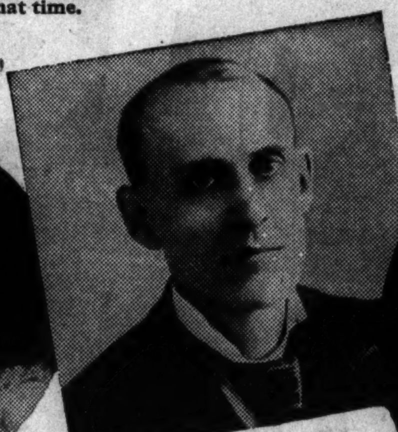


PRESIDENT GROVER CLEVELAND wrote in his precise, analytical style . . . was quick to recognize and point out the tremendous significance of the infant Woman's-Club movement.'



BRET HARTE, sought-after prize of every editor . . . dazzling storyteller of the West, contributed regularly.

SARAH BERNHARDT, brilliant in print as she was on the stage, wrote vividly in the Journal of her most dramatic performance before three thousand battle-scarred soldiers, not far from the front lines.



EUGENE FIELD'S celebrated verses, "Wynken, Blynken and Nod" and "Little Boy Blue," were published in the Journal with Maxfield Parrish's illustrations.

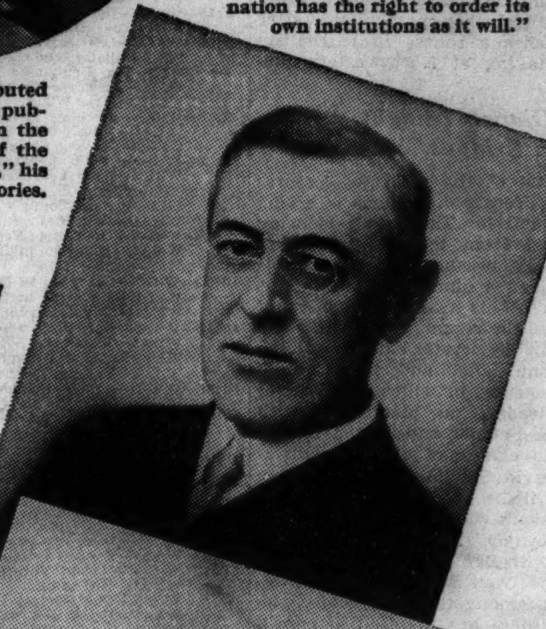
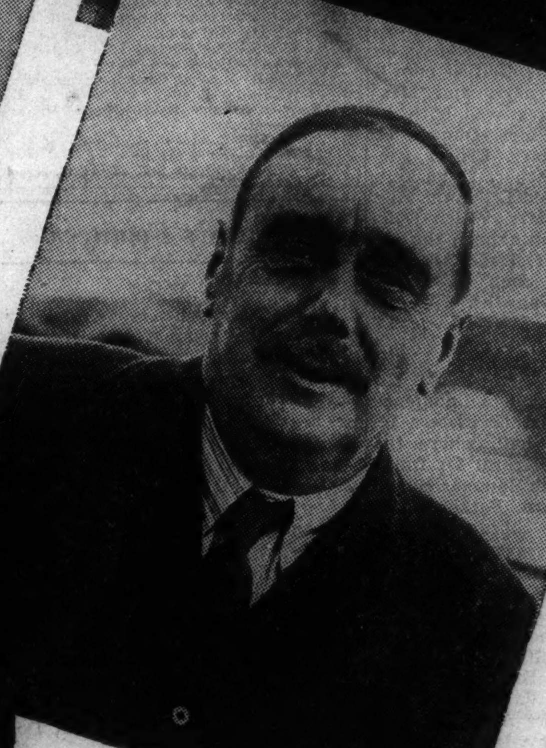
RUDYARD KIPLING contributed regularly. The Journal first published his story, "William the Conqueror," and some of the finest of his "Just So Tales," his "Puck of Pook's Hill" stories.



PRESIDENT WOODROW WILSON, in 1916, picked the Journal to make known his decision on U. S. intervention in Mexico. Part of this important announcement went down in history: ". . . every nation has the right to order its own institutions as it will."



H. G. WELLS minced no words. "Winsome, weak, womanhood will be told bluntly . . . it is a bore," said he, describing the effects of war on a changing world.

Right from its beginning—the Journal has been the forum for courageous writers and leaders. It is, by tradition, the "first thought" of prominent people who have a message for American women. Naturally, women have a keen appreciation for this magazine. Naturally, advertisers find that Journal ads sell goods.

THERE are two ways in which a magazine can build up a large circulation. A courageous editorial policy . . . a high editorial standard that keeps in step with the world's tempo . . . will surely produce a great volume of interested readers. On the other hand, special-combination offers, prizes and extra discounts will sell a great many copies of any magazine.

Unfortunately—in both cases the volume of readers looks much the same—but there is a great difference. You'll always find real reader interest associated with the magazine that has a courageous editorial policy. And that's important to advertisers, because advertising copy gives conviction when it appears in a magazine that has a high editorial reading.

Fortunately—there is a very simple way of evaluating the cold circulation-volume figures presented by any magazine. All you have to do is to examine its present and past editorial content. Is there any editorial justification for the circulation figures? Is the magazine, month by month, the leader in its field? Does it set the pace—or does it follow it?

Judge the Ladies' Home Journal by these standards—examine its circulation all you wish. You'll find volume—over 3,000,000 copies of the April issue were sold. And you'll find an editorial reason for this volume.

* * *

"We propose to make it a household necessity—so good, so brave, so complete, that a young couple will no more think of going into housekeeping without it than without a cookstove," said Cyrus H. K. Curtis, as he launched the first issue of the Ladies' Home Journal in 1883. How well he succeeded can be judged by the chart at the right. Over 3,000,000 women bought the April Journal because they wanted to read it.

MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT'S autobiography carries on the Journal's great tradition of leadership. This frank, revealing autobiography of the First Lady is the talk of the country. Today, the Journal is still the first thought when prominent people have a vital message for American women.

EUROPE MARSHALS BOXING ARMY FOR CHICAGO TRIALS

GERMANY, ITALY HELD STRONGEST IN MILAN MEET

Official Sums Up Nations' Power.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 27.—With the boxing armies of Europe marshaling their forces for the tournament which begins May 5 at Milan, an estimate of the individual national strength was obtained today in an interview with Egon Muller, managing editor of a weekly sporting newspaper and organization director of the German government's department of boxing.

Ernie Smith.

Herr Muller predicted that the German delegation would make the strongest bid for places on the squad of European champions who will fight Chicago's Golden Gloves team at Chicago on May 28. His estimate of his country's power may be justified in view of Germany's victory in the Olympics. However, he added, Italy's team is strong and "frequently victorious in its own rings." Apparently the matter of debatable decisions is the universal bane of boxing.

Germans and Italians Strong.

The team strength of these two nations is taken for granted. In Germany, for example, there is an enrollment of 20,000 boxers. But, according to Muller, other nations have individual stars capable of winning places on the European team.

"After Germany and Italy," Muller said, "the next strongest group of nations should be Ireland, Poland and Hungary. Then would come Sweden, Norway, France and Czechoslovakia. Some good boxers are distributed among Austria, Denmark, Esthonia, England, Finland, Jugo-Slavia, Holland and Switzerland, and one or two of these might come through to a championship."

In the Chicago matches Europe's great strength will lie in the fact that no individual country will win the exclusive right to send a squad against the Golden Gloves boxers. The matches at Milan will be strictly individual rather than team affairs. Thus in each weight division the greatest amateur boxer of all Europe will be pitted against a Chicago Golden Gloves fighter.

Recall Chicago Showing.

Herr Muller's estimate of his country's strength may be further justified by the fact that the Germans made the best showing against the Chicago Golden Gloves team in the history of the international matches. Germany battled Chicago to a 4 to 4 tie before 45,000 persons at Soldiers' field in 1932. And the Germans still are talking about it. All those connected with the trip to Chicago have remarked upon the hospitality with which they were received and upon the sportsmanship of the American crowds.

No account of boxing in the northern countries would be complete without a reference to Eric Agren and Olof Peder Tandberg of Sweden, and Erling Nilsen and Henry Tiller of Norway. Tiller was runnerup for the Olympic middleweight championship. The best opposition this husky lad will be likely to encounter at Milan should come from Henry Chmielewski of Poland, Jean Despeau of France, and Adolph Baumgarten of Germany.

Scandinavians Are Rugged.

The Scandinavian peninsula produces some rugged heavyweights. In this division Nilsen and Tandberg should figure prominently, though they expect tough competition from

DOYLE DEFEATS LEVINSKY IN TWELVE ROUNDS

M'Avoy Wins British Title on London Card.

LONDON, April 27. — (AP) — Jack Doyle, the Irish tenor, struck another blow to uphold British boxing prestige tonight when he gave King Levinsky of Chicago a twelve round beating at Wembley stadium before 11,400, which included King Farouk of Egypt.

Coming on top of Tommy Farr's recent triumph over Max Baer, Doyle's victory did much to dispel the legend of horizontal British heavyweights.

Doyle Breaks Knuckle.

From the third round on Levinsky, obviously no longer the fighter he was a few years ago, was weaving with blood streaming from several cuts on his face.

Levinsky, however, never went down. Even when it was obvious he was in for a beating, he continued to fight back. Doyle, who took Levinsky's efforts with a cynical smile throughout the bout, attributed his failure to score a knockout to the fact that he broke a knuckle in his right hand in the second round. It was the first bout Doyle ever won on points.

King Says He's Good.

Speaking carefully between puffed lips, Levinsky said he was glad he had given Doyle a good fight.

"He's a lot better man than they think back home," Levinsky said. "He hits hard."

Doyle weighed 216 pounds, 14 more than Levinsky.

Golf School Staf Includes Pro Masters

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Four of the most capable instructors of the Chicago district will take charge of classes in THE TRIBUNE'S fifth annual golf school which opens next Tuesday on four park courses.

Tom Walsh of Westgate Valley, national secretary of the Professional Golfers' association, will do the teaching at Jackson Park. Joe Jemsek of Cog-Hill will be at Marquette, Jock Anderson of Techny Fields at the Diversey course in Lincoln park, and Lew Waldron of the Mohawk Country club at Columbus park.

Thus the thousands of pupils who will take advantage of this opportunity to get a groundwork in the game will have the benefit of first rate instruction from well established professionals.

In addition to the lessons, there will be demonstrations during the classes by a number of outstanding tournament stars. Several of these will also take the stand as lecturers at some of the sessions.

Horton Smith, twice winner of the Masters' tournament at Augusta, and leading money winner for the 1936 season, has offered the services of an all-star foursome which has toured the country for nearly a year.

More than 3,000 registrations already have been received. Joining is a simple matter, and all lessons and demonstrations are free. Just fill out the accompanying coupon with name, address, and the course at which you would like to take lessons, and mail it to the golf editor of THE TRIBUNE.

Radio Résumé at Night.

The school is open to any man, woman, or child. The first lesson will be held next Tuesday and the second the following Thursday; the third on Tuesday, May 11, and the fourth and last on Thursday, May 13.

On the morning of each lesson,

In the Wake of the News

HERE AND THERE.

ANNUAL contests between winners of events in the Big Ten and the Pacific coast track and field games should do much to stimulate athletic interest in both sections. The first contest of this projected series will take place at Los Angeles June 26, the week following the national collegiate games at Berkeley.

On the Pacific coast and in certain sections of the east track and field games have drawn good crowds. Here in the middle west the public as a whole, especially in Chicago, has been apathetic. We never quite understood why unless it was because few great individual rivalries developed or because there was not enough competition.

The middle west furnishes its share of national title holders and its share of well rounded teams, although perhaps not equaling California in that respect. But it does not furnish its share of enthusiastic crowds. With the first sectional contest held on the Pacific coast and the alternate event here the following year there will be both individual and team stimulus, perhaps crowd stimulus. Sectional contests, within reason, promote public athletic interest.

University of Minnesota, perhaps signalizing the appointment of Jim Kelly, formerly of De Paul, as track coach, will hold an open track meet May 14 in which any amateur athlete may compete. Gophers from time immemorial have been known for their sturdy footballers, of late years in other sports. Kelly has such a remarkable record with his football and basketball teams drawn from comparatively small squads at De Paul that we look to see him produce results at his new post within two or three years.

Kelly, except for his regret at leaving De Paul, where loyalty kept him many years in face of more advantageous financial offers elsewhere, is in an exceptionally happy environment. He and Athletic Director Frank McCormick once played on the same football eleven at South Dakota.

Incidentally, Minnesota's news service has prepared a graph showing that 95 per cent of all Gopher intercollegiate athletes come from a radius within 250 miles of the university. The only footballer last fall outside this circle was Horace Bell, colored guard from Akron, O., whose older brother wanted him to play under the tutelage of Dr. George Hauser, line coach once at Ohio State.

Of varsity athletes 54.7 per cent, according to the graph, are from the Twin City area of Minneapolis and St. Paul. Only 13.41 per cent are from outside the state, most of these from adjacent Dakotas, Wisconsin, and Iowa.

Several Helpers, thank you, already have called our attention to the fact that annual mortality of Big Ten football coaches, as discussed

MAREK, THOMAS MEET TONIGHT IN COLISEUM SHOW

State Heavyweight Title Is at Stake.

The match, which is being presented under the auspices of Mique Malloy, is the most attractive held in Chicago this season. As a result arrangements are being made to handle in excess of 5,000 spectators. At that rate gate receipts would amount to more than $6,000. More than 10,000 seats are available. In case of a sell-out receipts will be $15,000.

Each contestant will receive 25 per cent of the net receipts. Thus the rival battlers each will be paid a tidy sum.

K. O. May End It.

Despite this assurance of a good purse the fighters have not forgotten the business at hand—victory at all costs.

Inasmuch as both men are primarily sluggers—battlers who go where the fighting is—the consensus is that the encounter will not go the scheduled distance. In the event of such an ending it will mark the first time Thomas or his 185 pound antagonist has been counted out.

Thomas possesses the better knockout record. He made his Chicago debut in the Coliseum Dec. 13, 1935, with a record of having won twenty-three of his twenty-six professional contests, most of them by knockouts. He proved the power in his fists was no myth by registering ten knockouts in his last seventeen starts.

Marek Is Younger.

This fine record has caused fans to make the railroad engineer, who hails from Eagle Bend, Minn., the favorite to beat Marek.

Nevertheless, Max appears to be the better fighter. Although he will be at a disadvantage as far as punching power and weight is concerned, the Chicago boxer has several items in his favor. For one thing he is a good counter puncher, and for another, he is superior at infighting.

In addition Marek at 23 years of age is younger than Harry, who says he is 26, but is reported to be several years older. Thomas' friends say he was born April 14, 1901.

Zona vs. Bowman.

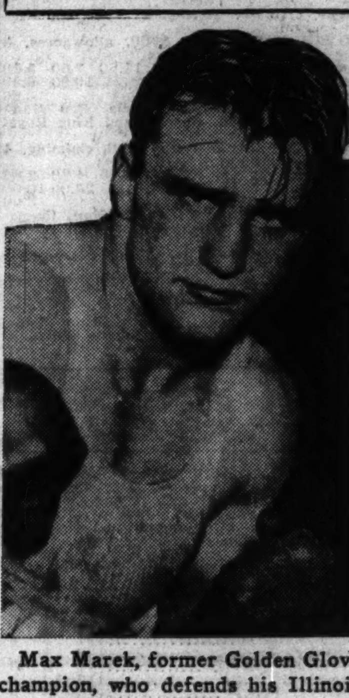
As a consequence, Marek will hold an advantage in stamina. Moreover, his coördination likely will be superior to that of Thomas.

Both fighters lost disputed decisions in their latest appearances, Thomas to Roscoe Toles at Detroit Olympia, April 16, and Max to Tony Shucco at Boston, Feb. 24. Thomas weighed 198 against Toles and Marek 181½ against Shucco.

Max Zona, heavyweight stablemate of Marek, and Bernie Bowman, former Roosevelt High school football player, will meet for the third time in the six round semi-final. Bowman won the previous meetings by a narrow margin.

Carl Vinciquerra, Alex Kettles, Phil Kenneally, and Andy Scrivani, all of whom are Golden Gloves graduates, will compete in four of five supporting contests. Jack Fargo will oppose Vinciquerra, Ralph Davis faces Kettles, Henry Hamburg clashes with Kenneally, and Art Greer is paired with Scrivani.

OPPONENTS



Max Marek, former Golden Glove champion, who defends his Illinois heavyweight championship at the Coliseum tonight against——

MEDWICK GETS 3 HITS; MOVES UP IN BIG SIX

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Joe Medwick's three hits, one a double, against the Pirates yesterday moved the Cardinals' star left fielder into a tie for fifth place in the major league batting race. Meanwhile the Pirates' veteran, Paul Waner, dropped down to fourth as he got only one hit in four trips to the plate. The big six leaders:

JACK TORRANCE MAKES NEW YORK DEBUT TONIGHT

New York, April 27.—(AP)—Broadway gets its first peek at Jack Torrance tomorrow night when the former Louisiana State shot put star makes his New York debut as a fighter in the Hippodrome.

Torrance, weighing 255 pounds compared to the 328 he brought home from the Olympic games last summer, meets Abe Simon, 250 pound New Yorker, in a six round bout.

The main event will be a ten round bout between Arturo Godoy, Chilean champion, and Tony Galento. They are heavyweights.

Grimes Draws $25 Fine for Run-In with Umpire

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—It was learned today that Burleigh Grimes, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was fined $25 by Ford Frick, president of the National league, for protesting one of Umpire Tiny Parker's decisions, resulting in his banishment, in Sunday's game in Philadelphia.

CARDINALS WHIP PIRATES, 3 TO 1; TAKE 1ST PLACE

Bob Weiland Yields Only Six Hits.

St. Louis, Mo., April 27.—(AP)—Lefty Bob Weiland held the Pittsburgh Pirates to six hits today as the St. Louis Cardinals won 3 to 1. The victory lifted the Cardinals into first place in the National league. It was the first defeat of the season for the Pirates.

John Dickshot, Pirate left fielder, accounted for Pittsburgh's run with a homer in the first inning.

After Pittsburgh had taken the lead the Cards tied the score in the second inning on singles by Joe Medwick and Pepper Martin and an error by Bill Brubaker. They added another in the fourth, Leo Durocher's fly to Paul Waner scoring Stan Bordagaray, who had singled to start the inning and advanced to third on Medwick's double.

The Cardinals' final run came in the fifth. Weiland singled to start the inning but was forced at second by Terry Moore's attempted sacrifice bunt. Moore then stole second and scored on Stuart Martin's single.

Cy Blanton yielded seven hits in the six innings he pitched. He was taken out for a pinch hitter in the seventh and Bill Swift finished. Score:

POAT YIELDS TWO HITS AS ILLINI BEAT MAROONS, 7-0

Ray Poat, Illinois sophomore, pitched a 7 to 0 victory over Chicago at Greenwood field yesterday. It was the second two hit victory for Poat in four days, the former Lindblom High school star having defeated Ohio State last Saturday.

After scoring once on a pair of walks and McConnell's single in the second inning the Illini sewed up the game in the fifth when Franklin, second baseman, hit a home run with the bases loaded. Henry, Reinhart, and Boudreau singled, after which Amundsen replaced Lawson on the mound for the Maroons. Franklin greeted Amundsen with a four base drive to deep right center.

Poat struck out twelve and walked only two. The hits off him were made by Meyer and Soderlind. Henry and McConnell each collected three hits for Illinois. Score:

STRETCH SPEED BOOSTS REAPING REWARD STOCK

Beats Stable Mates at 1¼ Miles.

BY FRENCH LANE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., April 27.—Visions of a smashing Chicago victory in the Kentucky Derby by Reaping Reward, owned by Mrs. Ethel V. Mars, proprietor of Milky Way Farms stable, floated before the eyes of the railbirds at Churchill Downs during the training hours this morning.

Bob McGarvey.

The easy moving coal black son of Sickle was among the early birds on the track because rain was threatening and Trainer Bob McGarvey wanted to put this drill under the colt's belt before the track conditions could change to the muddy side. The track already was deep and dull following spasmodic showers during the night. He was accompanied on the track by Mars Shield, the filly which won the Texas Derby for Mrs. Mars a few days ago, and Military, the mud runner, in her Derby hand.

Romps Home in 2:11.

Mars Shield broke in front and stayed there for quite some time. Military galloped along in second place. Reaping Reward was last but only breezing.

They romped the first mile in 1:44. Then for about a sixteenth of a mile Reaping Reward was allowed to run. It was the only time he was given his head throughout the drill. He dashed past both of his stable companions to finish out the mile and a quarter well ahead of them.

The final time for the Derby route was 2:11, although some clockers said it was a second slower.

The time was not the thing that had attracted the eyes of the wise old railbirds, though. It was Reaping Reward's smooth, confident way of going that started their tongues wagging.

"That horse is fit," they all agreed.

In Training Since Jan. 1.

"The thing I liked most about it," he said, "was the spirit he showed when he came back to the barn. He was squealing and kicking up his heels. That's the way good horses show me they are ready for their races."

"What do you mean squealing?" the trainer was asked.

"Call it whatever you want to," he replied. "But he acted like the physical specimen in superb condition that must let off some steam before he can relax again."

McGarvey has known all along that Reaping Reward would be ready for the Derby. He put the colt in training at Milky Way farm in Tennessee on Jan. 1. Mild weather there made it possible for him to advance rapidly. Later on he took the colt to Texas, where he continued to drill at Arlington Downs for nearly a month.

Some critics have wondered why McGarvey did not give him a race or two in Texas. He had his own reasons for that. The main one was that he didn't want Reaping Reward to leave his Kentucky Derby effort down in the Lone Star state.

Case Ace a Possibility.

Reaping Reward will make one start before the Derby. That will

AURORA'S FINISH CAMERA WILL BE TRIED TOMORROW

Test Races Scheduled; Strip Ready.

Test races will be run tomorrow at the Aurora track to try out the new photo finish camera that will be in use when the Chicago district racing season opens on Saturday.

Mutuel clerks will be on hand for the first roll call and Racing Secretary Dick Leigh's office will take entries for the opening day feature, the Fox Valley Inaugural handicap.

Racing Strip to Be Ready.

Charles Waite, developer of the camera to be used throughout the 19 day meeting which ends with the running of the Illinois Derby, is to put his machine through tests tomorrow for the approval of representatives of the state racing commission. A field of several ponies will be recruited from the stables at the track to run these trial events at 3 p. m.

Waite has found it possible to put a picture in the stewards' hands within two and one-half minutes after the finish of a race. Prints for the public to examine will be available shortly after that time and are to be posted in three prominent places.

Only a day or two of dry weather is needed for Placide Frigerio to have the racing strip in the best of shape for the opening card of eight races. So numerous are the thoroughbreds working over the track these mornings that the oval is crowded almost to capacity from dawn until 10 a. m.

Daily Double on 2d, 3d Races.

General Manager Robert S. Eddy Jr. has announced that the daily double again will be on the second and third races at Aurora, and quinella betting will be on the eighth race. Aurora is the only Chicago district track featuring the quinella, which means picking two horses to run one-two or two-one in the final race. Post time for the first race each day is 2:15 and the final contest will be run off no later than 5:30 each afternoon.

REAPING REWARD PROVES IN TEST HE'S DERBY TIP

come in the Derby trial to be run next Tuesday. Military will be his running companion in the Derby. There is a vague possibility that Case Ace may be a third member of the entry. Until he went wrong physically at Saratoga last summer this colt was considered tops among the American 2 year olds.

He demonstrated during the winter and early spring in California and Texas that he is physically well again. Still, most horse folk, with the exception of Trainer McGarvey, regard him as a sprinter rather than a colt that can go the Derby route.

Wanted—A Jocky.

McGarvey reveals that Case Ace has worked a mile and a sixteenth for him as fast as any horse ever went that route in a training move. "He showed no sign of wanting to stop then," declared the Milky Way farm conditioner.

Case Ace will start in a seven furlong race here on Saturday. If the showing is the sort Trainer McGarvey expects he will get a chance in the Derby provided a suitable jocky to ride him can be employed.

Albert Robertson, under contract to Mrs. Mars, will pilot Reaping Reward. McGarvey today was endeavoring to hire Sonny Workman to ride Military. He made this move after C. V. Whitney, holder of Workman's contract withdrew Black Look from the Derby. Whitney will have no colorbearer in the race, because Black Look was his last hope and that colt has gone lame.

McGarvey doesn't know where to find a competent boy to ride Case Ace, because most of the best riders in America already are under contract for the Derby. McGarvey will not consent to run Case Ace unless he can get a top bracket jocky to ride him.

SIGNING FOR CHARITY BOUT

Europe Rallies Boxing Army; Eyes on Milan

Agren is highly regarded throughout Europe. He is a lightweight, 21 years old. He began fighting in 1933 as a bantamweight. He lives in Stockholm.

Other northerners rating consideration are Nicolai Stepulew of Esthonia, and Jens Nielsen of Denmark, both lightweights. Stepulew was runner-up for the Olympic title. He is 24 years old and resides in Tallin. Nielsen is 25 years old and has a European reputation equal to that of Ireland's Ernie Smith.

Poles Have Chance.

Coach Felix Stamm of the Polish team is enthusiastic about Chmielewski's chances. However, Stanislaus Wozniakiewicz, Polish lightweight, also attracted considerable attention in his country's national tournament. Although only 21, he has been fighting for five years. He has lost only nine bouts out of 150. He has scored 50 knockouts. He is a dark horse of the tournament and may surprise better known opponents.

It seems that the northern nations may have a chance to break the team strength of Germany and Italy on a basis of the above review. Certainly Muller is unwilling to predict a sweep for the nations officially supporting boxing.

Muller vehemently denied German subsidization of boxing. He said that all sports are under one organization and the profits of one are used for the support of those not showing a profit. In addition, each registered athlete is assessed a small sum for general use in all sports.

HOUSE, SENATE PASS BILLS TO ALTER RACE LAW

Move to Prevent Importing of Employes.

Springfield, Ill., April 27.—[Special.]—Both houses of the Illinois legislature decided today that at least 85 per cent of all persons employed by race track associations in the state should be citizens and residents of Illinois for at least two years prior to their employment. This provision, in a series of amendments to the racing act, was adopted to prevent operators of race tracks from bringing in out-of-state stafs at race meetings.

Bills Are Alike.

The house enacted the Weeks-Knauf-Randolph bill and the senate the measure sponsored by William Connors [D., Chicago]. Each has the same purpose. The bills provide that the racing commission shall have the right to grant, refuse, suspend or withdraw licenses to horse owners, trainers, jockies, apprentices, grooms, stable foremen, exercise boys, veterinarians, valets, and platers. Such licenses would be for the period ending Dec. 31 in each year for a fee of not more than $5.

Applications for licenses to conduct race meetings for the succeeding year would have to be filed prior to Nov. 1, and the commission would be authorized to allot a different number of racing days to the several tracks and different dates and days than those requested in their applications.

Fine for Doping.

Administering of any stimulant, drug, or depressant to a horse would be prohibited under penalty. The house passed the Weeks-Knauf-Randolph bill, 106 to 0, and the senate the Connors bill, 39 to 0. Each chamber now enters into a race of its own to see how soon it can enact the other's bill.

Quickies.

Would folks who journey to Florida or California every winter enjoy it half so much if there were no home papers to record their goings and comings? I think not, but who am I at my age, to start thinking?

"Two Women Get Jail Sentences for Drunken Driving," says a Chicago headline. Seems kinda nice to see the girls actually getting a few of those "equal rights" for which they fought so long.

On the other hand, at Toledo, O., a man was arrested for driving a horse while he [not the horse] was intoxicated. He was given a jail sentence and his whip was taken away from him for thirty days. Now we're getting somewhere.

English as She Is Spoke.

It always has been a puzzle to me
What sailors sow when they plow the sea;
Does coffee go with the roll of a drum,
And why is a speaking likeness dumb?
What was it that made the window blind?
Whose picture is put in a frame of mind?
When a storm is brewing what does it brew?
Does the foot of a mountain wear a shoe?
How long does it take to hatch a plot?
Has a school of herring a tutor or not?
Who is it that paints the signs of the times?
Does the moon change quarters for nickels and dimes?
Can money be tight when change is loose?
Now what in the name of thunder's the use
Of going through college and taking degrees
When we're posed by such simple problems as these?

instructions as to clubs and the nature of the forthcoming session will appear in the Tribune. On the night following each lesson there will be a résumé of the instruction over radio station W-G-N by a leading professional.

The professionals in charge will design their lessons so that they will be clear to those who have never been on a course before. On the other hand, the instructions will also be of great value to people who play an average game and are desirous of improvement.

The course will wind up with special events on Sunday, May 16, at a course to be announced later. These will include an 18 hole exhibition match by four leading professionals. The four most apt pupils in the entire school will be chosen by a jury of professionals.

BENJAM, sent up on the outside to contest TEDEMA for the pace, drew clear of his rival entering the stretch and was kept to a drive to stave off closing rush of GRIM REAPER. Latter was shuffled back at the break, gained steadily and came with excellent courage under punishment in the final sixteenth. TEDEMA rushed to the front at once, was hard ridden while running with BENJAM and tired gradually through the stretch. INDIAN LODGE closed willingly. CATALYSIS broke on top but could not keep up. Others were not prominent.

MOON MULLINS—NOTE THE SURPRISE

ST. PAUL LOOMS AS SOLUTION TO WHITEHEAD CASE

Dykes Ready to Demote Sox Bad Boy.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., April 27.—The White Sox ate up more of J. Louis Comiskey's meal money today and gave nothing in return. However, they were willing as well as hungry, but their desire to work was thwarted for the second consecutive day by a cold rain. In the event of clear weather tomorrow the Sox and Indians can start and conclude their series at the same time. Otherwise the Chicagoans will head for home on an early train with nothing except expenses for their three day journey.

John Whitehead.

Thornton Lee, who has been waiting for two days for a chance to southpaw against the team that traded him to the Sox last winter, remains as tomorrow's pitching candidate. So does Mel Harder, the Cleveland expert who also has waited two days. Of course, Manager Jimmy Dykes' desire to pitch Lee isn't exactly because he wants to prove he outsmarted the Cleveland club last winter. It's because a southpaw increases the chances of preventing the Indians' left handed batters from aiming at the short right field fence here.

Whitehead on Last Leg.

The case of Johnny Whitehead, the Sox pitcher who persists in ignoring his physical condition, is rapidly coming to a head. Dykes has been muttering about it for a year, but beyond issuing threats and imposing a fine last season he has done nothing.

When the Sox arrived at the park today for a workout despite the rain there was one absentee. It was Whitehead, who remained in the hotel to sleep.

Dykes refuses to state exactly what he has in mind, but it is known that he has attempted all manner of deals involving Whitehead. He recently suggested to Manager Mike Cochrane of the Tigers that Detroit take Whitehead for Jake Wade, a southpaw. Cochrane was willing to take Whitehead at the waiver price, but Dykes declined. Whitehead also was offered to Cleveland for Pitcher Dennis Galehouse. This proposal likewise was turned down.

The problem probably will be solved by deporting Whitehead to the St. Paul American association club where his salary will be far less than he receives now. According to Dykes the period under which Whitehead can be optioned to a minor league team without asking waivers hasn't expired.

Two Pitchers Going.

Dykes was slightly relieved today when he received word from Chicago that the league, because the season opened a week later than usual, had extended the 23 players deadline from May 15 to May 23. Dykes welcomed the week of grace because it will give him more time to consider some of his present problems.

An outfielder must be released. This is a question involving Harry Steinbacher, purchased from St. Paul, and old Mule Haas. Two pitchers must be dropped and they will come from the trio made up of John Rigney, Italo Chelini, and Vernon Wilshere. If Whitehead is shipped away, Rigney and Chelini will remain.

The other release will go to Infielder Steve Mesner, the 19 year old lad from the Los Angeles club. Mesner will be returned to Los Angeles as soon as Dykes recovers from a leg ailment.

NORTHWESTERN NET TEAM PLAYS TULANE TODAY

Northwestern's tennis team will open its home season today with Tulane university of New Orleans. The match, which will start at 2 o'clock will be played on the university courts in Evanston.

Tulane, coached by Emmett Pare of Chicago, former national clay courts champion, has been undefeated in the Southeastern conference in four years. The southern squad is led by Ernie Sutter, who won the national intercollegiate singles title at Evanston last summer.

M'CARTHY WINS IN STATE HANDBALL SINGLES TOURNEY

William McCarthy of the Illinois Athletic club defeated Jack McElligott of the host club, 21-18, 21-12, last night as first round play continued at the Madison A. C. in the state singles handball tournament.

Other results:

Marty Swift, Oak Park Y. M. C. A., defeated Adam Dalberti, unattached, 21-9, 21-4.

Martin Phillips, Evanston Y. M. C. A., defeated Mike Kcnutis, Madison A. C., 21-15, 21-11.

Edmund Mechione, Illinois Athletic club, defeated John Gass, Evanston Y. M. C. A., 21-14, 21-18.

Three Day Red Visit with Cubs May Be in Vain

BY EDWARD BURNS.

It is entirely possible, on the basis of returns from the weather bureau, that the Cincinnati Reds today will end their three day visit in our city without having played any baseball.

As most fans know, Monday's scheduled contest was called off on account of cold and rainy weather and yesterday's scheduled affair also was postponed for similar reasons. The promise for today is for the same kind of weather. So it appears that enthusiasts who are panting to see the Reds perform against the Cubs will have to go to Cincinnati May 15, 16 or 17 or wait until the Reds come back to Chicago May 28, 29 and 30.

Neither Very Hot Now.

By the time those May dates roll around the Reds and Cubs probably will be better prepared to present major league baseball than they now are. The Cubs having lost 4 out of 5 and the Reds 4 out of 4, neither outfit currently can be described as a redhot attraction. Both figure to be much better a little later on [let up hope the Chicago phase of this optimism is justified]. And besides the Cubs need to conserve their pitching strength, such as it is, for games tomorrow and Friday in Pittsburgh and against the Cardinals at Wrigley field Saturday and Sunday.

In reflecting on their miserable showing to date the Cubs do not appear to be unduly alarmed about the state of affairs as developed in the first week of the National league season. Most of the anxiety has been over the physical condition of the three sorearmed gents—Gabby Hartnett, Curt Davis, and Tex Carleton. Concentrating on this trio, apparently no one in the Cub happy family has got around to noticing that Phil Cavarretta, in reverse after a sensational training season, is pounding the ball at a .125 clip and another regular outfielder, Augie Galan, is socking them out at a .238 pace.

French Still on Deck.

It is Manager Grimm's plan to keep Larry French on deck as the next Cub pitcher, if not today then in Pittsburgh. If there is no game in Pittsburgh the boss man may switch his plans and send others against the Cards, saving Larry for the season's eastern opener in Philadelphia next Tuesday.

CHICAGOLAND GETS 7 DAVIS CUP CHAIRMANSHIPS

Seven Chicagoland residents have been named chairmen of committees of the United States Lawn Tennis association, it was announced yesterday by Ralph Westcott, secretary.

Capt. James H. Bishop, Culver, Ind., was named chairman of the junior national championship committee. Others named and the committees they will head are: Leo J. Lunn, Chicago, junior national ranking; Chester C. Johnson, Oak Park, national clay court championship; Frank D. Fulton, Winnetka, junior Davis cup committee for Chicago area; William Matson Tobin, junior development; Charles S. Garland, Lake Forest, intercollegiate; H. G. Peterson, Milwaukee, junior Davis cup committee for Milwaukee area.

Mr. Westcott has been named a member of the advisory, finance, and Davis cup committees.

Yanks Release Sundra to Newark on Option

New York, April 27.—(AP)—The Yankees today announced the release of Pitcher Steven Sundra, a right hander, to their Newark farm team in the International league. Sundra, released on option, was with Newark last season after coming to the Yanks originally in a deal with Cleveland. The world champions also announced they would play exhibition games at Grand Rapids, Mich., on May 3; Indianapolis, May 14, and Akron, O., June 1.

Follies Equipment to Test Stadium Mechanical Staf

When Water Follies of 1937 opens at the Stadium Thursday of next week to run for four nights with Eleanor Holm Jarrett and a cast of forty diving and swimming champions the Stadium mechanical staf faces one of the most difficult setup tasks in the history of the big West Madison street building.

Eleanor Janett.

On Wednesday night next week Ellsworth Vines, Fred Perry and the tennis stars will be at the Stadium. The next night the water show opens. In less than twenty hours the Stadium crew must build the big tank and fill it with 80,000 gallons of water, but Supt. Donald S. MacLeod says that it can and will be done.

Water Follies of 1937 carries its own tank on a coast to coast tour this year. The tank cost $10,000 and is made of a wooden supporting frame of 18,000 feet lumber, inside of which fits a huge tarpaulin made of the same fabric as the bag of the trans-Atlantic dirigible Hindenburg.

C. Y. O. BOXERS AND ST. NORBERT COLLEGE TIE, 4-4

Green Bay, Wis., April 27.—[Special.]—The Chicago C. Y. O. boxing team battled to a 4 to 4 tie with St. Norbert college in a match witnessed by a capacity crowd of 2,000 at the Columbus Community club here tonight. Cornelius Young, C. Y. O. middleweight, stopped Pat Clark in the second round for the only knockout on the program.

The Chicagoans won the first three bouts, but St. Norbert rallied to take the next four. William Goldsmith, C. Y. O. welterweight, then squared the match by beating Savior Canadeo. Canadeo held a slight advantage until Goldsmith floored him with a hard left in the third round.

The results of other matches follow: Al Scarlatta, St. Norbert, beat Ed O'Connell; Al Ulrich, St. Norbert, beat Bill Palmer; Tom Kenneally, St. Norbert, beat Clarence Brown; John Anderson, St. Norbert, beat Tony Motisi; Jake Lampkins, C. Y. O., beat Joe Rose; Joe O'Connell, C. Y. O., beat Lauron Chesley.

CHICAGO MEETS NOTRE DAME IN TENNIS TODAY

The University of Chicago tennis team faces a heavy schedule this week with meets against Notre Dame, Indiana, and Illinois.

Notre Dame will invade the Midway this afternoon. Indiana opens its conference schedule Friday on the Midway courts and on Saturday Coach Wally Hebert's team travels to Champaign for a conference match with the Illini.

Here's How to Guard Dogs from Rabies

BY BOB BECKER.

As long as there are stray dogs on the streets rabies will continue to worry both city officials and dog owners. This is the statement of a prominent Chicago veterinarian who has watched rabies scares come and go in Chicago over a period of many years.

The fact that cities like Chicago do have a problem of rabies control is no reason for dog owners to get panicky about the disease. If a dog owner takes care of his pet there is little need for worry about rabies.

A Few Pointers.

Here are several facts about rabies for all dog owners [and others] to keep in mind during the coming months:

1 Rabies is not "picked up" like several other diseases that a dog may have. For example, rabies is not contracted like distemper. Your dog cannot get rabies "out of the air." Therefore if a dog owner keeps his pet under control, exercises him on leash, and keeps him away from other dogs there is practically no chance for that dog to become infected with rabies.

2. When a dog does contract rabies it is through direct contact with an infected dog. Then the disease is transmitted by a bite or similar injury which puts the infection directly into the body of the animal. Rabid dogs have been muzzled and placed in kennels with healthy dogs. The latter, not being bitten by the rabid dog, did not contract rabies.

Bite Transmits Disease.

It is the bite of the rabid dog that is the source of danger to other dogs and humans. So there is no need for any dog owner to get alarmed about his dog developing rabies as long as it is not exposed to the bite of an infected dog.

3 Vaccination against rabies has been found helpful in epidemics, but no dog owner should consider vaccination as a 100 per cent guarantee against a dog getting rabies. Just because a dog has been vaccinated against rabies there is no reason why the owner should feel that it has a special privilege to run the streets.

Authorities point out that the wise dog owner keeps his pet off the streets at all times. The dog that is allowed to run at will develops into a vagabond, has less regard for its obligation to the home, stands a chance to get injured by automobiles, and may be a factor in the spread of rabies.

GERMAN OFFICIAL GIVES VIEWS ON SCHMELING CASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 27.—Egon Muller, organization director of the German government's department of boxing, today summed up his country's official attitude toward the dispute over Max Schmeling's right to meet James Braddock for the world's heavyweight championship.

"Schmeling is not a man to seek the assistance of the law in getting the title bout which should come to him as a natural right," Muller said. "He asks fair play rather than a hide and seek policy.

Game and Fish Commissioners Convene Today

State game and fish commissioners from 35 states will gather today in the Sherman hotel for the annual meeting of the National Planning Council of Commercial and Game Fish Commissioners.

Frank T. Bell, United States Commissioner of fisheries, will preside over the meeting which will consider the problem of closer coöperation between federal and state governments in the control of fisheries. The meeting is being held in connection with the annual convention of the Izaak Walton League of America which opens its three day session at the Sherman tomorrow.

Members of the Izaak Walton league from all parts of the country will be in attendance at the convention to take part in the program devoted to the problems of wild life conservation, reforestation, and water restoration. Nationally known authorities on all phases of these problems will speak.

Gifford Pinchot, former governor of Pennsylvania, who was instrumental in the establishment of national forests to prevent exploitation of timber resources, will address the convention on the proposals for reorganizing federal departments dealing with conservation and wild life, and creating a department of conservation in the federal government with full cabinet status.

ILLINOIS BOWLER SHOOTS 2,070; A. B. C. RECORD

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—The sensational rolling which has featured the thirty-seventh annual American Bowling congress tournament was climaxed tonight when Max Stein, 29 year old Belleville, Ill., bowler, hung up a 2,070 all events total. The former record of 2,060 was made by Gillis Zunker of Milwaukee at the Columbus tourney four years ago.

Stein rolled 658 in the team event last night on games of 221, 224, 213. Paired with Walter Hartman in the doubles today, Stein shot games of 268, 211, 228 for 707, helping this combination tie Fred Root and Jim Milota of Cleveland for fourth place with 1,317. Stein then scored games of 238, 258, 210 for 705 to tie John Gunbosh of Akron for ninth in the singles.

Stein's previous A. B. C. competition was limited to the Indianapolis tourney last year, where he failed to finish in the prize class. He has been bowling only six years and has been averaging 200 for the last two seasons in league competition.

Rowe Enters Hospital for Sinus Treatment

Detroit, Mich., April 27.—[Special.]—Lynwood [Schoolboy] Rowe, Detroit Tiger pitcher, entered a hospital today for treatment of a sinus infection. He expected to remain there for several days. Rowe contracted a cold during the trip north from Florida, but pitched part of a game against the White Sox Sunday.

Prep Javelin Star Threatens U. S. Collegiate Mark

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 27.—(AP)—An 18 year old Oklahoma City boy whose sensational javelin heaves made him a United States Olympic team contender as a junior in high school, is crowding the national collegiate record closer with every toss.

Bob Peoples, powerfully built Classen High school senior, recently made his best throw of 225.5 feet. The toss fell only 3.5 feet short of the national collegiate record of 229 feet held by Alton Terry of Hardin-Simmons.

The brown haired 185 pounder, who literally throws the javelin farther every time he tries, has bettered both the national and state high school records several times, although his marks have not been recognized as official. This spring he hopes to break the national interscholastic mark of 205 feet 1¼ inches held by De Mers of Sand Point, Idaho. His ambition is to better all American records.

As a sophomore, his best toss was 140 feet. At the start of his junior year he hurdled the spear 160 feet before a wrenched back forced him out for part of the season. Coming back after his injury, he broke the state high school record with a heave of 198 feet and later, while trying out for the United States Olympic team, threw the javelin 215 feet. He previously had bettered the national high school record with a throw of 210 feet.

"Peoples is a fine, high type boy," commented Skimmer Miller, his coach. "He's a good all around track man and the best high school full back in the United States."

FRICK SUGGESTS PAUL DEAN TAKE 'CURE' IN MINORS

Buffalo, N. Y., April 27.—(AP)—Ford Frick, president of the National league, had a lot of ideas today about baseball, including one that "Paul Dean is through because he has lost his confidence." He said the St. Louis Cardinal, brother of Dizzy Dean, has a bad case of "mental trouble, and maybe a year in the minors would cure him."

Frick had no hesitancy over commenting about Bob Feller of Cleveland.

"He's a great prospect," he said, "but he's as wild as a hawk and has a lot of pitching defects that only experience will iron out. He's got a jerky delivery and he must learn to get his body behind the pitch. But he'll be a swell pitcher when he's had a lot of coaching, and he'll get what he needs right up in the major leagues."

He called Mrs. Dizzy Dean "a highly dominating personality," and reiterated that the Giants, Cards, Cubs, Pirates, and Reds will be the first five clubs in the National league.

"Any one of them can be first and any one of them can be fifth," he said.

CUMMINGS ASKS FOR MORE TEETH IN TRUST LAWS

Proposal Made in Letter to President.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 27.—Revision of the anti-trust laws to put more teeth into their operation against monopolies and unfair trade practices was recommemnded to President Roosevelt today by Attorney General Homer Cummings.

Cummings urged the appointment of a special committee to study the anti-trust laws with a view to the renofvation. At a press conference President Roosevelt indicated no amendments to existing laws can be expected at the present session of congress. A committee report could not be ready for a year, it was said.

Cites Identical Bidding.

Revision of the anti-trust laws was asked in a letter in which Cummings reported the result of an inquiry into alleged identical bidding on government contracts. Charges of identical bidding on government steel orders was made by Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes a year ago.

During the department of justice investigation, cries of collusion on federal orders were raised on the opening of navy and other departmental bids. Cummings reported that his investigation had not produced sufficient evidence to make advisable proceedings in court "under the anti-trust acts, as they have been construed by the courts."

Cummings implied that the courts were to blame for the New Deal's failure to prosecute under the anti-trust laws. The New Deal suspended the anti-trust laws under the NRA and the legal weapon was returned to administration by the Supreme court in outlawing the blue eagle.

Trust Weapon Revived.

The New Deal seized upon the weapon last week to bring dissolution proceedings against the Aluminum Company of America, which is controled by Andrew Mellon, who is the target of a back income tax actin for $3,000,000.

"A long experience with the difficulties of enforcement furnishes a sound basis for improving the enforcement machinery," Cummings said. "This department has labored with inadequate means to enforce laws that do not provide sufficient legal weapons to make enforcement effective.

"I therefore recommend that there be set up a committee to study the anti-trust laws as to their adequacy, their enforcement and the desirability of amendment, extension and clarification."

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Spring Advances.

April 27, 1937.

A TRIP through the lowland woods on the Wheaton farm yesterday revealed that several low growing trees and shrubs are rapidly turning green. Hawthorn trees and gooseberry bushes seem to be about the farthest advanced. Leaves on gooseberry bushes are about the size of a dime, and leaf buds on the hawthorns are beginning to open. Leaf buds are unfolding on willow trees and soft maple sprouts. Sap is flowing in the larger trees.

Along the slopes leading down to the lowlands, leaf buds of wild cherry and wild crab are opening. The leaves are ready to open on the chestnut trees.

In the farm yards, maples, elms, and evergreen trees are opening their leaf buds. The buds are swelling on the cherry and apple trees in the orchards.

Flowers Coming Out.

Golden bell forsythia bushes will be the first to open their flowers on the farm. A little sunshine will bring them out this week. Snowball bushes will be green soon; the leaf and flower buds are beginning to swell.

Lilacs may open their blossoms somewhat earlier than usual this year. Usually they do not bloom much before the middle of May in this section. At the Wheaton farm the Persian, French, and Hungarian varieties of lilacs already are beginning to open their leaf buds. The flowering buds are expanding on the Persian and French bushes. The Hungarians bloom after the Persians and French, according to the gardeners. They have observed the Hungarian bushes do not usually bloom until the early part of June.

Jonquils and hyacinths blossomed about the middle of last week. They are growing on the sunny side of shrubbery borders.

44 Trees Set Out.

The ground dried off enough on the high spots for men at the Wheaton farm to get in a few licks in the fields last week. Between showers they were able to run their disks for a half day in a field where corn was grown last summer.

The Lamb Count.

Readers who are keeping tab on the Wheaton farm lamb crop will be interested in the flockmaster's last count. Forty-eight of the purebred Southdown Canadian ewes have saved 64 lambs. There are 16 more yet to lamb. Two of the yearling Canadian ewes lost their lambs and one ewe died.

All but six of the grade ewes have lambed. One hundred thirty-eight ewes have saved 217 lambs.

BUSINESS BITS

J. F. T. O'Connor, controler of the currency of the United States, will address the 41st annual convention of the Indiana Bankers' association at Indianapolis May 6.

Herbert J. Lorber, secretary and treasurer of Rollins-Burdick-Hunter company, has been elected a director of the Metropolitan Trust company.

Roy Ozanne, merchandising counsellor to the Merchandise Mart, said yesterday that there has been a slackening of retail sales throughout the midwest for the past three weeks. Resistance to higher prices and unseasonable weather caused the letdown, he said.

The largest single day's business in several years was transacted yesterday by Carson Pirie, Scott & Co., wholesale, Frederick H. Scott, vice president, announced last night. It was the fifth annual city and suburdan day. More than 1,600 buyers registered, with a gain of 25 per cent in dollar volume of sales over the best day of 1936, he said.

Joseph E. Sheridan, manager of G. F. Diehl & Co., Chicago commission merchants, and Jacques S. Cohen, partner of Baar, Cohen & Co., New York City, were elected to membership on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday.

Laurence A. Murphy of Moline, Ill., has been elected a director of Deere & Co. He is manager of the John Deere Plow works.

Safeway Stores Delays Financing Indefinitly

San Francisco, Cal., April 27.—[Special.]—Refinancing plans of Safeway Stores, Inc., have been postponed indefinitely because of unsatisfactory conditions in the security market, the company announced today. Holders of 7 per cent preferred stock scheduled for redemption have been notified that the issue will not be called. The company also announced postponement of the offering of a $20,000,000 debenture issue.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Wednesday, April 28, 1937.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

American Can.

Investors' Guide: Please give me all information on American Can. Did the corporation pay dividends during the depression years?—R. B.

Answer: The American Can company has been a dominant factor in the production of metal containers since its formation in 1901. It is estimated to make about two-fifths of all cans manufactured in the United States, almost twice as many as its nearest competitor.

Production is about equally divided into two main classifications. "Packers cans" are used principally as containers for perishable food products. "General line cans" are made in a wide variety of sizes and shapes for use by many industries—paints, varnishes, drugs and tobacco. Included in this classification are the newer products such as fiber containers for milk and cans for lubricating oil, frozen foods and beer.

Location of the company's plants—45 in the United States, 5 in Canada and 2 in Hawaii—has been determined by natural selection. The resulting wide geographical distribution minimizes effects of local industrial disturbances or crop failures.

Although hurt by depression, earnings were fairly stable. A decline from 1934 to 1935 was attributed partly to heavy experimental cost. Figures for 1936 were affected by downward revision of contracts by as much as 8 per cent to comply with provisions of the Robinson-Patman act against price and discount discrimination. The company estimates that a 10 per cent increase in sales will be required in 1937 to offset effects of the law. It reported a 10 per cent gain in general line sales and a gain of 23 per cent in the widely fluctuating packers line during the first two months of 1937.

Net income was $17,227,000 or $5.80 per common share in 1936, compared with $17,310,000, or $5.83 a share in 1935, $19,523,000 or $6.72 in 1934, $15,357,000 or $5.04 in 1933 and a depression low of $10,957,000 or $3.26 in 1932. Peak net income was $22,884,000 or $8.08 a share in 1930.

Current assets were $58,835,000 and current liabilities were $18,853,000 on Dec. 31, 1936.

Dividends have been paid regularly since 1923 on both preferred and common stocks. An annual rate of $4 has been maintained on the common since 1930 with extras of $1 each in 1930, 1931, and 1934, and $2 in 1936.

Both issues are high grade.

BUTTER, EGGS, POTATOES

Egg futures declined yesterday on the Mercantile exchange to a new low level for the season. Selling was induced by continued large receipts. Closing trades were at net loses of ¼@½ cent with October at 24 cents a dozen. Sales of futures yesterday were 205 cars. During the week ending April 24 stocks of eggs in cold storage increased 553,000 cases, and are now 603,000 cases in excess of the stock on hand a year ago.

Butter futures were unchanged to ¼ cent higher with November at 31¼ cents a pound. Sales, 23 cars. Potatoes closed unchanged to 5 cents higher with May at $2.50 per 100 pounds. Sales, 24 cars. Range of prices on futures follow:

BACK DIVIDENDS CUT TO $5.25 BY U. S. STEEL

First Quarter Profit Rises Sharply.

Stock Up in Coast Trade

San Francisco, Cal., April 27.—(AP)—Moderate buying interest was exhibited in United States Steel common stock on the San Francisco Curb exchange today after announcement of a $5.75 dividend having been declared on preferred stock. The price advanced from $107.75 a share to $108.50, or 50 cents above the New York close. More than 1,100 shares changed hands.

Resumption of dividends on common stock of the United States Steel corporation was brought a step nearer yesterday when directors voted a dividend of $5.75 on preferred shares. The disbursement includes the regular $1.75 quarterly dividend and $4 to apply on arrears, payable May 29 to stockholders of record May 1. The action cuts preferred stock dividend accumulations to $5.25 a share, which must be paid off before common dividends can be resumed. The last dividend on the common stock was paid in March, 1932. The payment ordered yesterday totals $20,716,163.

Coincident with the dividend announcement the corporation issued its first quarter earnings report showing the largest profit for the period since 1930. Net income was $28,561,533, equal to $2.55 a share after provision for quarterly dividend requirements on preferred stock.

The first quarter results compare with net income of $3,376,304 in the initial three months of 1936, which failed to cover preferred dividends. In the December quarter last year profit was $20,750,870, or $1.65 a share on the common.

The corporation reported that first quarter operations averaged 82.6 per cent of capacity with production climbing progressively during the period. Shipments for the period totaled 3,698,041 tons. Operations averaged 45.5 per cent in the first three months of 1936 and shipments totaled 2,144,570 tons of steel.

U. S. Steel's working assets on March 31 totaled $411,081,436, exclusive of dividends declared and unpaid, compared with $391,330,566 a year earlier.

Employes Increase.

An increase was reported in the number of employés to 246,321 in the first quarter, compared with 198,269 in the first quarter of 1936. The total pay roll this year was $104,456,482, against $69,259,055.

Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation, fourth ranking steel company, yesterday reported first quarter net income of $1,982,394, compared with a deficit of $933,279 in corresponding 1936 period. The corporation paid out $1,027,493 in dividends on preferred stock during the quarter, leaving accumulations of $26.25 a share. A balance of $954,901 was carried to surplus.

SEES THREAT TO RECOVERY.

Cleveland, O., April 27.—[Special.]—H. G. Dalton, chairman of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, told stockholders at the annual meeting today that the condition of the federal government's finances constitutes a threat to future economic recovery.

"There seems to be no immediate prospect that the federal government will balance its budget and unbalanced budgets must mean either more borrowing or heavier taxes, or both," he said. "Either course will result in lowering the purchasing power of the public and have the effect ultimately of lowering our standard of living. Decreased purchasing power results in lessened operations and less employment and creates the vicious cycle which should be avoided."

Withdraw Company Union Support.

To comply with provisions of the Wagner labor act the company has withdrawn its financial support of the employés' representation plan, Dalton said. The plan has been in operation since 1918.

Stockholders elected George T. Bishop, Cleveland financier, a director, to succeed W. E. Meub, vice president. Directors will act on dividends at their May meeting.

The Otis Steel company announced today an estimated net profit of $702,396 for the first quarter of 1937, compared with $148,676 for the corresponding period last year.

Steel Outlook Termed Good.

Sharon, Pa., April 27.—[Special.]—Immediate prospects in the steel industry are reasonably good, Henry A. Roemer, president of the Sharon Steel corporation, told stockholders today.

"Incoming business," he said, "is very encouraging. The backlog is the largest in our history. Operations are steady and seem assured for some time."

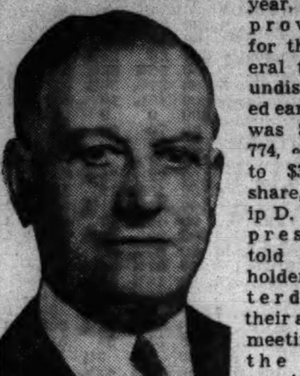
J. Reid Evans, secretary-treasurer, was elected a director to replace William R. Scott, resigned.

Ickes Urges 'Hot Oil' Act Be Made Permanent Law

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Interior Ickes today urged the house interstate commerce commission to make permanent the Connolly "hot oil" act which expires this year. He told the committee that the United States was rapidly using up its oil reserves and warned that this nation might suffer a shortage before other nations deplete their reserves.

Inland Steel Earnings Set New Record

Net profit of the Inland Steel company for the first quarter of this year, before provision for the federal tax on undistributed earnings, was $5,008,774, equal to $3.34 a share, Philip D. Block, president, told stockholders yesterday at their annual meeting in the company's offices in the First National Bank building.



Philip D. Block.

This was the largest net profit for any quarter in the company's history and compared with a net profit of $1,934,632, or $1.34 a share, in the first quarter of last year.

Block also announced that the company will pay an extra dividend of 50 cents in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of $1. Both dividends are payable June 14 to stock of record May 14.

Stock Offering Approved.

The stockholders approved proposals to offer to themselves 74,950 shares of capital stock and to amend the articles of incorporation to permit the offering of 26,050 shares to officers and employés. Proceeds from sale of the stock and other money in the company's treasury will be used to pay for improvements, including new blast furnaces, and other corporate purposes.

The stock will be offered to stockholders on a basis of one share for each 20 shares held. The offering price will be determined by the directors prior to the effective date of the registration statement with the Securities and Exchange commission, which will be in the middle of May.

At the conclusion of the meeting Block said that business at present is good, the total for April being exceptionally good.

Calls Prospects Good.

He said prospects were good for the balance of the second quarter and, unless something unexpected arises, they appear good for the third quarter.

Block said he agreed with other statements that the action of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation in announcing that it will maintain second quarter prices in the third quarter indicates that there will be no more steel price boosts this year.

"I am inclined to think that prices have been advanced too fast," he said, "and that there should be a brake on further increases. However, prices have not risen sufficiently to compensate for the increased costs resulting from wage boosts and other factors."

Block said the company abandoned its employé representation plan immediately after the Wagner act was upheld by the Supreme court.

LIFE INSURANCE MEN PRAISE NEW ILLINOIS CODE

Unanimous approval of the new Illinois insurance code was voted yesterday by directors of the Chicago Association of Life Underwriters. The code has been passed by the state senate and action is pending before the house.

"The directors, in common with other insurance interests supporting the code, feel that it may not be perfect in every detail, but it represents the best thought and effort of many individuals who have worked diligently on it for the last three years," the directors said.

"They also express the opinion that if the code is passed Illinois will be put in the forefront as a state that is attempting to protect the insuring public by making the companies sound, the policy contracts fair and equitable, and the agents honest and competent, so far as such matters can be governed by law."

STRAN-STEEL CO. IS PURCHASED BY GREAT LAKES

Detroit, Mich., April 27.—(AP)—The Great Lakes Steel corporation announced today the purchase of the Stran-Steel corporation, a subsidiary of Kelsey-Hayes Wheel company, Detroit. No sale price was disclosed.

Stran-Steel, one of the country's largest manufacturers of fabricated steel for home construction, will be known as the Stran-Steel division of the Great Lakes Steel corporation, a unit of the National Steel corporation.

Steel fabricated by Stran-Steel, organized in 1933, will be produced in the Ecorse plant.

Gen. Dawes Elected Head of Stevens Hotel Board

Gen. Charles G. Dawes was elected chairman of the board of the Stevens Hotel corporation at a meeting of directors yesterday. He succeeds his brother, Rufus C. Dawes. The present company is the successor of the old Stevens Hotel company, which underwent reorganization under section 77B of the bankruptcy act.

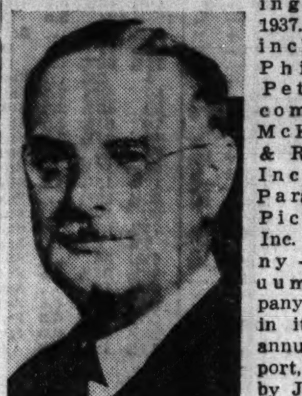
PROFITS OF BIG FIRMS RISE IN FIRST QUARTER

Socony '36 Earnings Best on Record.

More leading companies yesterday reported sharp improvement in earnings for 1937. These included Phillips Petroleum company, McKesson & Robbins, Inc., and Paramount Pictures, Inc. Socony-Vacuum Company, Inc., in its 1936 annual report, issued by John A. Brown, president, reported the best earnings on record.



John A. Brown.

In the quarter ended March 31, Phillips Petroleum earned $5,615,634, equal to $1.26 a share on 4,449,052 shares, compared with $3,156,159, or 76 cents a share on 4,153,235 shares, in the corresponding period of 1936.

McKesson & Robbins, drug manufacturers and liquor distributors, had net profit of $979,691 or 45 cents a common share for the March quarter, against $551,005 or 12 cents a share for the first quarter of 1936.

Paramount Has Sharp Gain.

Consolidated net profit of Paramount Pictures for the first quarter was estimated at $2,011,000 or 72 cents a common share. In the first quarter of 1936 the company had a profit of $718,922, or 15 cents a share on common.

Socony-Vacuum reported net earnings of $42,909,363 or $1.38 a share for 1936, compared with $22,525,892 or 72 cents a share in 1935. The company paid $21,805,123 in dividends last year, against $9,345,442 in the preceding year.

Monsanto Chemical company reported a new high in earnings for the first quarter of $1,333,854, equal to $1.20 a share on the capital stock. This compares with net profit of $1,032,852 or $1.03 a share in the first quarter of 1936.

Interchemical Earns More.

Interchemical corporation [formerly International Printing Ink corporation] reported first quarter net profit of $405,086, or $1.05 a common share after preferred dividend requirements. This compares with $242,801 or 54 cents a share for the first three months of last year.

Net income of Southern California Edison company for the initial quarter of the year totaled $2,754,646, or 47 cents a common share, against $2,737,134 or 46 cents a share in the first quarter of 1936.

United Aircraft corporation reported net profit of $698,852 for the March quarter of 1937. This is equal to 27 cents a share on capital stock to be outstanding when all exchanges for common stock of United Aircraft and Transportation corporation have been completed.

3 Billion Rail Control Sold for 6⅓ Millions

New York, April 27.—(AP)—For a price of $6,375,000, Robert R. Young, Frank F. Kolbe and Allan P. Kirby have acquired the key securities controlling the $3,000,000,000 Van Sweringen railroads, it was disclosed tonight. Young issued a printed statement which said:

"The price which the purchasing group agreed to pay was $6,375,000, payable $4,000,000 in cash and the balance in a two year note bearing interest at 2½ per cent, due May 4, 1939."

This is the first disclosure of the amount involved in the transaction announced yesterday whereby the three compartively young and little known financiers acquired Midamerica corporation from a charitable foundation formed a month ago by George A. Ball, Muncie, Ind., capitalist.

Price Below Guesses.

The sum was less than most Wall street guesses, which had ranged from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000.

When George A. Ball bought the securities, through Midamerica corporation, which he formed for the purpose, at a public auction two years ago, the price paid was $3,121,000.

Rather than make a personal profit from the transaction, however, the Muncie capitalist placed Midamerica with its holdings in a charitable fund, the George and Frances Ball Foundation.

The purchase made by the Young-Kolbe-Kirby group, it was explained, consists of bonds, preferred and common stock of Alleghany corporation, chief holding company in the Van Sweringen setup, "and miscellaneous accounts receivable, notes receivable, and securities related to the Cleveland real estate properties [of the late Van Sweringen brothers]."

The $2,375,000 2½ per cent note, the statement said, was secured in part by some of the securities purchased.

Plan to Unscramble Setup.

Young said it was the plan of his group "to shrink the entire corporate structure" rather than expand it. He intimated that Midamerica corporation would be eliminated, and probably several other of the interlocking holding companies by which the Van Sweringens built up their intricate financial structure.

"We hope to eliminate either Chesapeake corporation or Alleghany corporation," he said with respect to two of the major holding companies.

Asked to comment on the announcement of Senator Wheeler [D., Mont.] that the senate interstate commerce commission would inquire into the buyers and their backers, he recalled the buyers' statement that they were under no obligations to any shippers or financial interests. On the question of "backers," he declared with emphasis:

"We are willing to go on oath that it is our own money."

Young said it was their plan eventually to unify the eastern and western roads into separate systems.

Two Possible Systems.

This would presumably mean bringing together the Chesapeake and Ohio, Erie, Nickel Plate and Pere Marquette into a single system extending from St. Louis and Chicago to the Atlantic seaboard, while the Missouri Pacific group of roads would be realized into a system extending from the Mississippi valley into the west and southwest.

He made it clear, however, that there were no immediate plans toward unification of the roads.

STUDEBAKER REPORTS PROFITS OF $699,459 FOR FIRST QUARTER

Net income of Studebaker corporation during the first quarter of 1937 was $699,459, or 32 cents a share on the 2,183,243 shares of common stock outstanding. The figure was after all charges except the federal tax on undistributed profits. Sales were $19,308,220, compared with $15,738,737 in the corresponding period last year.

Earnings are not strictly comparable with those for the first three months of 1936, inasmuch as no provision was made for federal income taxes in the profit of $104,665 reported for the first quarter of last year. Profit was $822,459 before income taxes in the first quarter this year.

SEC ASKS 20 FIRMS TO AID IN MARKET STUDY

New York, April 27.—[Special.]—Twenty New York Stock exchange member firms have been requested by the Securities and Exchange commission to supply monthly information on their accounts so as to give the commission a better picture of the liquidity of customers' accounts, it was learned today.

The information is being sought on a basis of coöperation, the commission promising to give the firms the result of their study of the accounts in return for their furnishing the information.

For about a year five of the large houses have supplied the commission with special reports. These houses are understood to be Abbott, Proctor & Paine, E. A. Pierce & Co., Paine, Webber & Co., Fenner & Beane, and Charles D. Barney & Co.

By enlisting the coöperation of twenty additional houses the commission believes a better view of the market's condition can be obtained.

STEEL ORDERS DURING MARCH CLIMB SHARPLY

New orders for fabricated steel totaled 182,049 tons during March, compared with 88,946 in February and 108,826 in March a year ago, the American Iron and Steel Institute announced yesterday. Shipments during March amounted to 131,691 tons, against 91,848 in February and 107,687 in March, 1936.

The magazine Daily Metal Trade said yesterday that steel buying has declined noticeably following affirmation of third quarter prices at first quarter levels. However, the journal said, backlogs are still so heavy that steel operations will continue at a high rate into the summer.

Number one heavy melting scrap steel sold below $22 a ton at Pittsburgh yesterday, Dow, Jones and company reported. This is the first known sale since a transaction was made at $23.50 a ton a few weeks ago, the agency said.

Gay Lone Choice as Head of N. Y. Stock Exchange

New York, April 17.—(AP)—Reëlection of Charles R. Gay as president of the New York Stock exchange was assured today when no opposition ticket or candidates were nominated in the two week period expiring yesterday set aside for such nominations. Election of officers will be held May 10.

Grain Prices Rebound; Corn Soars 4 Cents

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Monday.	Week ago.	Month ago.
Wheat	$1.17¾	$1.15	$1.21⅛	$1.29⅝
Corn	1.17⅝	1.13⅞	1.18¼	1.15½
Oats	.44⅞	.43½	.44⅞	.47
Rye	1.00½	.98½	1.05	1.08⅝
Soy beans	1.69	1.68⅝	1.74	1.59¼

Grain markets advanced sharply yesterday, with the May delivery of corn soaring 4 cents a bushel to $1.27⅛, the maximum permitted for one day under exchange regulations. Closing trades on all grains were at the top, with wheat gaining as much as 2⅝ cents. Oats were up 1⅞ cents at the extreme, while rye was 2¾ cents higher, the May delivery in all instances showing the greatest appreciation.

Much more optimistic views were expressed by traders yesterday as the result of the better action of security and commodity markets both in the United States and abroad.

A marked revival in the international demand for cash wheat helped the upturn.

No Pressure on Corn.

There was no pressure on the corn market from the start. Disclosure of supplies of cash corn in local public elevators and available for delivery on May contracts tended to increase bullish sentiment.

Large shipments of Argentine and South African cash corn are expected to reach Chicago shortly, but the Argentine grain is not available for delivery on future contracts on the Chicago Board of Trade.

How much Argentine and South African corn has been bought to come to Chicago is a mystery to the trade, but leading cash handlers assert the amount is substantial. Estimates were heard yesterday that there is a prospect of 2,000,000 bushels of South African corn being received, but there was said to be some doubt as to whether export licenses could be obtained for that amount of grain.

Kansas Wheat Deteriorates.

Bullish sentiment in wheat increased by the Kansas weekly crop report, which stressed deterioration in the outlook for the new winter wheat crop in the western third and part of the central third of that state due to acute shortage of moisture throughout that area.

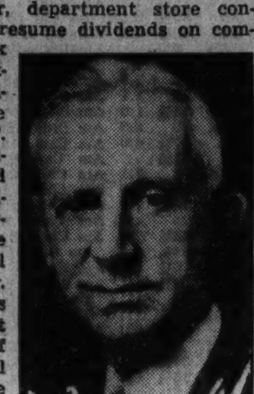
Price fluctuations in wheat during the last month have been the most violent in years. The May delivery in Liverpool has fluctuated 53 cents a bushel, taking the various swings in the market since April 6. The high and low levels on May wheat in the leading markets at approximate dates compare as follows:

	Low. April 27.	High. April 19.	Low. April 17.	High. April 6.
Chicago	$1.25⅛	$1.37	$1.29	$1.45⅛
Kansas City	1.19⅝	1.29⅝	1.22	1.36¼
Winnipeg	1.24	1.38⅞	1.30	1.51⅝
Liverpool	1.32⅛	1.44¼	1.29¾	1.57⅛
Buen. Aires	1.19⅝	1.23½	1.12¼	1.32⅝
Rotterdam	1.29⅝	1.38⅛	1.26⅛	1.48

Fair May Pay Dividends on Common Stock

BY JOHN FISHER.

The Fair, department store concern, may resume dividends on common stock shortly after the middle of the year, D. F. Kelly, president, told stockholders yesterday at the annual meeting. Operations for the first quarter of the fiscal year, he said, resulted in a profit.



D. F. Kelly.

Kelly said the company chose to pay a federal surtax of $6,450 on undistributed profits for 1936 rather than distribute them to stockholders, because the company needed cash to stock up inventories because of rising prices.

"We could have paid a dividend of possibly 25 cents so far this year," said Kelly, "but we have an efficient board which believes it necessary to conserve our funds. Unless the world crashes, prices are undoubtedly going up. It has been necessary to stock up inventories and we did not think it desirable to make additional bank loans for that purpose."

Substantial Profit Expected.

Through inventory purchases at low prices the company should realize a substantial profit on the merchandise acquired, he said.

Both Kelly and S. S. Kresge, chairman, predicted The Fair will have a much more satisfactory year in 1937 than in 1936. Kelly said the company will realize a profit for the quarter ending April 30, compared with a loss in the corresponding period of 1936. In the year ended last Jan. 31, as previously reported, the company earned $333,297, best since 1930.

A few persons among the thirty-five stockholders, officers, and directors present criticized the management for not paying dividends on common stock. None have been disbursed since 1931.

"Believe me," Kresge said, "there is no one here that this concerns so much as Mr. Kelly and myself. It would make us very happy to have you receive dividends. I came into the business with a purchase of 100,000 shares and am sticking with The Fair because I believe in it. If you wish to replace me as chairman of the board that is within your hands."

Favors Dividend Decision.

Charles Y. Freeman, counsel for the company and a director, asserted that he is not in favor of dividends as long as it means borrowing from banks to finance inventories, even if such a stand resulted in defeat for reëlection to the board.

He was reëlected without opposition along with the other directors. Two new members were named, W. E. Killian and H. E. Barnes, to fill vacancies caused by the resignations of Jacob Espovich and A. Schindel. All officers were also reëlected. A resolution to issue quarterly earning statements was carried.

Kelly said the company has had no labor troubles and that salaries and wages throughout the store compare favorably with those of other stores. The company has a system, he pointed out, whereby employés may borrow money from the company, without interest, besides offering salespeople commissions and bonuses.

CHIEF FOREIGN CURRENCIES RISE AGAINST DOLLAR

Principal foreign currencies continued to advance against the dollar yesterday in trading at New York. The pound sterling rose ¼ of a cent, French francs, 0.00⅞ of a cent; Dutch guilders, 0.07 of a cent, and Swiss francs, 0.04 of a cent.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported that gold engagements abroad included $1,907,000 from England. Imports of $8,636,900 gold arrived, including $5,374,600 from England, $2,546,700 from Canada, $563,000 from France, and $152,600 from India. The treasury department announced that the inactive gold fund stood at $531,567,424 on April 24, an increase of $2,400,000 over the preceding day.

STOCKS RALLY; PIVOTAL ISSUES LEAD IN UPTURN

But Traders Follow Rise Cautiously.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 27.—Shaking off the forces that had pulled it downward for the last four sessions, the stock exchange developed a decided buoyant tendency today which resulted in advances ranging from fractions to around 3 points. Several important industrial issues, as well as a number of rails, featured the upswing. Utilities for the most part closed fractionally higher. Volume for the day was 1,412,100 shares.

Although the advance was expected in most quarters, not many traders appeared aggressive in following it. Those that did come into the market were reported to be extremely cautious, probably in the belief that any further advance would result in more sizable selling for realization purposes, followed by a long period of backing and filling before any long terms trend became manifest. Another factor was the abatement of foreign selling pressure.

U. S. Steel Leads Rise.

The opening was active, with large blocks changing hands. U. S. Steel showed the way, opening on 3,000 shares with a gain of one point and continuing strong until it had recovered almost half of yesterday's 5¼ points drop. Other steels to join the parade were Bethlehem, up 2⅛; Crucible, up almost 2, and Acme, up 2⅛.

In the nonferrous metals group American Smelting was outstanding, gaining 2¾ points. The gains in the copper issues were not as large, but on the whole reflected the improvement in commodities. Phelps-Dodge, Kennecott, and Anaconda were leaders.

General Motors Rebounds.

Reflecting an earnings statement far higher than had been expected, General Motors came in for considerable attention and closed 1¾ points higher in heavy volume. Chrysler jumped 2¾ points.

Oil issues staged a strong comeback, featured by a 3 point bulge in Texas Corporation. Gains of 1 to 2 points were chalked up for Seaboard, Skelly, Standard of New Jersey, and Standard of California.

Other Rail Shares Rise.

Other leaders on the upside were Southern Pacific, up 2½; Southern Railway, up 1½; New York Central, up 1⅝, and Illinois Central, up nearly 1 point. Some irregularity developed in this division, however.

Farm equipment and mail order issues also responded to prospects of improvement in the agricultural regions. Deere accumulated nearly 5 points, J. I. Case and Allis-Chalmers 1 each, and Oliver Farm Equiment jumped 2 points. Montgomery Ward, among the mail orders, gained over 2 points, as did Sears-Roebuck.

Although a long list of utility shares showed plus signs, gains for the most part were fractional. Chemicals had difficulty getting beyond the fractional stage. A number of specialties made excellent showings.

Arrangements have been made for the sale of a stock exchange seat for $106,000. This is a decrease of $4,000 from the last previous transaction.

London Market Irregular.

LONDON, April 27.—[Special.]—The London Stock market closed irregular today. Iron, steel, motor, and shipping issues rallied near the close from the lows of the day but many gilt-edged securities continued weak.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

New York, April 27.—(AP)—Bonds moved quietly along narrow paths in the market today, failing to fall in with the spirited advance of listed stocks. Turnover was about equal to that of a brisk Saturday and totaled $8,918,000, face amount, for all bonds, compared with $12,157,000 Monday. Dealing in the federal list was unusually listless, both for listed bonds and over the counter.

Governments fluctuated slightly with setbacks the more numerous and extensive. Losses went to 7-32 of a point and gains to ⅛. Most changes were of negligible proportions.

Rails, utilities, and low yield corporates coasted lower, with most declines confined to fractions. Industrials held about even, and in the foreign list gains and losses about balanced.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks continued to move lower yesterday. Trading remained light at 34,000 shares. Of 110 issues traded, 34 closed higher, 49 were lower, and 27 remained unchanged. Leading issues were steady to slightly higher. Chicago corporation common was again the most active issue with 2,500 shares changing hands. The stock closed unchanged at 4¾, equal to the low for the year. Middle West rose ⅛, Central and South West gained ⅛, Borg-Warner firmed ¾, and Armour rose ⅜.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks were irregular yesterday. Changes included declines of $1 to $2 a share in Continental Illinois and First National. Northern Trust was unchanged to $5 lower and Merchandise Bank and Trust was $5 lower to $5 higher.

Commodities

World commodities rallied feebly yesterday under leadership of cotton, grains and metals as shorts covered and trade sources bought on the assumption that heavy liquidation of previous trading sessions was carried too far.

Lead futures gained about ⅛ cent a pound and copper futures were 0.02 to 0.10 cent higher, but zinc futures eased about ¼ cent a pound.

Cotton and tin recovered most of the ground lost in the selling avalanche Monday, but most other basic articles were only fractionally higher. Hides, wool tops and silver futures failed to join the general recovery. Trading in most markets was light.

Traders found cheer early in the day in firmer metal prices in London. Tin climbed and standard copper, lead and zinc also were strong. Electrolytic copper, however, declined to an American equivalent of 14.15 cents a pound.

Despite the lower quotation in London, American domestic copper was firm at 14½ cents a pound. Export copper sales were reported as low as 13.90 cents a pound and as high as 14.20 cents.

Tin advanced about 1.75 cents a pound, with metal for immediate delivery closing around 57.50 cents, but rubber failed to regain much of the ground lost Monday.

Cocoa climbed about ⅛ cent a pound, sugar prices were unchanged to fractionally higher, and coffee recorded moderate gains.

Live Stock.

Top steers yesterday sold at $16.65, a new seven year peak and the third highest April mark in the history of the Chicago stock yards. Most cattle were steady to weak, while other branches of the live stock trade ruled steady to slightly higher on light runs.

However, action was lacking in all except top grades, which have become acutely scarce due to the high cost of production on farms.

One load of 1,071 pound Missouri fed steers reached the new top, the next highest sale being $15 on 1,392 to 1,400 pound steers, with only a scattering of sales above $13.50.

Hog receipts fell well below expectations, the total at 14,000 being 26 per cent under a week ago. This decrease offset the effects of a slow trade for fresh pork. Prices were steady to 10 cents higher, both the top and average moving up 5 cents to $10.35 and $10.10, respectively.

Farmers sold lambs steady to 15 cents higher, with top Colorado wool to packers at $12.75 and the bulk at $12.50 to $12.75. Freshly shorn lambs were bought at $10.50.

Cotton.

Cotton futures advanced sharply yesterday. Deliveries of nearly 40,000 bales on May contracts at New York and New Orleans were absorbed by spot houses. While there was considerable selling of May against purchases of July in New York, the undertone was strong from the start. Aggressive short covering developed and closing trades were well toward the top. Net gains on futures in Chicago were .23 to .32 cent. Other American markets gained .15 to .26 cent a pound, the latter equal to $1.30 a bale.

Spot cotton closed 15 to 20 cents higher, with New Orleans 13.60 cents, New York 13.75 cents, and Galveston and Houston at 13.45 cents per pound. Prices [in cents per pound] follow:

Lard.

Strength in corn and other commodities brought in commission house buying of lard futures yesterday. The close was at the top with net gains of 10 to 15 cents. A good part of the buying was regarded as short covering. Shipping demand for cash lard was slow. Clear bellies [salt pork] closed unchanged to 10 cents higher. Cash lard was quoted at $11.52½; loose, $10.95; leaf, $10.87½ and clear bellies at $16.12½ per 100 pounds. Prices per 100 pounds follow:

Sugar.

NEW YORK, April 27.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was steady today with a sale confirmed of 30,000 bags of Cubas at 3.47c per lb, an advance of 2 points.

Futures moved irregularly. No. 3 after showing steadiness on further trade covering eased under scattered hedging and liquidation, while the No. 4 after declining on liquidation promoted by easiness of London rallied. There were reports that agreement had been reached on the export quotas at the international conference. No. 3 closed unchanged to 1 point net lower with sales of 3,400 tons. No. 4 closed unchanged to 1½ points net higher on sales of 15,250 tons.

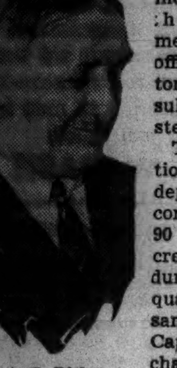
STOCKHOLDERS TOLD BUSINESS RISE CONTINUES

Improvement Disclosed at Annual Meetings.



Capt. T. Rieber.

Substantial improvement in business was reported to stockholders of many leading corporations who met yesterday at their annual meetings to hear officers and directors tell the results of their stewardship.

Texas corporation, biggest independent oil company, had a 90 per cent increase in profits during the March quarter over the same 1936 period, Capt. T. Rieber, chairman, told stockholders. Earnings for the quarter amounted to $1 a share, compared with 60 cents a share in the corresponding quarter of 1936.

"If producers, particularly independents, would cut down production I believe there might be an increase in the price of crude oil this year," he said.

Gasoline Stocks Not "Dangerous."

Gasoline stocks, which now amount to 82,000,000 barrels are not "dangerously high," he said. Purchases of crude oil by the corporation from outside sources approximate 35 per cent of requirements, against 40 per cent a year ago, he added.

Rieber said he would like to pour all earnings back into the business. "It is entirely possible," he asserted, "that some directors may get the idea—I hope they don't—that there will be something extra later in the year. That is in the laps of Washington, the oil business, and all sorts of factors."

Reflecting the strike troubles that affected General Motors since the stockholders last met, Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers, a C. I. O. unit, was nominated as a director, but received only five votes. The meeting was held in Wilmington, Del. He was nominated by Harold Hatcher of New York, who said he was a director of research of the "Council of Social Action."

Assails Big Bonuses.

John J. Gilbert of New York, proxy solicitor, voted 193 shares against all the directors elected and conducted a discussion on the company's annual report. He criticized the bonuses paid to high salaried employés and asked to see the minute books of the directors.

The presiding officer, John Thomas Smith, vice president and general counsel, replied that it would not be advisable to show the minute books to every small stockholder because competitors might become small shareholders for that purpose.

Marvin Coyle was elected a director, filling the position held by the late Alfred Swayne. Others were reelected. Officers will be elected on May 4.

Business of Eastman Kodak company continues good with domestic sales in 1937 running 15 per cent ahead of a year ago, Thomas J. Hargreave, vice president, said, at the annual meeting. There is no reason, he asserted, why gross profit margin cannot be substantially maintained.

March Best Since 1929.

Gross business of American Brake Shoe and Foundry company in March was the largest for any month since August, 1929, William B. Given, president, told stockholders at the annual meeting. In the first quarter volume was about 10 per cent below that for the 1930 period.

W. Alton Jones of New York, vice president of the Cities Service company, told stockholders at the annual meeting in Dover, Del., that until the Supreme court has passed on the constitutionality of the utilities holding company act "the company will follow a policy of rigid cash conservation." Earnings for the first quarter of 1937 were $3,741,426, it was announced. Earnings in the corresponding 1936 period were $3,094,029.

Find Japan Leads World in Developing New Products

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—Japan now leads the world in the number of new products introduced in 1936, the commerce department said today. Among the new products are two new dyes for the printing ink industry, a noncoloring enamel, a fumingant, a chemical known as "sofna" used for softening food, a smallpox vaccine and a sleeping sickness serum.

U. S. Glass to Pledge Stock for $800,000 RFC Loan

Tiffin, O., April 27.—[Special.]—Stockholders of United States Glass company today were notified that 120,000 common shares of the company have been placed in a voting trust preliminary to pledging the stock to the Reconstruction Finance corporation as security for an $800,000 loan. The money will be used for improvements at the plants here and in Pittsburgh.

Columbia Gas and Oil Quits N. Y. for Wilmington

New York, April 27.—(AP)—The main offices of the Columbia Gas and Electric corporation and the Columbia Oil and Gasoline corporation were moved to Wilmington, Del., from New York City today. The corporations operate in eleven states.

Smother Plan for State Income Tax in Florida

Tallahassee, Fla., April 27.—(AP)—Proposals for a constitutional amendment to allow a state income tax in Florida were smothered by a house committee today and there appeared little likelihood of any further action.

TWO SPECIAL TAXES DUE IN MAY; ONLY HALF OF AVERAGE HEADACHE

There will be two special taxes due in May, according to the tax calendar for 1937 issued by the industrial department of the Chicago Association of Commerce. The two tax deadlines compare with an average of four in other months.

On May 15 the retailers' occupational tax return is due on retail sales of tangible personal property sold during April, and is to be made to the state director of finance. May 31 will be the deadline for paying the federal old age benefit tax for April to the collector of internal revenue.

BOOST OUTPUT TO HALT PRICE RISE, GAY URGES

The point has been reached in the recovery cycle where American industry must finance a vast expansion in its productive capacity if price inflation is to be headed off, Charles R. Gay, president of the New York Stock exchange, said in a talk last night at the annual dinner of the Illinois Manufacturers' Costs association at the Palmer House.

America's capacity to produce has not kept pace with the growth in consumer income, which has been stimulated by the federal government's recovery policies, Gay said. The government's entire recovery program, he said, has been directed toward stimulating consumer income with no attention given to the need for new capital expenditures, the building of new factories, and the financing of new industries.

The recovery problem is now one of building up productive capacity to meet the new demand and doing it promptly enough to prevent an inflation of prices resulting from a shortage of goods, he said.

"The problem of the recovery for many concerns shifted during 1936 from one of trying to find markets for the goods they produce to one of finding ways of producing the goods in sufficient volume to fill orders," he added.

OUTPUT OF CRUDE OIL AGAIN SETS NEW HIGH LEVEL

New York, April 28.—(AP)—Pushing ahead to the highest level ever recorded, crude oil production averaged 3,496,400 barrels daily during the week ended April 24, according to the American Petroleum institute. This is an increase of 32,850 barrels a day over the preceding week.

Despite the sharp rise in the flow of oil, heavy spring consumption caused a dip in gasoline supplies at refineries, terminals, and in transit to 82,303,000 barrels at the end of the week from 82,703,000 in the previous week.

Reports received from refiners operating 89 per cent of the industry's capacity indicate the industry ran 3,125,000 barrels of crude daily into the refineries. The same companies in the preceding period started 3,055,000 barrels daily through the refining plants.

Imports of crude and refined oils totaled 1,314,000 barrels for the week, against 1,253,000 the week before.

FREIGHT TRAFIC RISE INDICATED IN RAIL REPORTS

Additional freight car loadings reports yesterday indicated a slight rise last week in total freight trafic over the preceding week, which was the second best week this year. Nearly all reporting railroads had more cars loaded and received from connections than during the preceding week, and all were ahead of the corresponding week last year. Individual reports, with comparisons, follow:

	Wk. ended April 24.	Preceding week.	Year ago.
Southern Pacific	38,055	37,535	33,957

Intl Gt Northern	5,318	4,913	4,844
Gulf Coast	5,778	5,355	4,650

The Chicago and North Western railroad reported ore loadings last week totaled 3,014 cars, compared with only 332 cars in the corresponding week last year.

EXTRA DIVIDENDS VOTED BY TWO LARGE CONCERNS

The Phillips Petroleum company yesterday voted a 25 cent extra dividend in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents. An extra payment of $1 a share and the quarterly dividend of the same amount were authorized by Sherwin-Williams company.

The Pan Handle Eastern Pipe Line company announced that dividends of $7.50 a share have been voted on the $6 class A and B preferred shares, covering the last five quarterly periods and wiping out accumulations.

Directors of the Chicago Mail Order company yesterday voted a dividend of 37½ cents a share. The company paid 50 cents a share March 1 this year and 87½ cents a share in 1936.

Cuba Names Commission to Study Works Financing

HAVANA, Cuba, April 27.—[Special.]—The Cuban government today announced appointment of a commission to study settlement of public works financing. Membership of the commission includes Marcelino Garriga, president of the treasury and budget commission, and Antonio Bravo Acosta, leader of the minority opposition.

Chicago to Sell 3 Million Water Works Certificates

Bids for the sale of $3,000,000 worth of 3½ per cent city of Chicago water certificates will be opened May 7, Robert B. Upham, city controler, announced yesterday. Proceeds will be used for the extension and betterment of the city's water system, Upham said.

REPUBLIC STEEL PLANS TO BOOST YEARLY OUTPUT

Girdler Asks Co-operation from Government.

Tom M. Girdler.

The Republic Steel corporation hopes to increase its ingot capacity from the present rate of 6,500,000 tons annually to 7,000,000 tons, T. M. Girdler, chairman of the board, said here yesterday. Girdler was in Chicago to participate in the dedication of Republic's new wire mill at its South Chicago works.

Girdler, speaking informally, said that industry has been doing its share in advancing the wellbeing of the nation, but said it should have more coöperation from government.

"We in this country are being forced to spend too much for taxes to keep too many persons in idleness," he declared. "The money being contributed to government could be spent to better advantage."

Sponsors College Scholarship.

Girdler announced that the Republic Steel corporation will sponsor an annual scholarship in agricultural engineering at Iowa State college, Ames, Ia. He explained that the purpose of the scholarship will be to further the use of steel on the farm.

More than 150 leaders in agriculture were present at the dedication of the new wire mill, which was designed to meet the special needs of rural markets. One of the outstanding features of the mill is an electrogalvanizing unit which will coat 578 miles of fence wire with 27 layers of zinc in a single day.

"When we decided to go into the manufacture of special steel products for the farm, it was not just with the idea of adding so much tonnage," Girdler said. "We were determined to contribute something to agriculture, and for that purpose established an agricultural extension bureau with an experienced agricultural engineer in charge.

Study Rural Use of Steel.

"We have been conducting extensive research with a view to the proper specification and application of steel products on the farm. This plant is just the first step in a program through which we hope to serve the nation's farms in the same way as we have its industries—with special steels for special purposes."

Girdler recalled that he was brought up on a farm and that he earned his first money—fifty cents a day—by pulling weeds.

The new wire mill is described as unique in the country. Recently completed by the Austin company, builders, one of its features is an arrangement whereby belts operating the intricate machinery are carried in tunnels instead of overhead. Glass brick is used to replace the conventional windows in the cleaning house.

REPUBLIC PROFITS SOAR.

Cleveland, O., April 27.—(AP)—The Republic Steel corporation and subsidiaries reported today consolidated net profit for the first quarter of $5,567,063, compared with a net profit of $361,031 for the first quarter of 1936.

The corporation reported net current assets at March 31, 1937, prior to the acquisition of the Gulf States Steel company, in excess of $75,000,000. A reduction of $15,000,000 in the funded debt of the corporation through conversion of convertible bonds into common stock also was reported.

C. I. O. CLAIMS 60% OF AMERICAN STEEL WORKERS

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 27.—[Special.]—For the first time since John L. Lewis took over the job of organizing the steel industry's 540,000 wage earners, his steel workers' organizing committee today laid claim to a majority of workers.

Philip Murray, committee chairman, told the convention of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel, and Tin Workers that in the 10 months of the organization drive 325,000 members have been enrolled, equivalent to 60 per cent of the steel pay rolls.

"We have driven the company union out of American industry," Murray said. "No company union can hope to live from here on. Ten months ago the steel workers' organizing committee started from scratch. We had no members. Today we have built up 600 new lodges, enrolled 325,000 members, and signed wage contracts with 89 steel companies."

Tobacco Sales Lead Upturn in Chain Drug Turnover

Washington, D. C., April 27.—[Special.]—With tobacco sales leading, average daily sales in chain drug stores in March, 1937, were 8.5 per cent above March, 1936, according to the department of commerce. Tobacco sales showed an average gain of 11.10 per cent. Fountain sales were next with an increase of 9.3 per cent.

COMMODITY PRICES

NEW YORK, April 27.—The Associated Press weighted wholesale price index of 35 commodities today advanced to 93.26. The previous day it was 92.89, a week ago 94.42, a month ago 97.17, and a year ago 73.75. Range of recent years:

Everyday Economics

In response to requests from readers for simple explanations of financial terms and brief analyses of factors affecting business and finance, The Tribune presents "Everyday Economics." Letters addressed to "Editor, Everyday Economics," telling him what you would like to see discussed here will be welcomed.

Direct Stock.

Direct stock in the live stock industry means animals sold directly to a packer or through channels which keep them away from the open market. Individually owned concentration yards have been established by packers in the last fifteen years in almost all principal producing areas. Buyers are stationed at the yards to accept shipments from farmers.

Packers also send their representatives to the farms to bid. Other stock comes through small sales rings, or is bought by private order buyers in the country and shipped directly to packers. Many packers accept live stock at their plants, delivered there by the owner, sometimes next door to a big open market.

The methods of buying directs and buying on the open markets are directly opposite. In a packer-owned concentration yard the only buyer there is the one employed by the packer who owns the yard. No others bid against him, and farmer and buyer dicker over the price and sorting. In the open markets buyers bid against each other.

BUSINESS CHIEFS ASSAIL SURTAX AND LABOR ACT

Washington, D. C., April 27.—(AP)—Speakers at the annual session of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States called today for amendments to the Wagner labor relations act to make unions "responsible" for their acts. James W. Hook of New Haven, president of the Geometric Tool company, told the chamber's national council that the act, recently held constitutional by the Supreme court, would have to be amended in the interest of peace.

Harvey G. Ellerd, personnel director of Armour & Co., Chicago, presented a resolution proposing amendments to the Wagner act defining "unfair labor practices." The chamber will act on the resolution Thursday.

Undistributed profits tax provisions of the 1936 revenue act were subjected to a scathing attack at round table discussions. Leading in the attack were Fred H. Clausen, president of Van Brunt Manufacturing company; Henry B. Fernald, New York accountant, and Ellsworth C. Alvord, attorney and taxation expert of Washington, D. C.

POTATO PRICE DECLINE NORMAL, CEA STUDY FINDS

The Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday released a report of the Commodity Exchange administration stating careful investigation "disclosed no evidence of any effort on the part of any group to force the prices of potato futures downward."

The administration studied trading in Idaho potato futures on the exchange for the period from March 8 to March 17, during which prices declined rather sharply.

"The small volume of trading in potato futures on the exchange, especially when compared with the much broader volume of business in spot potatoes throughout the country, indicates that future trading of itself had little if any effect on the level of prices during this period," the report said.

"Rather, it would appear that some traders in futures anticipated the March decline in the light of the obvious fact that the prices of old potatoes were high compared with new potatoes already appearing in quantity on the market."

FIND CITY GETS $700 FOR EACH $1 SPENT ON 'ADS'

St. Petersburg, Fla., April. 27.—(AP)—City statisticians attacked a batch of figures today and arrived at the conclusion that one dollar of city advertising money brings back $700 in tourist business.

One of the first American cities to appropriate tax funds for direct resort advertising, St. Petersburg has spent, during the last tweny-five years, a total of approximately $1,000,000.

City information bureau records over the same period show about 2,225,000 tourists came here. The experts estimate these visitors left about $700,000,000 in the pockets of apartment and hotel owners, restaurant, shop, theater, and filling station operators and the like.

Buick Retail Sales Gain Sharply Over Last Year

Domestic retail deliveries of Buick automobiles during the second ten days of April totaled 7,214 units, compared with 7,499 for the first ten days of the month and 5,842 for the corresponding period in 1936, W. F. Hufstader, sales manager, announced yesterday.

TO THE HOLDERS OF
Fox Film Realty Corporation
First Mortgage 6% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds Dated January 1, 1927, due January 1, 1942

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to the provisions of Article Four of the Indenture dated as of January 1, 1927 between Fox Film Realty Corporation and National Bank of Commerce in New York, as Trustee, Guaranty Trust Company of New York, Successor Trustee, that Fox Film Realty Corporation has elected to pay off and redeem on June 1, 1937, all of its First Mortgage 6% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds due January 1, 1942, now outstanding and not previously called for redemption, at the principal sum thereof together with a premium of 1½% of such principal sum plus accrued interest from the last preceding interest payment date to the redemption date.

On and after June 1, 1937 all such bonds so called for redemption shall become due and payable at the principal office of Guaranty Trust Company of New York, as Successor Trustee, 140 Broadway, New York, N. Y., and the necessary funds for redemption having been deposited with the said Trustee, said bonds so called for redemption shall cease to draw interest and the coupons for interest due July 1, 1937 and subsequently (except to the extent that the July 1, 1937 coupon shall represent interest accrued to the redemption date) shall be void, and the holders of such bonds shall be entitled to receive payment of the redemption price applicable on the redemption date upon presentation and surrender to the said Trustee on and after that date, of bonds with said coupons attached, but only out of monies deposited with the Trustee for that purpose.

In case registered bonds are presented and payment to anyone other than the registered holder is desired, the bonds must be accompanied by a proper instrument of assignment.

By W. PALEN CONWAY, President
Dated: New York, N. Y., April 28, 1937.

Notice of Redemption

Northern States Power Company
5½% Gold Notes
Due December 1, 1940

Holders of Northern States Power Company 5½% Gold Notes, dated December 1, 1925, and payable December 1, 1940, issued and outstanding under that certain Trust Agreement dated December 1, 1925, between said Northern States Power Company and Guaranty Trust Company of New York, as Trustee, are hereby notified that said Northern States Power Company, pursuant to the terms of said Trust Agreement, has elected to redeem and will pay and redeem on June 1, 1937, all of said notes outstanding under said Trust Agreement by payment of one hundred one and one-half per cent (101½%) of the principal amount thereof, plus accrued interest on said principal amount to the date fixed for redemption. Said notes should be presented and surrendered for payment on June 1, 1937, at the principal office of Guaranty Trust Company of New York, 140 Broadway, in the Borough of Manhattan, City and State of New York. Said notes must be accompanied by all coupons maturing on and after December 1, 1937, in the case of coupon notes, and by duly executed assignments in blank in the case of coupon notes registered as to principal. The June 1, 1937 coupons should be detached and presented for payment in the usual manner. Interest on said notes shall cease on June 1, 1937.

NORTHERN STATES POWER COMPANY
By: R. P. PACK, President.
Dated: New York, N. Y., March 24, 1937.

The above mentioned notes with all unmatured coupons attached will be accepted for payment and redemption upon presentation and surrender at the above named office at any time prior to June 1, 1937, at one hundred one and one-half per cent (101½%) of the principal amount thereof, plus accrued interest on said principal amount to June 1, 1937. Appropriate Federal Income Tax Ownership Certificates should accompany all June 1, 1937 coupons.

BETTER SERVICE, LOW FARES EARN MORE FOR ROAD

Union Pacific's Passenger Revenues Increase.

Improvements in service and low fares were largely responsible for an increase of 34.5 per cent in the passenger revenues of the Union Pacific railroad, W. A. Harriman, chairman of the board, said yesterday in the annual report of the railroad.

W. A. Harriman.

Harriman said the business handled by the "Challenger," coach and tourist sleeping car train operated between Chicago and Los Angeles, has been so successful that it has been decided to extend the service during this year to San Francisco and Portland, also serving the railroad's winter resort, Sun Valley, in the Sawtooth mountains, near Ketchum, Idaho. In order to provide more modestly priced accommodations at the resort, a new hotel named "Challenger Inn," is being built, he said.

Describes New Locomotive.

Harriman described a new streamlined oil burning, steam-turbine, electric locomotive being built by the General Electric company. He said it is expected the locomotive, which consists of two duplicate 2,500 horsepower units, will be able to haul a train of 1,000 tons at 110 miles an hour.

As previously reported net income of the railroad for 1936 was $18,226,810, equal to $8.20 per share, against $14,636,528, equal to $6.58 a share in 1935.

During the year, the road refunded at lower interest rates $46,835,000 face value of bonds. Income from investment and sources other than transportation was $12,470,651 against $14,751,790 in 1935. Operating revenues amounted to $155,213,582 against $132,304,043.

Rail Earnings Show Gain.

Net operating income for March of the first fifty-one railroads to report averaged 92.3 per cent higher than for March, 1936, according to a compilation of the figures yesterday by Dow-Jones & Co.

Reports made yesterday of net operating income for March and for the first quarter of the year follow:

McKinlay, Sentenced to Year in Jail, Wins Delay Pending Appeal—Fail to Find Clews to Slayer of Fence

VICTIM'S DIAMONDS— The gems, found to be of inferior quality, which were carried by Montlake.

GETS DELAY—Gustave Anderson, Zintak juror involved with McKinlay, wins delay to May 10.

LOSES SON ON HIGHWAY—Mrs. Richard Owens, Peabody, Mass., who was driving toward Chicago and put son in another autoist's care, only to lose them. The boy is shown in Cleveland police station, the mother in Chicago.

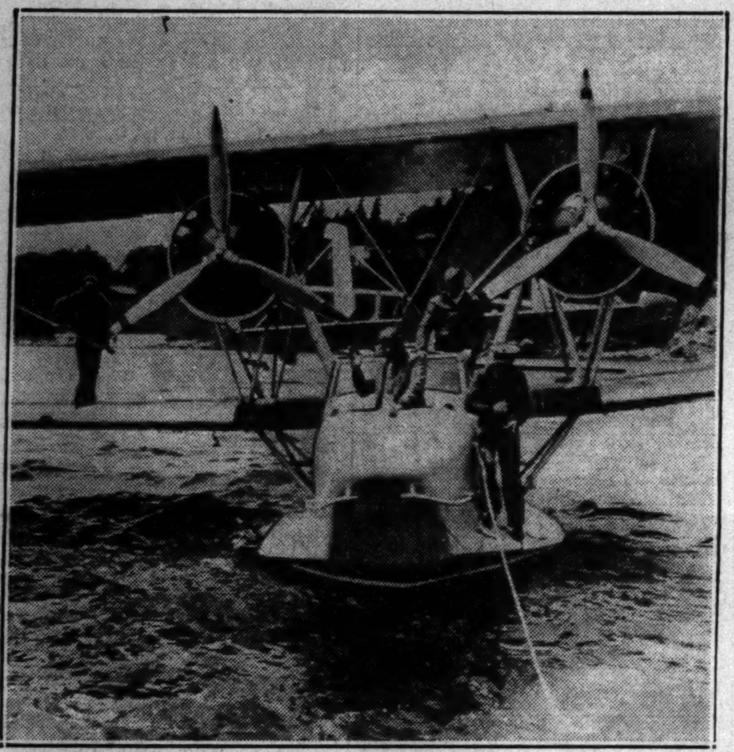
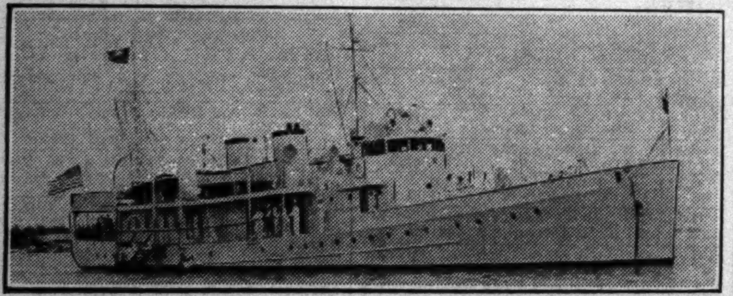
When the President Goes Fishing

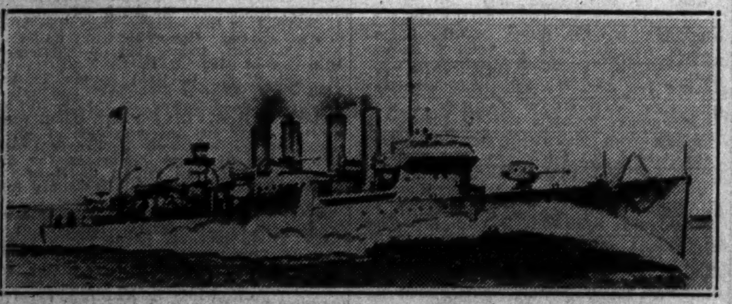


President Roosevelt is bound for New Orleans, where he will start a ten day fishing cruise in the gulf of Mexico. This is one of two navy seaplanes which will take mail to and from the Potomac, upon which he will vacation. Four naval vessels with combined crews of 417 officers and men will be in the fishing flotilla.

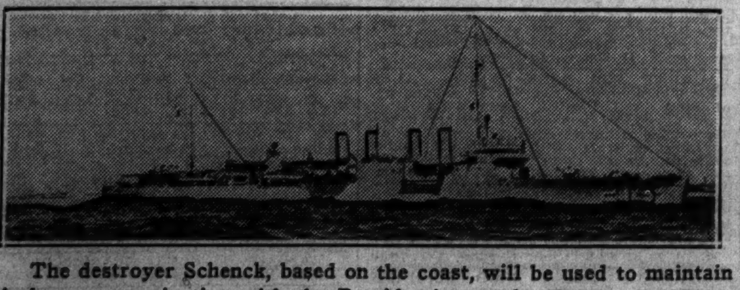


The U. S. S. Potomac, upon which the President will spend most of his vacation. The trip will push the President's four year travel mileage beyond the 100,000 mark. (Story on page 6.)

The new 1,800 ton destroyer Moffett will take the President from New Orleans to a rendezvous with the Potomac and will act as escort in the gulf.



The destroyer Decatur will also be pressed into service as an escort vessel for the Potomac during its cruise in tarpon fishing waters.



The destroyer Schenck, based on the coast, will be used to maintain wireless communication with the President's vessel. Temporary White House headquarters will be established in New Orleans until Friday and then moved to Galveston in charge of Secretary Marvin H. McIntyre.

UNUSUAL PICTURES OF GERMANY'S DICTATOR

Hitler is said to be greatly interested in the theater and he often attends the movies in Berlin. He witnessed the premiere performance of the Italian film "Mario" recently in the capital. Seated at his right is the Italian ambassador, Bernardo Attolico. Der Fuehrer is also fond of music and attends many concerts.

Visitors Crowd London for Coronation Rehersals

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

The state coach in which King George and Queen Elizabeth will ride on coronation day, May 12, as it passed through Parliament square after leaving Westminster abbey during one of rehersals for ceremony. Five hundred soldiers, including massed mounted bands, took part in the rehersal. There were thousands of spectators on hand to watch. [Acme Photo.]
